RUSSIAN DRIVES ON MANNERHEIM LINE REPULSED

Reds Threaten Finns Over Loudspeaker.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE MANNERHEIM LINE, Finland, Jan. 22.—Concentrations of fresh Russian troops before Finnish positions and renewed attacks in different sectors of the Mannerheim line, which began on Saturday and are continuing, have given the Finnish field artillery a chance to distinguish itself.

The Russian attacks have been broken under the accurate fire of Finnish batteries. At different points the soldiers in front line trenches waiting for the Russian troops to come within range of their machine guns have seen them scatter and retreat as bursts of shrapnel covered the snow with dead and wounded men.

The low temperatures of the past week froze the Taipale river [on the Karelian isthmus] and the Russians, who have made many efforts to force the Finnish line in this part of the country, again are attacking there.

Reds Change Tactics.

The Reds have slightly changed their tactics; instead of sending entire battalions forward moving in almost closed rank formation, as at start of their invasion, they now are using companies. During yesterday's attack 120 Russians fought their way into Finnish front line trenches, but then were killed in hand to hand fighting by the Finns. The total Russian losses before this sector in the last two days are given as 700.

Reports from many points which have been under heavy shellfire agree that altho the soviet artillerymen have had almost six weeks to practice against the unbroken outposts of the Mannerheim line, their marksmanship has not improved. At one Finnish battery I visited there were only eight shell holes in the vicinity. None of them was near the emplacements sheltering the guns, which were perfectly concealed by snow and the forest.

Patrols Out in Snowstorm.

There was a snowstorm tonight and many eager Finnish patrols were out, seeking the whereabouts of a tremendously powerful Russian loudspeaker which during last two days has shouted threats and exhorted the Finns to surrender, threatening that Viipuri [Viborg] would be captured within two days, that the Germans were coming to help the Russians and would kill all Finns found with arms in their hands.

[Nazis in Berlin said that Germany's position remained "friendly toward the Russian cause, but strictly that of an observer." Nazi sources said Finnish assertions that the Russians were spreading reports of coming German help for the Red army were a "trick to trip Germany into making a denial and thus anger the soviet."]

Scouts Cause Heavy Losses.

Armed with light machine guns and hand grenades, patrols continue to penetrate the Russian lines each night to locate Red army camps, destroy supplies, and cut communications. The scouts are causing heavy losses to the enemy and even have discovered a method to protect themselves from the barbed wire strung between trees just below the surface of the snow to trap them.

The Finns report that much larger Russian patrols are being sent out to seek them, but frequently move only a few miles from their camps and bivouac until morning. The Finns take special delight in searching for such parties of Russians and giving them a burst from their machine guns before returning to their posts.

On the isthmus [Karelian], I was told, the Finns still are complete masters of the situation. They are confident of being able to hold their lines against the Russian attacks and a threatening new offensive.

Air Raids Slackened.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 22 (AP).—Russian air raids continued yesterday, the Finnish military communique said, but were comparatively light compared with those of previous days. A few buildings were set on fire at Oulu.

The continued cold brought a new problem for the Finns by freezing the Gulf of Finland from Estonia to Finland, raising the possibility that Russian troops might attempt an attack across the ice from Estonian bases.

Finns said they were prepared to

BRITISH HANDED A NEW U. S. NOTE ON SHIP SEARCH

Hull Insists Abuses Be Corrected.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—A sharp protest against the treatment of American shipping in the Mediterranean area, particularly at Gibraltar, was made by the state department today in a note handed to Lord Lothian, the British ambassador.

The British authorities were accused not only of causing wholly unwarrantable delays of American vessels but of discriminating against them in favor of Italian ships, and of taking American ships into the belligerent port of Marseilles, in violation of the American neutrality law. The average delay imposed upon American ships, the note said, has been 12.4 days, while Italian ships have been detained an average of only 4 days.

Cargoes and Mail Removed.

The note protested that cargoes and mail have been removed from American ships, under the British theory of contraband control, and that official mail for American missions in Europe has been greatly delayed.

Expressing the serious concern of this government, the note concluded with this admonition:

"This government must expect that the British government will at least take suitable and prompt measures to bring about an immediate correction of this situation. It will appreciate receiving advices that the situation has been corrected."

State department officials have been distressed in recent weeks by the treatment of both American ships and American mail by the British authorities and by the cavalier attitude with which the British government has deigned to reply to American protests.

Previous Protest Rejected.

Last week the state department received a British note flatly rejecting its protest of Dec. 27 against the removal and censorship of United States mail from both American and neutral ships. The state department explained that the eleventh Hague convention made unlawful the British practice of seizing United States mail on the high seas and of censoring United States mail on ships involuntarily taken into British ports.

But the British replied that the Hague convention gave such immunity only to genuine correspondence, and that, accordingly, they had a right to examine the mail to determine whether it was genuine.

Last Nov. 20 the state department protested and challenged the legality of the interference by British authorities with American cargoes moving from one neutral country to another.

Hull Sends for Lothian.

Today Secretary of State Cordell Hull called Lord Lothian to the state department and handed him an aide mémoire, saying in part:

"From information reaching this government it appears that American vessels proceeding to neutral ports en route to or from ports of the United States have been detained at Gibraltar for periods varying from nine to eighteen days; that cargoes and mail have been removed from such ships; that official mail for American missions in Europe has been greatly delayed; that in some instances American vessels have been ordered to proceed, in violation of American law, to the belligerent port of Marseilles to unload cargoes, and there to experience further delays.

Italian Ships Favored.

"It is further reported that cargoes on Italian vessels receive more favorable consideration than similar or equivalent cargoes carried by American ships, and that Italian vessels are permitted to pass thru the control with far less inconvenience and delay.

"There is attached a list of American vessels en route to neutral ports detained by the British contraband control during the period Nov. 15th to Dec. 15th, from which it will be seen that the average delay imposed has amounted to approximately 12.4 days. From information in possession of this government, it is established that Italian vessels detained during the same period were held for an average delay of only 4 days."

Year Extension of Dies Inquiry Wins Approval

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—An attack upon Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] by a radical New Deal congressman was condemned by the house rules committee today as it gave unanimous approval for another year's extension of the Dies committee's investigation of un-American activities.

Martin Dies.

The committee indorsed a resolution empowering Chairman Dies and his associates to continue their inquiry until Jan. 3, 1941. The resolution is expected to receive overwhelming approval in the house tomorrow, and an appropriation of $100,000 for the expenses of the investigation probably will be voted at a later date.

Representative Frank E. Hook [D., Mich.] opposed continuance of the investigation, which has proved an embarrassment to the Roosevelt administration because of its revelations of communistic activities by government officials and employés.

Submits Copy of Letter.

The burden of Hook's charges was that Dies spoke at several luncheons attended by members of communistic or Nazi organizations. Admitting that this did not deter Dies from attacking the activities of these groups, Hook contended that the Dies committee frequently called a man guilty because of the company he kept and said he was using the same method in reprisal.

Hook also submitted a copy of a letter written by William Dudley Pelley, head of the Silver Shirts, an anti-Semitic organization, to David D. Mayne, described as Washington agent of the group. Dated July 22, 1938, the letter said:

"The conference verified belief that we may safely continue in the understanding that Dies will not go out of the way to call us or to embarrass us."

Hook's Charges Denied.

At this point in the hearing members of the committee intervened to prevent Hook from continuing.

"There's not a word of truth in any

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT RENTS TO GERMANY 150 FREIGHT CARS A DAY

PARIS, Jan. 22.—The Belgian government, it was disclosed today, is renting to Germany 150 freight cars a day because of the German shortage of rolling stock. Under the arrangement, it is stipulated that the rented cars only can be used for transporting German coal to Belgium.

This question figures prominently in discussions which have been going on for a Belgian-German trade agreement. With a view to obtaining Belgian assistance in providing rolling stock for the depleted German railway system, Germany resumed exports to Belgium of coke and coal. The Germans ask that in return the Belgians should deliver 1,000 freight cars and that they should rent to Germany a much larger number.

In order to fill these orders, however, Belgian firms would be prohibited from using any raw materials imported from France and Great Britain. The Belgians have begun by renting a certain number of cars for the transport of coal to Belgium only. They claim they are unable to deliver the number of cars Germany wants.

BANS DANCE FOR TROOPS; LONDON DEBS GRUMBLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22. — Twelve hundred London society women and debutantes were disgruntled today because a dance which was to have been held for the Canadian soldiers has been banned. The troops came over "to fight a war, not to dance," Maj. Gen. Andrew George Latta McNaughton, commander of the Canadian forces, told organizers of the ball.

The dance, scheduled for next Friday at a fashionable West End hotel, was to have been the feature of London's wartime social season. A thousand men from the Canadian expeditionary force had been invited. The chief organizer, K. Perry, had arranged partners for the troops from among society women and debutantes who paid $1 a person for the privilege.

The festivities were to have been broadcast to Canada. Vincent Massey, high commissioner for Canada, and Gen. Edmund Ironside, chief of the imperial defense staff, were to have attended. Society hostesses, including the duchess of Westminster, Lady Bridget Poulett, Lady Dunn, Mrs. Richard Guinness, and others had purchased tickets.

Miss Colbert's $301,944 Pay Is Movie 'Tops'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—There was no million dollar income in the film industry in 1938, such as was paid Louis B. Mayer in 1937, to top all industries. But, as a whole, top ranking movie people did well in 1938, according to a compilation of salaries of more than $75,000, made public today by the treasury.

[A list of salaries above $75,000, in industries other than the movies, will be found in the markets section.]

Actress Claudette Colbert led the motion picture industry with a salary of $301,944 from Paramount Pictures, Inc. Second place went to Warner Baxter, under contract to Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation, with $279,807. The same company paid Darryl F. Zanuck, president, $265,000, making him the highest priced executive. Bing Crosby and Ronald Colman each drew $260,000 from Paramount.

Others Yet to Report.

Some of the film companies with heavy pay rolls have not yet reported their salary lists. Apparently for this reason the treasury department's list failed to mention Loew's, Inc., or its subsidiary, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, which in 1937 paid Mayer a combined salary of $1,296,503. It also paid Greta Garbo $472,499 that year and has on its pay roll such stars as Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Bette Davis, and Paul Muni.

Forty salaries of $200,000 or more were listed for the movie colony in 1937, but in 1938, according to the compilation, Hollywood could muster only seven. These were for Miss Colbert, Baxter, Crosby, Zanuck, Jack Benny, Roy Del Ruth, and S. P. Skouras.

Del Ruth, a Twentieth Century-Fox director, drew $216,741, while Skouras was paid $254,500 by National Theater Amusement company, Inc. Paramount paid Benny $250,000.

Many Receive $100,000 to $200,000.

Most of the high salaried actors and actresses found themselves in the $100,000 to $200,000 bracket. This group of 20 included John Barrymore, Bob Burns, Marlene Dietrich, Fred MacMurray, George Raft, Gary Cooper, Joel McCrea, Merle Oberon, Leslie Howard, Charles Boyer, Henry Fonda, Fredric March, Sonja Henie, Victor McLaglen, Tyrone Power, Gregory Ratoff, Loretta Young, and Shirley Temple, who received $114,848.

Gov. Horner's office yesterday named a dead man as John Howe's sponsor for a state policeman's job. The dead man's son denied that his father had sponsored Howe, and accused the party organization of trying to pin blame on a man from whom it had withheld sponsorship power.

Walter Williams.

The governor meanwhile ordered an investigation into the record of each of the state's 350 highway policemen. He told Chief Walter Williams of the highway police that he wants to make sure there will be no more such scandals as that involving Howe.

Howe, who patroled the Illinois highways with a state policeman's gun and star, has been revealed as an accused bandit who once was an inmate of an insane asylum.

Bribe Charge Bares Record.

His record was brought to light when he was accused of trying to bribe a juror in the 11th ward vote fraud case.

Howe was locked up yesterday after Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court had authorized the state to reinstate four holdup indictments against the suspended policeman. Howe had been at liberty on bond on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the vote fraud case.

Horner's office announced that Howe's sponsor was the late Henry F. Schuberth, who was state representative from the 11th district from 1912 to 1919. Schuberth was a south side real estate dealer for many years before his death in April, 1938.

His son, Elmer Schuberth, was his business partner. The son has continued the business from the office at 910 West 79th street.

Son Issues Denial.

"In 1936 my father was asked to serve on the executive committee handling the 18th ward campaign for Gov. Horner's reëlection," the son said. "He was in ill health, and after the April primary was too ill to attend to politics. The executive committee took charge of everything.

"I knew the names of all the workers who helped my father, and John Howe was not among them. I never knew him or heard of him.

"My father didn't sponsor anybody. He certainly didn't sponsor Howe.

"They are trying to saddle something on my father he didn't do. He didn't even get a job for himself as a reward. They passed him up for others. If he couldn't get a job for himself, how could he get one for some one else?"

Others Deny Knowledge.

Martin P. Durkin, head of the state department of labor, said he had been a member of the ward's executive committee but knew nothing of any sponsorship of Howe.

Charles A. Daly, arbitrator for the Illinois industrial commission, said he also was a member. He said the elder Schuberth had been ward committee chairman but that the executive committee had taken over control. He said it was news to him if Howe had been sponsored thru the committee.

James Doody, superintendent of industries at the Joliet and Stateville prisons and another member of the committee, said he had never heard of any sponsorship of Howe coming from the committee.

Bond Set at $40,000.

ILLINOIS MOTORIST DRIVES CAR ACROSS MISSISSIPPI ON ICE

Chester, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP).—A motorist here driving up to the ferryboat landing was irked to find the Mississippi river frozen solid from bank to bank. "How's the ice?" he asked skaters. "Fine," was the reply. So he drove right on across in his car. The river is frozen solid here for the second time in 22 years.

BROWDER BARES HELP HE GAVE TO DEMOCRATS

Talks After He Gets 4 Year Sentence.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 22.—Earl Russell Browder, leader of the communist party in this country, who was sentenced to four years in prison and fined $2,000 yesterday afternoon for passport fraud, last night told a crowd of 20,000 in Madison Square Garden that "we communists were a part of the Democratic bloc."

Browder charged that the New Deal had used the communists as "poor relations," but that now "these former associates of ours don't need us any more. What use are we to them now?

"In the days when they did want to rouse the masses we had the peculiar experience of having to restrain them.

"They were ultra-leftist, and very often we had to warn them that that kind of tactics is not good."

Browder appeared tired and more subdued than in other recent Madison Square Garden appearances. He had made his own plea for freedom in the federal court and the jury of 11 men and a young woman had listened, then deliberated only 45 minutes.

Judge Alfred C. Coxe had immediately pronounced sentence and specified that the two year terms on each of two counts must be served consecutively.

A Perennial Candidate.

Browder, a perennial candidate for political office, was the communist candidate for president in 1936 and now is a candidate for the seat in congress vacated by the recent death of Representative William Sirovich.

The mass meeting last night had been arranged in commemoration of Lenin's death 16 years ago. But it was turned into a protest of Browder's conviction. The listeners came expecting to hear Browder reiterate his innocence of fraud; they heard a startling exposé of what Browder called a double cross by the New Deal of its communist allies.

After charging that the Reds were part of the Democratic bloc, Browder tore into three New Deal leaders: President Roosevelt, Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York, and Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, mentioning only Lehman by name.

Tells of Aiding Lehman.

"We were the poor relations," he said. "Even tho Gov. Lehman occupies his position instead of Thomas E. Dewey [Republican candidate for governor in 1938] on account of the votes of the communist party.

"When the governor of Michigan in 1938 was deserted by his own political machine and faced a stiff fight with the Republicans without a machine behind him, he was glad to get the support of the communist party in conducting his campaign for reëlection. He will not deny it. He would not deny he had long, intimate conferences with communists as to how best to conduct his campaign for governor.

"But he lost his election by 2 per cent of the vote. After he was defeated, he saw a great light. He became convinced he had made a great mistake when he had failed to heed the advice of some of our 'best families.' And there was opened up the prospect for him to retire to the most exclusive old men's club in America.

Wants "Head on a Charger."

"But before he could do that he had to present certain guarantees—some 'head on a charger,' according to ancient traditions. He had to seal his bargain, metaphorically speaking, with the blood of the associates who had tainted his past. That is one of the smaller angles to the sentence in the federal District court today.

"Yes, these former associates of ours don't need us any more. What use are we to them now? In the days when they did want to rouse the masses we had the peculiar experience of having to restrain them. They were ultra-leftist; and very often we had to warn them that that kind of tactics is not good.

"That instability arises out of the very close nature of these people, constantly torn by contradictions. They have interests here and interests there, and they cannot be reconciled."

TO POST APPEAL BOND

After sentence had been pronounced on Browder in the federal court yesterday afternoon, his bail of $7,500 was continued until Wednesday, when he must appear for approval of a new bond to allow him continued freedom pending appeal.

Browder presented a defenseless case after acknowledging at the outset that he had traveled incognito to and from conferences with soviet leaders in Moscow. He was accused specifically of borrowing the names of three other men and affixing them to passport visas. This was done, his attorney explained, because, as a widely known agent of the soviet union, Browder's travels thru Europe would be beset by danger if his true identity became known.

Brushing aside his attorney, George Gordon Battle, Browder took the floor to plead his case with the statement that he was a correspondence school lawyer. He told the jury that the evidence offered by the government was "a long, complicated, and flimsy chain."

John T. Cahill, United States attorney, in his own summation, denied this and emphasized that Browder was not under oath when he addressed the court and jury. He characterized Browder's speech as "fine oratory," but demanded that the communist leader be convicted.

Pins Defense on One Word.

Browder had traveled in foreign lands previously on passports issued in the names of Nicholas Dozenberg, George Morris, and Albert Henry Richards, and in applying for a passport in his own name, according to the prosecution, had written "none" in reply to a question asking where his "last passport" was obtained.

Browder argued that the word "none" meant simply that no passport was being attached for cancelation. It did not mean, he declared, that he never before had received a passport.

Both he and Battle had contended from the start of the trial last Wednesday that the word "none" was the crux of the government's case, and insisted that the prosecution had dealt only with the issuance of a prior passport and not with submittal of one for cancelation.

Contends Entry Was Legal.

Browder cited his Kansas birth and said:

"There is no such thing in the law as an illegal entry of a citizen of the United States."

As he addressed the jurors he frequently pounded the jury box rail to emphasize his points.

"If the act of entry itself is tinted with the act of illegality, it must have been concerned with some little detail of that entry," he said. "The prosecution has found nothing illegal in the entry to single out except this fact—that the passport allegedly was illegal.

"Did this display of the passport gain entrance into the United States for me? It did not. The display of the passport informed the inspector that he could not keep me out. . . . I received the passport under my status as a citizen, which is unchallenged here."

Proud He's Communist.

Browder's concluding remark was: "I am a communist, I'm proud of it, and have nothing to apologize for."

Browder's conviction in federal court came only a few weeks after Fritz Kuhn was found guilty in a state court and sent to prison for stealing funds from the German-American bund, which he headed.

The communist leader anticipated his conviction in an authorized statement last week in which the communist party said he might receive the votes of his followers while in prison, like the late Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, who ran for President from an Atlanta prisor cell.

Browder served a sentence in Leavenworth [Kas.] federal prison after refusing to register for the world war army draft on the ground that he was a conscientious objector.

Has Four Children.

His income swelled somewhat by royalties from three books. Browder lives in a suburban Yonkers apartment with his second wife, a former Russian attorney who still does party work. They have three children—William, 5 years old, born in New York; Felix, 10, born in Moscow, and Andrew, 8, born in London. A son by his first wife is a consulting chemist in the west.

At the sentencing today, Browder, whose official position is that of general secretary of the communist party, U. S. A., stood mute before the bench, his hands clasped behind his back.

When the jury filed in to give its verdict—guilty on both counts in the indictment—he sat rocking stolidly in his swivel chair and gazing vacantly at the jurors' box.

In the momentary quiet that followed the verdict Judge Coxe turned in his chair and told the jury: "I am not in the habit of thanking juries, but I must say this verdict is the only possible one that could have been returned."

City Relief Rolls Decline; 95,223 on List in December

Chicago relief rolls continued to diminish during last December, Leo M. Lyons, city relief administrator, reported yesterday. The number of cases during that month was 95,223, the lowest for the entire year. Lyons said the year's peak was 115,668 in June. The number of persons on Work Projects administration jobs also was lower than in previous months, with 108,537 in January, 1939, and 53,322 last December.

YEAR EXTENSION OF DIES INQUIRY WINS APPROVAL

of this," protested Representative John J. Dempsey [D., N. Mex.]. "The record is clear that Dies attempted to subpena Pelley and asked the department of justice to aid in finding Pelley."

Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] said he was a member of a subcommittee appointed by Dies in an attempt to get Pelley before the committee, and that the department of justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation had been unsuccessful in locating him.

Testimony Allowed to Stand.

Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] moved that Hook's testimony be excluded from the record, but finally it was allowed to stand. Hook later obtained permission to insert in the Congressional Record a long attack against Dies.

A number of congressmen appeared to urge continuance of the investigation. Representative Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.] proposed, however, that the house should impose certain rules of procedure upon the Dies committee. No committee statements should be issued, he asserted, except with the approval of a majority of the committee.

Members of the rules committee noted that no congressional committee of investigation ever had been restrained by hampering rules in the past. Representative Cox said Voorhis was trying to hamstring the investigation.

Commenting on the Hook charges tonight, Robert Stripling, secretary to Chairman Dies, asserted that the latter's committee has evidence in its possession indicating a communist party plot to discredit Dies. The evidence will not be made public, Stripling said, until Dies returns to Washington from his home in Orange, Tex., where he is ill.

Stripling said that a committee attaché had been approached by communist officials and offered a bribe of $3,250 if he would sign an affidavit declaring Dies to be connected with the Christian Front. Eighteen members of this organization recently were arrested by federal agents in New York City and charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government.

CITY TEAMSTERS ALLEGE BEATINGS BY LABOR GOONS

An account of alleged terrorism by goons was told last night at a meeting in the office of Gordon L. Hostetter, executive director of the Employers' association. It was the first of a series of meetings called by Hostetter to arouse public opinion against goon tactics.

Nine members of an independent teamsters' union testified. They have filed in the federal court an injunction suit against local 726 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The IBT is accused of slugging the independent truck drivers, all of whom are civil service employés of the city.

They told Hostetter they were appealing to the Employers' association as a last resort. The drivers said they were forced to organize their own union last September after being harassed by sluggers because they broke away from the parent organization.

PLEDGES UNIONS FAIR DEAL IN FIGHT ON SCALISE

Meyer Lewis, representative of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, replied in Chicago yesterday to the appeal made to Mr. Green by the San Francisco elevator operators' union for protection against domination by George Scalise, New York union boss once sent to prison for white slavery. Lewis is California director of organization for the A. F. of L.

Local 117 of the Elevator Operators' union, and several other San Francisco unions affiliated with the Building Service Employés International union, which Scalise heads, are suing there to prevent ouster by Scalise of officers of local 87 of the Building Service Employés union.

Lewis said the A. F. of L. had guaranteed autonomy of the local unions, and that if the court suit went against them he would set up a fair trial board and hear the case, and if necessary would call an immediate election and see that only members of the local are candidates. He said he was giving no consideration to attacks on Scalise for his criminal record.

30 STRIKERS HALT LOADED TRUCKS; DRIVERS WARNED

Two truck drivers were pursued a mile and curbed by 30 strikers last night after they attempted to make a delivery at the strikebound plant of the Metals Refining company, 1717 Summer avenue, Hammond, Ind., which specializes in rebuilding old electrical batteries.

The strike was started a week ago by about 100 employés, said to be members of an independent union, for "better working conditions."

Last night William McNally, 4910 Gladys avenue, and Frank Bagilski of Columbia avenue, Hammond, attempted to drive two loads of batteries to the plant. They turned back when they saw the pickets, but were chased by five carloads of strikers, stopped, and warned not to try any more deliveries. Indiana and Illinois and Cook county highway police first received the report as a kidnaping and blocked all roads in the area until the drivers reported they were safe.

RECORDS REVEAL THE LIFE HISTORY OF 'INSANE COP'

Medical Reports on His Mental Defects Told.

The recorded history of an accused robber who escaped trial by being adjudged insane, fled from the Kankakee state hospital, and was placed on the state highway police force during the Horner administration, was revealed last night.

The efforts of his father, a policeman, to keep him from becoming a criminal also were disclosed in the records of the Psychopathic hospital and the county court. The record shows that the father, John J. Howe Sr., now a retired policeman, did his utmost to have his son, John J. Howe Jr., committed to an institution for the insane.

Young Howe, now 34 years old, was in the county jail last night under four indictments charging robbery. He was suspended only a few days ago from the highway police force.

Takes Son to Hospital.

The elder Howe took his son to the Psychopathic hospital for examination on Nov. 19, 1929. The son then was 23 years old. His father told the doctors that Howe had acted strangely for some time.

On Nov. 29, 1929, young Howe was taken before an assisting county judge. The records reveal that, on the basis of examinations by the hospital doctors, he was adjudged a case of simple dementia praecox [deterioration of the intellectual faculties] and was committed to the care of his father.

Police called the father on April 29, 1930, and told him young Howe had been picked up in a street fight. The father returned his son to the Psychopathic hospital.

Called Borderline Type.

While young Howe was in the hospital for the second time Dr. Francis J Gerty, hospital director, wrote into the hospital records the following opinion of him:

"This boy is not very bright. In fact he is of a borderline mental defective type. Emotionally he is inadequate and shows psychopathic personality tendencies. I cannot term him insane, but he should be removed from society."

Dr. Gerty said young Howe had a split personality and was unable to distinguish between right and wrong. Dr. A. B. T. Heym, a member of the hospital staff, noted in the record that young Howe was not then insane, but that it would be only a question of time until he would be insane.

Asylum Order Canceled.

Young Howe was taken into County court again on May 8, 1930, where his father pleaded that he be sent to an institution. Miss Lillian Sullivan, a friend of young Howe, engaged Attorney Frank J. Tyrrell to keep him from being committed to an asylum. The court, however, committed him to Kankakee.

Tyrrell said last night that a separate group of doctors had held that Howe was not insane and was not committable to an institution. He said he used this information to have Howe's committment canceled.

County court records showed that young Howe was committed to Tyrrell's care on May 11, 1930. Tyrrell said Howe and Miss Sullivan were married a few days later.

Young Howe was captured Oct. 16, 1930, while allegedly committing a grocery burglary. He was indicted Oct. 23, 1930, on four charges of burglary. One of the indictments accused him of a burglary committed Sept. 9, 1930, nearly a year after his father had tried to have him placed in an insane asylum.

Taken to Hospital Again.

Howe was released on $40,000 bonds and his father again took him to the Psychopathic hospital. The case was called in county court on Nov. 13, 1930. The court ruled that it had no jurisdiction over Howe because he was under a criminal indictment.

The son next was called to trial on the criminal charges, and a sanity hearing was asked of the late Judge Joseph David. Dr. Heym was one of the medical experts called by the court. Judge David ruled Howe insane and ordered him to Kankakee.

Howe walked away from the asylum on Jan. 24, 1931. He was given his job on the state police force on Aug. 1, 1936.

Blames Drink for Trouble.

Howe's father, who was interviewed last night in his brick bungalow at 8034 South Hermitage street, blamed his son's troubles on drink. The elder Howe, who is 69 years old, was a policeman for 34 years and retired in 1932.

"John Jr. was the third one of eight children—five boys and three girls," his father said. "He was graduated from grammar school and then learned the trade of bricklayer, at which he worked for a long time.

Tells of Hotel Work.

"His record for the last 10 years has been perfect. He worked four years in a downtown hotel. He knows people from all over the world.

"Look up his record as a state policeman. He is a fine marksman, and the boys all speak highly of him."

FIRE ROUTS RESTAURANT PATRONS.

Ten patrons were driven out of a restaurant at 804 East 79th street last night by fire which started in the kitchen grease chute and caused damage estimated at about $225.

charge. Howe was unable to make the $40,000 bond.

The indictments were voted after Howe had been seized in what police said was his fourth grocery holdup. When the case was called for trial a sanity petition was filed and Howe was sent to the Illinois state hospital for the insane in Kankakee. He escaped Jan. 24, 1931. Hospital officials said he vanished while strolling with a visitor on the asylum grounds.

Because Howe still is carried on the records as an escaped inmate of an asylum, the chief justice ordered a sanity hearing for next Monday. Prosecutors said it would be necessary to prove Howe sane before they could continue with the prosecution on the holdup charges, altho they indicated they could send him back to the asylum if this action seemed desirable.

Arraigned in Felony Court.

Howe appeared in the Felony court on the vote fraud charges before he faced Judge Prystalski. The case was continued to Feb. 26.

Miss Helen Kennealy, a juror in the vote fraud case, accused Howe of offering her a $100 bribe to vote for acquittal. The trial, which ended Dec. 20, resulted in the acquittal of Sam Orlando, Democratic captain of the 52d precinct of the 11th ward, and his assistant, Joseph Vinci. Three jurors have confessed accepting bribes.

Howe's past was uncovered by Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. Records disclosed yesterday that Crowley was an assistant public defender at the time Howe was accused of robbery, and that Crowley defended him.

The petition for a sanity hearing for Howe was in Crowley's handwriting. It was made by Howe's father, John Howe Sr., a retired city policeman. Crowley said he was unable to recall details of the case.

Authorities pressed their investigations yesterday to determine why Howe was sent to the Kankakee asylum, instead of to the state hospital for the criminal insane in Chester. They also sought to determine why the holdup indictments were not reinstated as soon as Howe had escaped.

Kankakee Quiz Started.

Hospital officials said their records showed that the Cook county sheriff and the state's attorney both were notified of the escape. Chief Deputy Sheriff Joseph Lellveit said, however, that he found no record that the sheriff ever had been notified.

Capt. John I. Howe, a city policeman on Commissioner Allman's staff, said yesterday that he is not related to the accused man.

Pennsauken, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP).—Two tickled young[sters] Bob and Eleanor Greening—[finished] kfast in the kitchen today, th[en] .iked into the dining room at their home and were "in school." They found desks, blackboards, schoolbooks, the teacher, and eight classmates. The 10 children—barred from public school classes since last fall because they were not vaccinated against smallpox—settled down to studies in their own school. A teacher was hired by their parents, who object to vaccination. Meanwhile, the parents have filed suit for $200,000 against the Pennsauken township school board for keeping the children out of class.

POSTAL CLERK'S WIFE HELD AS HEROIN PEDDLER

Mrs. Elaine Battler Baldwin, 56 years old, wife of Jay D. Baldwin, a postoffice clerk, was arrested yesterday by federal narcotics agents as she handed over three and one-half ounces of heroin to a federal investigator at 25th street and Michigan avenue. Two more ounces were found in the Baldwin apartment, 1401 East 57th street.

Baldwin denied knowledge of his wife's activities. He said they were married in 1932, a year after Mrs. Baldwin completed a term of one year in the federal women's reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., for violating the federal narcotics laws. Baldwin, who has four children by his first marriage, said his wife told him she had a night job. He said he never asked its nature.

DECLARE 26 HOUR CHICAGO-FLORIDA TRAINS FEASIBLE

Reporter Tells of Fast New York Service.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

It takes a New Yorker 25 hours to travel 1,349 miles to Miami in a streamlined de luxe coach train, or 26¼ hours in an all-Pullman train. It takes a Chicagoan 31 hours and 40 minutes by the fastest train to travel the 1,434 miles to the Florida resort capital.

Competent Chicago railroad and equipment company executives declare that a 26 hour Chicago-Miami rail service is feasible from an operating standpoint.

Miami estimates that during the winter season about 2,000,000 persons visit the resort area for which it is the center. Of this total it estimates that about 37 per cent, or 740,000, come from the New York region and about 17 per cent, or 340,000, from the Chicago middle western area.

Most Travel by Auto.

The greater part of the visitors from the east and from Chicagoland go to Florida by automobile. The railroads estimate that about five times as many easterners travel by train to Florida as do Chicagoans. Last year about 100,000 went by train from New York and about 20,000 from Chicago.

Chicago's one 31 hour 40 minute train to Florida averages 45 miles an hour, compared with the 54 mile an hour average of the New York streamliner and the 51½ mile average of the 26¼ hour trains. Chicago's next fastest winter trains take 34 hours 45 minutes.

During the eight months when the winter trains are in moth balls it takes a Chicagoan 39 to 40 hours to get to Miami by train. There's a year round limited bus that runs over the public highways between Chicago and Miami in 39 hours. And the New Yorker has year round 25 hour streamlined train service.

Favor Diesel Electric Trains.

Chicago railroad executives declare that a streamlined lightweight train of modern design, pulled by a powerful Diesel-electric locomotive to eliminate fuel and water stops, should make it possible to lop more than 5 hours from the present schedule. They cited the records of the western streamliners, some of which are subjected to as difficult operating conditions as are found in the south, to support their contentions.

With a 26 hour train Chicagoans and other midwesterners could leave at noon and arrive at Miami at 3 p. m. the next day, taking into account the fact that Miami is on eastern time. In another hour they could be basking in the sun on the beach. A 26 hour train would require a 55 mile an hour schedule, not much faster than the 54 mile an hour average of the New York streamliners.

Averages 54 Miles on First Trip.

Skies were dark and the snow was falling as the Tribune reporter boarded the Dixieland in the Dearborn street station. At 9:25 a. m. it departed on the first lap, a 287 mile run to Evansville, which it makes in 5 hours 20 minutes, or at an average speed of 54 miles per hour. Over flat Illinois country some of the fastest dashes on the entire trip are made, with speeds exceeding 60 and 70 miles an hour. The track is straight and in good condition in Illinois, but in southern Indiana curves become numerous. There are four scheduled passenger stops en route to Evansville.

At Evansville there is an eight minute pause and then a Louisville and Nashville engine takes the Dixieland in tow for a 158 mile trip to Nashville in 3 hours and 9 minutes for an average speed of 50 miles an hour. There are no scheduled passenger stops. While it's daylight the reporter observes that the line is straight and the track is good as the train speeds thru historic Kentucky, which is covered by a layer of snow.

Climb Tennessee Mountains.

Darkness has fallen as the Dixieland passes Tennessee's floodlighted capitol—a civil war relic—just before arrival at the Nashville station. An engine of the historic Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad is coupled to the train and at 6:07 p. m. Nashville fades from view. The route now becomes mountainous and at Cowan, Tenn., a booster locomotive helps the train on its way. Nevertheless an average speed of 46 miles per hour is made for the 152 miles to Chattanooga, which takes 2 hours 22 minutes.

The same railroad continues hauling the Dixieland from Chattanooga to Atlanta, a distance of 137 miles, which is made at an average speed slightly under 44 miles an hour.

Most of the passengers are sleeping as the Dixieland leaves Atlanta on a 279 mile lap to Waycross over the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad. The elapsed time, including four possible stops, is 6 hours and 44 minutes, an average speed of about 41 miles an hour. As Cordele is reached daylight enables the reporter to observe the country.

Snow Is Left Behind.

The snow is gone. The land is flat, much of it covered with pines that have little buckets attached to their trunks for the collection of turpentine. Cross roads are few and the track is straight. Here, it would appear, is a fine speedway, but railroad men declare that the right of way needs improving.

Arriving at Waycross, a fifth road, the Atlantic Coast line, now picks up the Dixieland and takes it on across flat country, with straight track, to Jacksonville, 75 miles away, at an average speed of 47 miles an hour.

At Jacksonville, where every one gets off to buy oranges and papers, a Florida East Coast locomotive attaches itself to the Dixieland for the last lap—a 346 mile run straight south to Miami in eight hours. Departure is 10:05 a. m. and arrival at Miami is 6:05 p. m.

The track is straight as an arrow and well ballasted. There are long stretches of lonely country. The train goes thru pine forests and great palm groves. Road crossings are few. The only living creatures are a few cranes, pelicans, and gulls. There are 17 possible stops on this lap, but only about 10 actually are made.

Average Speed Very Low.

The average speed is 43¾ miles per hour for the 346 miles, compared with the 53¼ average for the streamlined Champion, which covers the same ground in 6½ hours on the New York run. Were the 346 miles run in 6 hours the average speed would be 57⅔ miles per hour, and in 5 hours it would be 69 1-5 miles per hour.

Contrast the speed actually made on this run with the Burlington's Morning Zephyr which speeds 431 miles from Chicago to St. Paul at 72 miles an hour with seven stops. The North Western-Union Pacific's City of Denver runs 1,048 miles to Denver at an average speed of 66 miles an hour. And the Santa Fe's Super Chief streaks 2,227 miles across the continent from Chicago to Los Angeles at an average speed of 56 miles an hour, during which two mountain ranges are crossed.

On the run to New York the reporter boards the all coach Champion at 8 a. m. At 8:15 a. m. the train starts rolling. The first section of the trip northward is made over the Florida East Coast as far as Jacksonville.

"Loafing" Train Really Moves.

The train appears to be loafing, but a member of the crew tells us its speed must be reduced so that the train will not get ahead of schedule. The same crew member says the schedule could be trimmed to 5½ hours, or an even 5 hours, in his opinion.

Arriving at Jacksonville at 2:45 p. m. the Champion starts again at 3 p. m. in a near cloudburst on a 681 mile lap to Richmond, Va., during which no passenger stops are made. Presently the train is in Georgia traveling thru sparsely settled country with few highway crossings. The scheduled time for this 681 mile lap is 11 hours 25 minutes, or an average speed of about 60 miles an hour.

Conversation has died down in the de luxe coaches lighted by dim blue lights as the Champion reaches Richmond at 2:25 a. m. Five minutes later it departs over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac for the 115 miles to Washington. The average speed is 47 miles an hour.

At Washington, D. C., a standard Pennsylvania railroad electric locomotive takes over from the Diesel-electric the task of pulling the Champion the 227 miles to New York. The time is 4 hours and 20 minutes—an average speed of 52½ miles an hour—which permits one to shave in time for the 9:15 a. m. arrival.

[Further discussion of the rail service between Chicago and Florida will be printed in subsequent issues of THE TRIBUNE.]

Movie Stars' Salaries of 1938 Revealed in Treasury Report

GARAGEMEN'S AID BALKS AT MURDER PROBE QUESTIONS

Refuses to Tell About $14,120 Payments.

Emil Mermall, executive director of the affiliated Garages of Chicago, was questioned yesterday by the grand jury, which is investigating the murder of Marinus Hvid. Hvid, a north side garage owner, was fatally clubbed by labor goons on Dec. 27. He died three days later.

Mermall refused to sign an immunity waiver, and was reported to have declined to answer several questions, electing to stand on his constitutional rights. The questions are understood to have concerned unexplained expenditures totaling $14,120.

Quizzed About 60 Checks.

This sum, it was reported, involved more than 60 checks payable to cash and issued from Jan. 1, 1938, to Oct. 31, 1939.

The grand jury is seeking to learn if there is any connection between the garage owners' group and the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers union. Both deny it. It has been charged that the owners' association, which had expelled Hvid, financed the picketing of Hvid's garage after a strike had been called by the union last March. Picketing ceased after Hvid's murder.

Says Mermall Ordered Checks.

Miss Mary Alice Mack, office secretary of Affiliated Garages, told the jury all 60 checks were drawn by her at Mermall's request. On the stubs of several, Miss Mack said, she wrote a question mark because she did not know where the money was going.

After being in the grand jury room an hour and a half, Mermall was ordered to return today. O. A. Finholt, who audited the association's books, also will be interrogated.

Three directors of Affiliated Garages also testified yesterday. They are S. M. Ronvold, 3825 Congress street; F. G. Brown, 7148 Jeffery avenue, and Howard N. Bennett, 1234 North Dearborn street. All said that Mermall had exclusive control of association business.

Police last night seized a pretty red haired gun girl who, they said, admitted driving a getaway car for her bandit companions in 15 holdups. She is Miss Deloris Downey, 18 years old.

Miss Downey's pistol.

Two of her robber pals, Earl Underwood, 23, and Henry Carmen, 24, are in custody. They were reported named yesterday in true bills charging them with four robberies, including one at the University of Chicago bursar's office Jan. 9. A third man, Lester Underwood, brother of Earl, is being sought. Earl Underwood and Carmen confessed 50 robberies, police said.

The only clew to Miss Downey was a special type maroon coupe which she drove. Yesterday Sergt. Con Czernikowski and his detective bureau squad saw this car in front of 6641 Woodlawn avenue. They watched it six hours until Joseph Arnholt, 22, of 6407 Ingleside avenue, stepped into it. They seized him. He directed them to a hotel at 1560 East 64th street, where Miss Downey lived. They nabbed her there with Roy Browne, 24, of 6446 Ellis avenue. She was carrying a pearl handled revolver in her purse. Later she told Lieut. Kyran Phelan that she had been the driver in 15 robberies.

WEATHER EASES IN FLORIDA, BUT CROPS ARE HURT

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP).—Florida's current cold wave broke today after doing extensive damage to the winter vegetable crop in the lowlands around Lake Okeechobee, in the south.

The federal-state frost warning service at Lakeland announced that minimum temperatures tonight and tomorrow morning would be around 38 degrees in northern Florida, 42 degrees in central sections, and above 50 degrees in southern areas.

Icy winds, frost, and subfreezing temperatures reached deep into the peninsula last night. Rural sections around Lake Okeechobee registered 27.8 degrees for a short time.

Citrus growers—weary from keeping fires lighted in their groves for the last three nights—agreed that whatever damage had been done to trees and fruit was slight. The cold weather, coupled with lack of proper heating facilities, gave school children a holiday in Miami, West Palm Beach, and other cities.

FIRES 3 BULLETS INTO HIS HEAD; NOTHING HAPPENS

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Salvatore Morrione, 50 years old, a janitor, went into the basement of his apartment building today, placed a .32 caliber revolver to his temple and pulled the trigger. But he did not die. He did not even fall. He pulled the trigger a second and a third time, then threw the gun away in disgust.

Doctors at Bellevue hospital didn't believe him when he told them that three shots failed to kill him. But X-rays showed the presence of two bullets and possibly a third in his head.

He was placed in the prison ward on a charge of illegally possessing a firearm and the doctors put him on the serious list.

Blood of 1,200 Canadians Asked for War's Wounded

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Canadian Red Cross society tonight called for 1,200 men between the ages of 21 and 50 to volunteer to donate blood for the western front wounded. Each man will be expected to give a cup of blood every eight weeks. The blood will be chemically treated and shipped to France in containers.

HITS COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE TEST AT HEARING FOR ALIMONY

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday denounced an alleged companionate marriage arrangement after hearing a petition for temporary alimony in behalf of Mrs. Rose Harris, 32 years old, 3929 Adams street. She has pending a suit for separate maintenance from her husband, Dave, 42, an interstate trucker, of 1906 South Kedzie avenue. Harris has filed a cross-bill. Both charge desertion.

Mrs. Rose Harris.

Sol R. Friedman, attorney for Mrs. Harris, said the couple was married in 1929 and two years later Harris proposed that they live in separate establishments. Mrs. Harris complied unwillingly, Friedman said. Judge Harrington set Feb. 1 for hearing the case.

Fails to Give Tenants Heat on Subzero Day; Fined $200

Judge Victor Kula of the Renters' court yesterday fined Miss Jeanette Goldberg $200 for failing to provide sufficient heat for three tenants in an apartment building at 4119 Lake Park avenue which she manages. He indicated he would vacate the fine on March 5 if no more complaints are made. Attorney D. H. Feldman, representing Miss Goldberg, said that a misunderstanding over rent payments had been adjusted. Health department inspectors testified there was no fire in the furnace on Jan. 17 when the outside temperature was 10 degrees below zero.

GERMAN ARMED FORCE MOVES TO RUMANIAN LINE

Guard Railways in Soviet Portion of Poland.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 22 (AP).—Rebelliousness of train crews on the line linking Germany with Rumanian wheat and oil has forced the reich to send an armed force to police the railway thru Russian Poland and the first troops already have reached the Rumanian border.

Russia agreed to the occupation of more than 200 miles of the line by German troops, according to official information received here today from both Berlin and Moscow.

Russia also was reported to have agreed to let German technicians supervise operation of oil fields in Russian occupied Poland in order to speed up production of much needed oil for the reich's army and air corps.

Reds Withdraw Some Troops.

The use of a German military force to act as railway police, which it was understood already has resulted in the withdrawal of some Red army troops, was reported agreed upon after Berlin complained that shipments were slow and sometimes lost, and that the crews were rebellious and inefficient.

It is understood here that Rumania has been assured the new agreements do not mean a big concentration of German troops near her borders.

Some diplomats said, however, that the presence of German soldiers, even as railway police, might be used to bring pressure on Rumania.

The line occupied by the Germans runs from Cernauti, in Bukovina, Rumania's northern province adjoining Russia, thru Lwow and Jaroslaw in former Poland to German Silesia.

New Division Rumored.

Arrival of the military police and rail crews at Lwow gave rise to rumors here last week of a new territorial division of Poland between the reich and the soviet, with Germany occupying a section up to the Rumanian frontier in which Polish oil wells are located.

Officials here said these reports were groundless and that the new agreement affected only the railway and the technical supervision of the oil fields.

Fear British-French Drive.

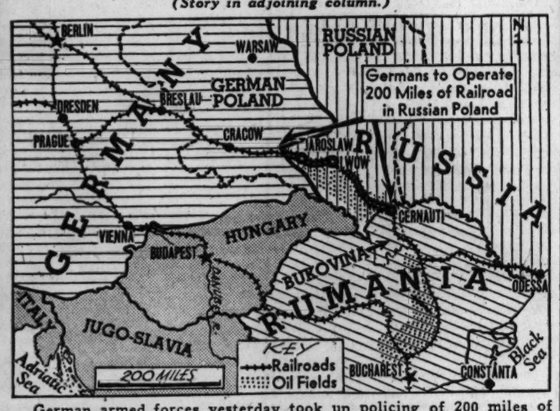
MOSCOW, Jan. 22 (AP).—The soviet Russian army organ, Red Star, today accused Great Britain and France of planning to "encircle Germany's Siegfried line" by a flanking movement thru the Balkans.

The article said there were large French-British troop concentrations in Palestine, Syria, and Egypt in the near east.

Red Star said there was significance in the fact that Britain and France had not given guarantees to Bulgaria and Hungary, as they did to Rumania.

German Forces on Rumanian Border

(Story in adjoining column.)



German armed forces yesterday took up policing of 200 miles of railway in Russian Poland which links Rumania with Germany. The German guard extended from Cernauti in Bukovina, Rumania, thru Lwow and Jaroslaw to German Silesia. The Germans complained that shipments over the rail line were delayed. German technicians are to supervise operation of oil fields in Russian occupied Poland.

GERMAN TROOPS TO GET NO MEAT 2 DAYS A WEEK

Substitute Devised by Army Chemists.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The German army, like German civilians, must go without meat on two days each week, it was disclosed today. Only when the troops are engaged in battle will they be entitled to a daily meat ration.

While the troops have been waiting for action, army chemists devised a special preparation which they consider an excellent substitute for meat. It is made of soya beans, wheat, and albumen products.

Cooks Get Instructions.

The booklet of instructions issued to army cooks to advise them how to use the new ersatz [substitute] stresses that "its own taste is neutral and does not affect the taste of foodstuffs to which it is added to lend a big variety of tastes to substitutes."

The chemists assert that the synthetic meat, which cannot be purchased for ordinary households, contains 7.23 ounces of albumen and a total of 3,378 calories per 35.27 ounces, compared with 7.26 ounces of albumen and 1,200 calories in lean beef. The nature of the albumen used is not revealed.

The synthetic meat is served to soldiers as hamburgers, roasted bacon, and liver dumplings. It also is used to bolster fish and other dishes which the troops heretofore claimed do not stick to their ribs.

"Meat" in Powder Form.

The mixture, which will wholly or partly replace meat, is a powder. It is mixed with double its quantity of water and boiled slowly. It must cool off before it is mixed or shaped according to the desires of the cooks.

The army is seeking to furnish French and English prisoners with good food because it does not want to expose German prisoners to reprisals.

Altho coal keeps pouring into Berlin, the number of poorly heated houses, hotels, and office buildings remains high. The foreign office opened a special coal market which sees to it that the houses in which diplomats live are well heated "for the sake of harmonious intergovernmental relations."

A special heating department of the foreign office is registering the number of homes of diplomats. This department will establish whether it might be possible to permit these residences to break the regulations forbidding the distribution of hot water except on Saturdays and Sundays.

GOVERNMENT WINS WIDE MAJORITY IN BULGARIAN POLLS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 22.—In the third instalment of general elections for Bulgaria's national assembly, 38 government candidates were elected out of 41 seats contested. This brings the government's total to 98 out of 109, a majority which is expected to be increased at the final instalment of the polling next Sunday. An official communique interpreted the government's success as a sign of the nation's approval of its policies.

WINDSOR TO GET NEW 'ARMY JOB, NEWSPAPER HINTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 13 [Tuesday].—The duke of Windsor, who flew back to London without his duchess Sunday on leave from the British expeditionary force in France, is likely to get a new job, the Daily Express said today. His future work with the British forces is now under discussion by the government, according to Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper.

The duke holds the rank of major general and liaison officer on the staff of Lord Gort, commander in chief of the British field forces. His brother, the duke of Gloucester, also is in London on leave. He holds the same rank and a similar position.

The press has indicated that the duke of Windsor is dissatisfied with his routine job. Some have described it as an armchair appointment. Nothing was being said officially about the object of Windsor's return and newspapers gave no more than a couple of inches of type to his visit.

DUTCH PROTEST BRITISH AND NAZI PLANE INVASIONS

BULLETIN.

CEUTA, Spain, Jan. 22 (AP).—Gibraltar's artillery opened up at 11 o'clock tonight (5 p. m., Chicago time) and fired several shots in the direction of the strait. A destroyer dashed to the spot where the shells had been falling and began circling, while a seaplane flew overhead.

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Jan. 23 [Tuesday] (AP).—The Netherlands protested early today to Great Britain against a neutrality violation by a British plane which flew yesterday afternoon over Gorkum, 20 miles west of Rotterdam.

This protest followed by a few hours a similar representation in Berlin against the flight of a German plane. Netherlands antiaircraft batteries and pursuit planes went into action when the German craft was seen flying in a westerly direction.

[The air ministry at London denied that a British plane flew over southern Holland yesterday.]

Periodic leaves in the Netherlands army will be restored on Wednesday.

Easing of tension also was reported in Belgium, where civilians who were removed from Eupen, Belgian border district, during the week-end of Jan. 14, were said to have returned to their homes.

Day Calm, Paris Reports.

Front Quiet, Say Germans.

Greek Freighter Sunk.

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 22 (AP).—The Greek freighter Ekatontarchos Dracoulis, 5,329 tons, tonight was reported torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine 150 miles off the Peniche coast of Portugal yesterday. It was believed six of the crew of 28 were killed. An Italian ship rescued 12, and a Spanish freighter 10 others.

British Trawler Lost.

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the 250 ton trawler Valdora was overdue and must be presumed lost with her crew of nine men.

The Norwegian steamer Maurita, 1,569 tons, also was presumed lost, a naval vessel having removed from a raft in the North Sea the bodies of two men believed to have been members of her crew.

ITALY SPEEDS UP PRODUCTION FOR 'ARMED FORCES

Food Rationing When Necessary Voted.

ROME, Jan. 22 (AP).—The Italian cabinet today approved the draft of a law permitting Italian firms to fill military orders ahead of previous civilian contracts "to increase the efficiency of the armed forces in view of the present international situation."

Other wartime economy measures also were approved, continuing efforts to make Italy economically self-sufficient.

Food rationing by the ministry of guilds was authorized when the necessity arises. Sugar and coffee already are on the rationed list.

Curb Put on Foreign Coal.

Heating with foreign coal and coke was forbidden for next winter since the war handicaps replenishment of Italy's coal supplies from Britain and Germany.

Gas manufacturing plants were ordered to conserve foreign coal. Plants using much lubricating oil were ordered to save their oil for purification and reuse.

Provisions were made to break up large landed estates in southern Italy to obtain greater tax revenue and increased productivity.

Act to Get American Movies.

A new appropriation was provided for a mining company which has increased gold production in North Italy.

The importation of American movies, halted a year ago when United States distributors withdrew in a dispute with the Italian movie monopoly, was facilitated by creation of an organization to negotiate directly with producers to buy films for distribution thru the Italian monopoly.

CZECH POLITICAL CHIEF FLEES; HELD OFFICE FOR NAZIS

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 22.—Jaromir Necas, for three years Czecho-Slovakian minister of social welfare in Premier Milan Hodza's coalition cabinet and since June, 1939, controler of prices in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia, has escaped to France. Necas was the most outstanding personality in Czech political life since the setting up of the protectorate.

Chairman of the governing body of the international labor office in 1937, leader of the Czech Social Democrat party and deputy, Necas gained popularity among Sudeten Germans by his administration of unemployment relief funds during the depression. It was for this reason that after the German occupation of Prague, he was invited to collaborate with the German authorities.

His apparent reconciliation was used by the Nazis as an argument among workers in favor of Czech-German cooperation and it is understood that he was even offered the premiership recently. Necas was in conference with Protector Baron Konstantin von Neurath only an hour before he left the country.

REDS DROP MANY BOMBS, FEW FIND MARKS, FINNS SAY

2 Planes, 6 Flyers Lost for Each Civilian Killed.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 22 (AP).—Finland's chief of air raid precautions today estimated that Russia has lost two warplanes and six airmen for each Finnish civilian killed during the last week by air attacks, altho the Finns counted 6,667 bombs dropped outside the war zone.

Despite the rain of bombs, the officer said, only 18 civilians were killed and 109 wounded.

"The number of bombs dropped was more than three times greater than the number in the previous week," he reported, "but the number killed was one less than the previous week and the number of wounded only slightly larger."

Take Shelter More Quickly.

The decrease in casualties was attributed in part to the population's increasing speed in seeking shelter.

"In most cases the bombings have been wholly ineffective insofar as casualties are concerned," he declared. "Thus for instance on Thursday 344 bombs resulted in one person being injured, while in one rural community the enemy dropped 573 bombs without doing any damage.

"Several localities in South Finland have been bombed almost daily," he continued. "Nowhere, however, has the enemy succeeded in seriously interrupting traffic. Most of the bombs fall in forests, in lakes, or in the sea."

The officer said the maximum number of Russian planes over Finland in one day was about 450. He also asserted that the invaders were using bombs "considerably heavier than those previously used."

Table of Bombs Dropped.

Complete Finnish tabulation of the number of bombs dropped last week outside the war zone was as follows:

Sunday [Jan. 13], 1,269 bombs on 36 towns; Monday, 642 on 14 towns; Tuesday, 326 on eight towns; Wednesday, 158 on seven towns; Thursday, 344 on 20 towns; Friday, 1,140 on 29 towns, and Saturday, 2,788 on 48 towns.

Reliable sources reported that Russia was rushing completion of air bases in Estonia, which are now only partly finished.

Large quantities of high test gasoline were reported being concentrated at the bases. Because of insufficient hangar space, the Finns said, Russian bombers were required to remain on the field all night with motors running to keep them from freezing.

A Day of the War

meet such a Russian thrust, however, as the coast in many sections had been fortified and barricaded with barbed wire. The frozen beach at Hango, for example, is laced with barbed wire.

Hango, southernmost Finland, lies at the tip of a Gulf of Finland peninsula, 55 miles north of Baltiski, soviet Russia's Estonian air base.

The Finnish Communique.

The Finnish high command communique follows:

"LAND: On the [Karelian] isthmus, chiefly harassing artillery fire on Jan. 21. Our own artillery silenced a few enemy batteries. In the late afternoon the enemy began concentrating for a new attack at Taipale. The attack was halted in its infancy.

"In the course of the day our troops destroyed two tanks. After yesterday's fighting about 120 enemy dead were counted in our foremost positions and on the ground in the front of our lines were the bodies of several hundred others.

"The enemy tried to give effect to his attacks by loud speakers mounted in his positions which exhorted our men to surrender, declaring that Viipuri would be taken within 48 hours and threatening that Germans were coming to help him and would kill all Finns.

Lose 450 in One Attack.

"Northeast of Lake Ladoga our troops fought successfully and repelled the enemy, who left three officers and about 120 men killed; further, five enemy tanks and two armored cars were destroyed.

"In the direction [sector] of Lolmola the enemy attacked our positions at Kollaanjoki. The attack was repulsed, the enemy losing about 450 men killed and five tanks which our men destroyed.

"Farther north the enemy attacked at several points at Aittajoki and in the direction of Ilomantsi. The attacks were repulsed. On the Kainuu and Lapland fronts [Markajarvi] there is nothing new.

"AT SEA: Nothing to report.

"AIR: The enemy air activity was lively on Jan. 21 only in the war zone. In the home area, Oulu [Uleaborg] was bombed and a few buildings set on fire. New air raids took place at night during which men working to extinguish fires were machine gunned from the air. According to reports so far four people were wounded in the raids."

The Russian Communique.

MOSCOW, Jan. 22 (AP).—Leningrad military headquarters issued the following communique tonight:

"Skirmishes between reconnoitering units in all directions [sectors]. In a number of areas, artillery fire. Soviet aviation made reconnoitering flights."

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP).—Mlle. Eve Curie, daughter and biographer of the discoverer of radium, has "tried very hard" to remain a mademoiselle but, she laughingly admitted today, the French war tax is enough to drive any one into matrimony.

In France, she said upon her arrival here to dedicate a street named for her mother, she has to pay a 30 per cent income tax now—just because she's still single at 35. She holds a post in the French ministry of information.

During the interview the mademoiselle was gay, with little peals of laughter breaking through now and then.

JEFFERSON TWP. ASSESSMENT ON REALTY DECLINES

Land values in Jefferson township, in northwest Chicago, were reduced to 2.5 per cent in the quadrennial real estate assessment for 1939, County Assessor John S. Clark reported yesterday. The lower assessed values were partly offset by a gain of .60 per cent in building valuations, resulting in a combined drop of .35 per cent in real estate values since 1935.

JAPAN PROTESTS BRITISH SEIZURE OF 21 GERMANS

Demands Captives' Return and Explanation.

TOKIO, Jan. 22 (AP).—Japan, in a vigorous protest tonight, accused Britain of "a serious unfriendly act" in seizing 21 German seamen from the Japanese liner Asama Maru 35 miles off the east coast of Japan.

Sir Robert Craigie.

The Japanese government, declaring "forcible measures" were used to capture the Germans Saturday, reserved the right to demand return of the prisoners and requested a "full, valid explanation."

British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie received the protest at the foreign office in an interview with Masayuki Tani, vice minister of foreign affairs, who said Japan attaches "greatest importance" to the incident.

Stopped by Shot.

The Asama Maru, bound for Yokohama from San Francisco, was halted by a shot across her bows from a British warship. A British boarding party seized the 21 German seamen of military age, but did not molest 17 other German seamen and a passenger. Two seamen escaped detection by hiding.

British authorities indicated that the captives, part of a group who formerly served on Standard Oil vessels in Central and South America, would be interned at Hongkong.

A foreign office communique said Tani told Ambassador Craigie that Japan adhered to the principle that only those "embodied in the armed forces" of a belligerent should be yielded to a demanding belligerent.

"Nevertheless, a British warship took the above mentioned forcible measure against a Japanese vessel in waters near Japan.

"The Japanese government cannot but regard the British action as a serious, unfriendly act against Japan, therefore they attach the greatest importance to the affair.

Demands Explanation.

"The Japanese government cannot acquiesce to the measure taken by the British navy regarding which they demand that the British government promptly furnish a full, valid explanation.

"The Japanese government hereby explicitly reserve the right to demand delivery to them of the detained Germans. In view of the fact that British action already has given a great shock to public opinion in Japan, repetition of such action would aggravate all the more sentiment of the Japanese nation against Britain.

"From the broad viewpoint of the future of relations between Japan and Britain, the Japanese government request the British government to pay serious consideration to the matter."

The British embassy yesterday declared the boarding was "in accordance with international law" and said the captives were technicians and skilled seamen who would be "particularly useful to the German war effort."

Japs Search British Ship.

HONGKONG, Jan. 22 (AP).—Officers from a Japanese warship boarded the British steamer Kwong Ying, 685 tons, outside the British Crown Colony's territorial waters yesterday, but allowed the ship to continue after inspecting her papers, it was reported today.

CIGAR INDUSTRY OF CUBA PERILED BY BRITISH BAN

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 22.—The British ban on Cuban tobacco which closed the island's principal market for cigars threatens to ruin a considerable portion of the Cuban tobacco industry.

While the full effect of the British ban has not yet been felt, cigar factories have reduced their personnel. Unless other markets can be found immediately to offset this loss, the majority will be forced to close down, throwing several thousand Cubans in the factories and fields out of work.

In 1939 Cuba sold a total of $2,971,995 worth of cigars, of which Great Britain purchased $1,718,375, or about 58 per cent. The sale of leaf tobacco to Britain was negligible. Of the 27 factories making cigars for export, 18 sell the greater part of their production to the British.

JAPANESE WARN AMERICA AGAINST TRYING PRESSURE

Anger Rises as Trade Pact Nears End.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 22.—With only three days remaining before expiration of the commercial treaty between Japan and the United States, resentment is mounting gradually here against what is called the American government's inconsiderate and exceedingly unfriendly attitude.

Most quarters are convinced that Washington is eager to create a nontreaty period, saying this would have the effect of placing a sword of Damocles over Japan's head.

See Blunt Challenge.

The fact that the United States is reported to be contemplating the enlargement of its "moral embargoes" and the fortification of the Island of Guam is considered a blunt challenge and a direct menace to Japan. Official as well as unofficial quarters express fear that such an attitude will place relations of the two countries in a worse state than at present.

"The greatest and most regrettable mistake the United States can make is to believe that threats or pressure exerted upon Japan will safeguard its interests in China," the moderate newspaper Asahi declares.

Moderate Views Stiffen.

This opinion is shared widely. Most Japanese contend that Japan has been making every possible effort to meet American demands as voiced by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and charge that the reaction in the United States has been one of indifference and coldness.

For Japan to continue conciliatory efforts is to overstep the bounds of national diplomacy, it is said in influential quarters. Usually moderate leaders are joining stronger elements in warning the country to be prepared for all eventualities.

HOLLAND CLAMPS RESTRICTIONS ON NEWS DISPATCHES

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, Jan. 22.—The government press bureau informed foreign newspaper men in Holland today that new restrictions are to be imposed on dispatches by the military censorship. The limitations are very narrow.

Among the subjects banned are reports, suppositions, and rumors concerning defense measures and government measures in general, the neutrality policy and reports which are likely to provoke hostile feelings toward the Netherlands, and reports insulting to a friendly nation.

JAPS OPEN NEW DRIVE IN SOUTH CHINA; TAKE CITY

Carry War to Hitherto Uninvaded Area.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 22 (AP).—Japanese said today their troops, aided by naval units and airplanes, had captured Siaoshan and in their first drive south of Hangchow were pushing 3,000 Chinese troops before them.

The southern drive was seen here as a possible prelude to an attack on Ningpo, only important Chinese seaport which has not fallen to the invaders and gateway to a corridor to Chungking, provisional Chinese capital.

Capture of Siaoshan, 115 miles south of Shanghai and the southern drive into hitherto uninvaded territory were reported in a Japanese army communique.

Drive Starts in Blizzard.

The drive started in a blizzard after crossing the Chientang river at Hangchow which the Japanese have occupied since Dec. 25, 1937.

Japanese officials described the drive as part of a widespread mopping up campaign in the Shanghai, Nanking and Hangchow area designed to "disillusion Chinese who hitherto have escaped Japanese punishment" but who recently "attacked communications and also undertook assassinations and arson in an effort to hinder the formation of the new Wang Ching-wei government."

Chinese Tighten Lines.

HONGKONG, Jan. 22 (AP).—Favored by mild weather, forces pressing Canton, South China metropolis, today were said by Chinese dispatches to be tightening their lines against the Japanese.

Sharp fighting was reported at Tsengshing, 45 miles northeast of Canton. There was curtailed fighting in Kiangsi, Hunan and Hupeh provinces, due to subzero cold.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Nationalist press fired editorial broadsides at a pact reported signed by Wang Ching-wei and the Japanese government.

The alleged pact, reported to the newspaper Takungpoa by Kao Tsung-wu, former chief of the Asiatic affairs department of the Chinese foreign office, and Tao Hsi-sheng, Chinese writer, was described as the "most abject, shameful document in the four thousand years of Chinese history."

GIDEONSE RAPS U. S. MEDDLING IN EUROPE'S WAR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Dr. Harry D. Gideonse tonight told the 15th annual conference on the Cause and Cure of War that the price of peace is commitment to definite action in case of infringement by aggression.

"We have had enough moralizing sermons," said Dr. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn college and a former University of Chicago professor. He asserted that "American public opinion at present is the weirdest mixture of irresponsible isolationism and incessant meddling with other people's business" and that "we are now inclined to think that the allies, who do the actual fighting, should make a prompt accounting to us of the peace terms they intend to establish."

VIVA ROMANCE!

By CALEB

I WANT to loll in your reading lamp's glow, of an iridescent evening, and utterly forget the flow of time, the clutch of care, the whole weary, workaday way of this whirling world we live in?

Then I commend to you a first-rate novel of adventure—namely, the three-decker tale of His Britannic Majesty's fleets in the Napoleonic days. Pages tremendous with rolling billows and roaring winds, sinister landfalls and starstrewn calms, blazing cannon and battle-swept decks . . . a saga of love and bravado, peril and piracy . . . from which you will return only with regret, and which you will ever remember only to envy.

In briefer prescription: stake a whiff of passage-money against the cruise of enchantment awaiting you in Captain Horatio Hornblower. "Three-decker" was my phrase for it—and a three-decker it is. A trilogy of sea-tales, each the sequel to its predecessor, which carries its hero—a bronzed six-footer whose middle name should have been Intrepid—successively through the episodes of Beat to Quarters, Ship of the Line, and Flying Colours, until his emergence, wearing precisely the honors his reader's hopes have anticipated.

Here lives Dumas again—plus Maryat, plus Cooper, plus Conrad, plus Masefield. Which is to belittle none of these pastmasters in the genre of the sea-story, but rather to compliment them. For C. S. Forester, author of this gorgeous chronicle, not only flourishes complete technical familiarity with ship and sail, but knows how, in the bargain, to tell a tale as a tale should be told. If there be a better criterion of craftsmanship than that, our critics haven't found it. . . .

Wooden-ship days were those wide, wild days when English men-'o-war rode arrayed against a marauding Napoleon. Brute strength, born sagacity, naked courage, counted then. Sixteen-pounders, furious gales, mountainous seas, flogging at the yardarm, cutlass and quarterdeck—the iron traditions of Nelson and the bulldog spirit of the common sailor—flavor these tales with something no ennui can resist.

In short, here is Romance ruddy-ripe for the picking—hence, little wonder the copy I relished was in its forty-sixth printing! Tired-businessman's reading has never boasted a brighter accession . . . and my only wish is that I had Captain Horatio Hornblower yet to read, instead of merely praising it out of enthusiasm already experienced. . . . But such is the booklover's fate. Once he has encountered something "extra special," his next wonder is as to when he may do so again!

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SURVIVORS TELL STORY OF ITALIAN LINER'S BURNING

Borrowed Lifeboats Save Passengers and Crew.

MARSEILLES, France, Jan. 22 (AP).—Survivors of the burning Italian liner Orazio told tales of escape in borrowed lifeboats on a stormy sea when 48 were landed here today.

The ship was a gigantic torch on the Mediterranean 38 miles off here yesterday morning after a mysterious pre-dawn explosion. The fire burned all but two of the vessel's lifeboats.

But rescue vessels which speedily answered distress calls sent over their own lifeboats and Italian officials said all 412 passengers and most of the crew of 231 were believed saved.

The Orazio, it was disclosed, was shaken by an explosion in the engine room at 5 a. m., and then almost instantly was in flames from bow to stern.

Enginemen Reported Killed.

Enginemen who best might have helped explain whether the explosion was due to engine trouble or possibly to sabotage were reported dead—killed instantly by the initial blast.

"I think about four or five were trapped in the engine room," said Capt. Giorello, the second officer. [Giorello is a licensed captain].

"We still don't know the reason for the explosion," continued the officer, whose left eye was badly burned and whose uniform was tattered and blackened by smoke.

"The fire was fanned by the wind and spread with such rapidity that one can say that when we sent out the SOS—and it was quite soon—we had almost no lifeboats left.

No Panic, Officer Says.

"The fire seemed to have started fore and aft at the same time. Nevertheless there was no panic. Our officers were able to direct the passengers toward their stations so they could gain the lifeboats the French and Italian ships sent to us."

Eight rescue ships had worked in seas whipped by a gale and lighted by the burning ship and searchlights of the rescuers.

The Italian line office in Rome tonight credited the steamship Colombo, which had already picked up 173 persons, with saving an additional group of 22.

French Seize Germans.

The number of missing was cut to 70 when it was disclosed here that the French were holding 12 Germans taken from the ship by the contraband control party 24 hours before the explosion.

[In Paris an official statement denied what was termed a German insinuation that the French contraband control party was responsible for sabotage. The statement was issued in response to a dispatch by DNB, official German news agency, which said: "When the commission left the ship and it continued its journey the fire suddenly broke out."]

The French admiralty at Toulon advised the Italian consul general that all lifeboats had been found and all passengers were saved. Only those crew members in the engine room at the time of the explosion were missing, the French said.

Earlier representatives of the Italian line had announced that 104 were missing, including 40 of the crew.

The liner Conte Biancamano, with 318 survivors, was due in Genoa tomorrow at 8 a. m.

Rescued by Warship.

The 48 survivors reaching Marseilles, including 25 women and 3 children, were rescued by a French warship. They suffered from burns and exposure from their all day fight to escape the burning sea trap, and were hurried to two hotels which were converted into emergency hospitals.

Altho Italian Line officials said they believed all passengers had been saved, Giorello said he was not certain concerning the fate of a lifeboat which the French warship was unable to save and which was reported to have carried the Italian minister to Panama, Renato Firenze. Italian Line officials believed this boat was picked up by one of the other rescue ships.

Tossed from Beds.

The survivors reported that they were tossed from their beds by the explosion, and that they stumbled in the corridors trying to reach deck, many fighting flames on the way. Some fainted and were dragged from a fiery death by sailors.

The fire gained headway so rapidly that access was blocked to all but two of the Orazio's lifeboats. Passengers were herded to the safer central portions of the ship while the crew put up a 12 hour fight against the flames.

The 11,669 ton liner, which was bound for South America, rolled and tossed in the giant seas, and one lifeboat spilled all its occupants, but they were fished out of the cold waters by rescue ships.

Van Zeeland Located.

BARCELONA, Spain, Jan. 22 (AP).—Paul Van Zeeland, former premier of Belgium, who had been reported as among the passengers of the burned Italian motorship Orazio, was located here today.

Van Zeeland had planned to board the vessel for South and Central America at Barcelona today. He said he probably would leave tonight for Lisbon and sail from there. He arrived here yesterday from France.

Charges Beating

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
Mrs. Elizabeth H. Langan as she appeared yesterday in court.

Mrs. Elizabeth Langan, 49 years old, came before Judge Oscar F. Nelson yesterday with two black eyes, a face that was puffed and swollen, and a forehead on which was a patch of adhesive tape covering a cut that had required three stitches to close.

Mrs. Langan was seeking temporary alimony from Al M. Langan, 50, a printing instructor at Austin High school. Her attorney, Oscar Abrams, told the court that Langan had beaten Mrs. Langan on Jan. 16. Neighbors heard her screams and took her to the Swedish Covenant hospital.

Langan's attorney, Maurice Zaretsky, spoke up: "This woman has been waiting for a beating for 10 years," he said. "She had it coming."

This incensed Judge Nelson, who said angrily: "How can you justify your client's action? No woman is entitled to a beating or has one coming!" He awarded Mrs. Langan $150 a month and issued an injunction restraining Langan from molesting her. The Langans have three children, ranging in age from 10 to 18. Mrs. Langan lives at 4134 North Harding avenue.

FEARS CHURCHES MAY BEAT WAR DRUMS AS IN 1917

M. E. Bishop Replies to Joint Statement.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Thirty-three widely known Protestant clergymen and educators issued a statement on Sunday night which asserted that "Christians in neutral countries cannot evade the ethical issues involved and the consequent claim upon their sympathy and support" arising from present international conflicts. Last night Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago Methodist Episcopal area as a spokesman of Chicago pastors said that among the hundreds of clergymen he knows none is willing to see the United States abandon its neutrality.

The joint statement issued in New York Sunday declared that "to suggest that nothing is at stake in the success of Japanese, German and Russian designs on China, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, and the Baltic states, or in the successful resistance of these latter nations, is to be guilty of moral irresponsibility." It also argued that American churches are "under obligations to lead their nation to assume a responsible relationship" to these wars.

Sign Joint Statement.

Among the signers are Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago; the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church; Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the New York area of the Methodist Episcopal church, and the presidents of Union Theological seminary, Yale and Brown universities, and Smith and Wellesley colleges.

Bishop Waldorf, in replying to the statement, referred to a series of articles in the magazine Christian Century last month under the title, "Preachers Present Arms." It exposed how the churches helped beat the nation's war drums before our entry into the world war in 1917.

Recall Hate Campaign.

In that article Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university was quoted as telling students that "it is religious to hate the kaiser." It also recalled a statement by Dr. Mark A. Matthews, Portland, Ore., pastor, that any one who bought a German made article in the next 100 years should be court martialed and shot. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, once minister of Central church in Chicago's Orchestra hall, was described as being the first notable American minister to inveigh against neutrality because moral and ethical issues were at stake in the war against Germany.

Bishop Waldorf said it was evident the same sort of ethical campaign was now under way. It was predicted that this group may try to get the churches to beat the country's war drums again as was done prior to 1917.

AIR CORPS GIVES PUBLIC GLIMPSE OF NEW WEAPONS

Planes and Guns, Hitherto Secret, on Display.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Some of the army air corps' latest aerial weapons, hitherto closely guarded secrets, were put on display here today at the gigantic new air base at Bolling Field. The exhibit, originally set up solely for congressional inspection, was ordered opened to the public by Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air corps.

In the display were the latest fighting and bombing planes, motors, propellers, machine guns and rapid fire cannon. Approximately 50 military planes of all types were lined up on the field's cement apron, and other planes and special exhibits were inside two huge new hangars.

First Exhibit of Bell Planes.

The exhibition marked the first public appearance of the air corps' Bell Airacuda and the Bell Airacobra—the latter technically known as the XP39. Both are armed with the air corps' new 37 millimeter quick firing cannon, which shoots one pound shells. The Airacuda, a five man, twin engined plane, attains about 350 miles an hour and the Airacobra, a single seater, about 400 miles an hour.

For the first time the army revealed details of the motor which powers the Airacobra. It is an Allison engine of about 1,200 horse power installed behind the pilot. The propeller, at the tip of the highly streamlined fuselage nose, is operated on an extension shaft about 7 feet long which is in two parts connected by a knuckle and bearing.

The Airacobra was described by air corps experts here as the last of the army's so-called destroyer planes of the single motored type. It is said to be one of the best streamlined airplanes in the world. It has a tricycle landing gear, the nose wheel folding into the streamlined fairings below the propeller drive shaft.

Four Blade Propeller on View.

One of the most interesting exhibits was the army's new four blade full feathering hydromatic propeller. This propeller was designed to absorb a maximum of about 2,500 horse power on a radius of about 12 feet. It has been necessary to build a four blade propeller because two and three blade propellers capable of taking the same power would have been so large as to become inefficient.

One propeller secret is shared by the army and the Curtiss company. Together they developed a propeller with pressed wooden blades and a controlable pitch mechanism. The wooden blades are held in a metal hub in which the pitch changing mechanism is contained.

Air corps officers at the display also disclosed that the army is experimenting at this time with a three inch field gun installed in a B-18 twin motored bomber.

CANADA TO BUILD 7 NEW SCHOOLS TO TRAIN FLYERS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 22 (AP).—Defence Minister Norman Rogers today announced seven new flying schools would be established under the British commonwealth air training plan to supply air force replacements.

Bids have been requested for construction of buildings for elementary flying schools at Windsor Mills, Que., London, Ont., and Port Arthur; an elementary flying school and air observers school at Malton airport, near Toronto; an observer's school at Edmonton and a service flying school at Camp Borden, Ont. New equipment depots are under construction at Moncton, N. B., and Calgary, Alta, and two large wireless schools for 1,000 students each will be started soon in Quebec and Ontario.

Rogers said the Royal Canadian Air Force has sufficient instructors to start training. About 200 airmen will come to Canada shortly from the United Kingdom to help in the training.

Quezon Insists Philippines Accept Liberty; Spurn Peril

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 22 (AP).—President Manuel Quezon told the Philippine assembly today that it was Utopian to believe the Philippines would not be exposed to foreign aggression once the islands cease to be under the protection of the American flag. He added, however:

"We cannot falter in the attainment of our long cherished ideal. We must secure a place, however modest, in the concert of free nations."

Manuel Quezon.

Question of Peril Raised.

In his message on the state of the nation, President Quezon declared: "Conquest and subjugation of former independent nations, the invasion by strong powers of insufficiently defended territories, and the not infrequent disregard of international covenants and laws have of late caused great anxiety in the minds of many people, both in the United States and the Philippines, and not a few of them are raising the question whether it is the part of wisdom to carry out the plan already agreed upon of establishing a Philippine republic in 1946."

He said the international situation had not developed to a point where any one would predict the future of small nations.

Lists Three Major Points.

In discussing possible changes in the program for independence embodied in the independence act, President Quezon said it was important to bear in mind three points:

1. That the government of the United States would not consider favorably any program merely postponing independence beyond 1946 while continuing the present political-economic relations between the United States and the Philippines.

2. That if the Filipino people were not willing or afraid to assume the responsibilities of independent nationhood by 1946, their only alternative was to petition congress to declare the Philippines permanently American territory.

3. That America will not protect the independence and territorial integrity of the Philippines against foreign aggression.

He Chooses Independence.

"In the face of these considerations," he continued, "the question for us to decide is whether, because of the uncertainty of the future of small nations, we should abandon the idea of becoming independent.

"I am unalterably opposed to prolongation of the present political setup beyond 1946 because I believe it is not conducive to our best interest."

COUNTERCLAIMS MARK PHILIPPINE SUGAR STRIKE

MANILA, Jan. 22 (AP).—Sugar company officials claimed today their mills were operating as usual in Pampanga and Bataan provinces despite socialist union claims that 25,000 sugar workers were on strike.

Company officials said only a few mill workers walked out on Friday after the strike was called to enforce demands for wage increases and reinstatement of two discharged workers.

The secretary of labor authorized the employés to import outside labor to replace strikers. Constabulary officers said a survey of 12 mills disclosed 1,260 had remained at work and 500 who struck last week returned today.

CHEST COLDS COUGHING COLDS STUBBORN HEAD COLDS

Don't keep on suffering, day after day, from the stuffiness, coughing, soreness and muscular tightness of a cold without doing something about it.

A cold is bad for you—bad for those around you, too. What's more, you can't trust the simplest little cold not to grow worse.

Do As Millions Do

So do what millions of people do. Have on hand a jar of Vicks VapoRub—the famous poultice-vapor treatment you can depend on to relieve miseries of chest colds, nasty coughing colds and stubborn head colds.

You can use VapoRub in so many ways. It acts to relieve miseries like a good old-fashioned poultice. Also, its medicated vapors are breathed into cold-irritated air passages to help relieve the congestion and loosen phlegm. And, when you melt it in boiling water, it gives you a marvelous medicated vapor-steam treatment.

These simple VapoRub treatments are standbys in millions of homes—used whenever colds strike. More people use the poultice and vapor action of VapoRub than all similar treatments combined. Follow the full tested directions that come with every jar of VapoRub.

JUDGE NELSON ENTERS STATE'S ATTORNEY RACE

Seeks G.O.P. Nomination; Cites Labor Service.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Judge Oscar F. Nelson of the Superior court last night announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state's attorney of Cook county.

Judge Nelson.

The announcement was made in a radio address. The climax of his talk was an appeal to the Republican party to win labor support by nominating him.

During the day Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, nominee for the state's attorneyship in the last election and again a candidate for it, was warmly commended for his record by Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, executive director of the Chicago Crime commission.

Need of Labor Vote Told.

"We must dedicate ourselves to the task of insuring a Republican victory in November," Judge Nelson said in his radio speech. "That cannot be accomplished without the labor vote. Fifty thousand or one hundred thousand labor votes in Cook county may decide our nation's destiny."

Earlier Judge Nelson had told the story of his long activity in the union labor movement, epitomized in the fact that for 25 years he was vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Judge Nelson recited his record as chief state factory inspector from 1913 to 1917, as conciliator for the federal department of labor from 1917 to 1922, and as a member of the city council for almost 13 years.

"Because of my public record thruout these many years without a single blemish against my character," he said, "I have been urged by a great number of citizens who are interested in good government and in the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the law to become a candidate.

Fight on Rackets Pledged.

"They have importuned me to become a candidate because they are interested in Republican party success in our county, state, and nation. They have paid me the compliment of saying that I have made an enviable record for integrity, impartiality, and justice in all my public service.

"The argument and the appeal that counts most with me—one that I have always heeded—is that it will afford me the opportunity to be of service to my fellow men in the locality wherein I have spent my entire life.

"I pledge to the people of Cook county that as state's attorney I will drive out of our community or imprison every racketeer in labor, in industry, or in employers' associations. Having spent 25 years of my life as vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, an unsalaried office, I consider myself especially qualified to rid labor of every dishonest element.

"I also assure all honest employers and business men that under my régime they need fear no interference, domination, or intrusion by any impostors or racketeers."

Letter Hails Ditchburne.

Ditchburne's office made public a letter from Chamberlin to Attorney Fred L. Steers replying to a request from Steers for a résumé of Ditchburne's record as an assistant state's attorney as shown by the files of the crime commission.

"The record here," said Chamberlin, "indicates that he was highly efficient, courageous, capable, discriminating in his judgment, and of unquestionable integrity."

Other extracts from Chamberlin's letter follow:

"In an issue of Criminal Justice [the journal of the Chicago Crime commission] for December, 1930, is the statement: 'The progress made by the Chicago Crime commission in its campaign against public enemies was due in large measure to the cooperation of Harry S. Ditchburne.'

"In a report of an observer of the commission, under date of Oct. 26, 1929, is this: 'Thruout the trial Mr. Ditchburne was most fair and courteous at all times. He was well prepared with the law on each and every objection raised by the defense, and, being alert, thoro, and accurate, the case was perfectly presented.

Victory Called Deserved.

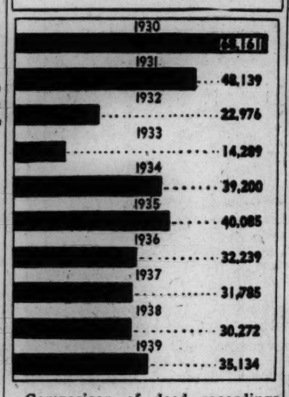
"'Tho the trial was an actual physical strain on him toward the end, he did not let down in the least. The victory for him was well deserved.'

"Another observer reporting under date of Aug. 17, 1929, said: 'Mr. Ditchburne is a very sincere and able prosecutor.'

"Again, under date of May 25, 1929, another observer stated: 'What I could say in two or three pages I shall state in but a few words. Mr. Ditchburne is experienced, capable, efficient, and well qualified to represent the people of this state in the prosecution of criminal cases.'

"Again on May 11, 1929, is this from another observer: 'Anything that could be said about Harry Ditchburne merely would be an elaboration upon the general statement that he is an experienced and capable assistant state's attorney.'"

Deeds Increase



Comparison of deed recordings in Cook county since 1930.

An increase of 16 per cent in mortgages and trust deeds recorded in 1939 as compared with 1938 was reported yesterday by County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl.

In 1939 there were registered 35,134 mortgages and trust deeds, with a total stated consideration of $237,290,924. In 1938 the total was 30,272 and the consideration $297,225,548. The higher consideration was caused by two large mortgages totaling $118,000,000.

Totals for the preceding eight years were:

1930...68,161 1933...14,289 1936...32,239
1932...22,976 1935...40,085

Real estate transfers for 1939 rose to 47,226 with stated consideration of $71,072,577, as compared to 46,469 in 1938 with stated consideration of $95,346,650.

CASSIDY REFUSES TO ACT ON SLUSH FUND CHARGES

John E. Cassidy, Illinois attorney general, refused yesterday to take any action in connection with charges of solicitation of funds from civil service employés for the Democratic state war chest.

John E. Cassidy.

The charges were made by John L. Clarkson, president of the Union League club, as a result of the exposure of the practice of the Illinoisans of collecting 2 per cent of the salaries of prison guards and other state employés.

The attorney general, in a letter to Mr. Clarkson, urged him to submit to the grand jury the evidence on which he based his charges. Any action against offenders of the civil service laws must begin in the various counties where the violations allegedly occurred, Cassidy added. Incidentally, the Will county state's attorney is making such an inquiry now.

Exempt Trucks Under State Law from City Safety Test

Owners of trucks operating under state highway department regulations cannot be compelled to have their vehicles tested in city safety lanes. This was the ruling given yesterday to John Szumnarski, city vehicle license commissioner, by Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel. The opinion said that trucks exempt from the state law are subject to city control.

DEWEY REVEALS HE MAY RUN IN ILLINOIS PRIMARY

Pauses in Rhode Island on New England Trip.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Providence, R. I., Jan. 22.—Swinging into New England on his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, District Attorney Thomas E Dewey stopped off here tonight to confer with Republican Gov. William H. Vanderbilt and party leaders.

Tomorrow night the New York prosecutor will appear in Boston, Mass., for another major speech in a series he is delivering to acquaint the American people with his economic and political philosophy. This time he will present his views on the Roosevelt administration's unbalanced budgets.

Asked about his campaign plans here tonight, Dewey revealed he was considering the possibility of entering the Illinois primary in quest of delegates he can call his own at the Republican national convention. Dewey's headquarters have received reports from Illinois of a highly favorable reaction to his first speech at Minneapolis, Minn., in which he attacked what he labeled the spirit of defeatism in the present régime at Washington, D. C.

Won't Enter in Michigan.

Without amplifying Illinois strategy, Dewey went on to say he would not enter the primary in his native Michigan, where Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is the favorite son candidate, nor in Ohio, which has Senator Robert A. Taft as a leading contender.

There is no preferential primary in Rhode Island, and Dewey, as well as other candidates, probably will have to wait until convention time to find out how the little state's eight delegates will vote.

Rhode Island's delegation will be selected at a state convention in May or June. This convention will decide whether to instruct the delegates or send them to the convention unpledged. Gov. Vanderbilt has adopted the policy of entertaining all the Republican candidates, but has declared there will be no committals.

Hundreds Shake Dewey's Hand.

Dewey's managers were cheered, however, by their reception here. Hundreds of party workers turned out to shake hands with the young prosecutor at a reception in a local hotel. The governor, his entire cabinet, and leaders of all factions in the state Republican organization got together in one room for a lengthy conference.

Dewey's Rhode Island campaign is being managed by Charles P. Sisson. Sisson was an assistant federal attorney general during the administration of Herbert Hoover, when Dewey was chief assistant federal attorney for the southern district of New York.

Dewey's New England drive began yesterday with the news that Alvan T. Fuller, former governor of Massachusetts, had endorsed him. Mrs. Dewey is accompanying the candidate on the trip. Tonight she and Mrs. Vanderbilt were guests at a dinner given by Mrs. Sisson.

RANSACK HOUSE—LODGER LOOKS ON.

Two robbers ransacked the lodging house of Emil Aldrin, 5694 Ridge avenue, in the presence of Aldrin, his wife, and Mrs. Charles Kervin, a lodger, Summerdale police were told yesterday. They took 35 cents from Aldrin and $7.25 from Mrs. Kervin.

DENY INJUNCTION TO HALT JARECKI VOTE FRAUD WAR

Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Circuit court yesterday dismissed an injunction suit which sought to halt the trial of election fraud cases before Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court. As head of the county election machinery, Judge Jarecki is hearing contempt of court charges against election officials accused of fraud in the 1939 mayoral and judicial elections.

Judge R. J. Dunne.

The suit was brought by Attorney Joseph T. Harrington. He sought to halt action by Judge Jarecki until the Illinois Supreme court has passed on a case now pending. This case requests an order for the destruction of all 1939 election ballots, asserting that ballots must be destroyed within six months of an election under existing laws.

In dismissing the Harrington suit, Judge Dunne held that a court of equity cannot enjoin proceedings in another court of contempt jurisdiction where the plaintiffs have adequate relief by appeal.

HARMONY RULES KELLY AND HIM, HORNER ASSERTS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP).—Gov. Horner told his press conference today that as far as he and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago were concerned, there would be a Democratic harmony ticket for state offices in the April primary.

John Stelle.

But the governor declined to forecast publicly whether the ticket would include Lieut. Gov. John Stelle for renomination, saying, "We ought to let the state central committee make the recommendations." Neither did Mr. Horner discuss published reports that he favored some one other than Stelle as his running mate in this year's campaign.

Reaffirming his own intention to run for a third term with the remark: "I'm going to file—you can be sure of that." The governor discussed the political situation in the light of his conference with Mayor Kelly in Chicago eight days ago.

"I would like to see a Democratic ticket that everybody would respect; that's all I'm interested in," he said. "It certainly will be a harmony ticket as far as the followers of Henry Horner and Mayor Kelly are concerned."

PROGRESS REPORTED IN PARLEYS LOOKING TOWARD SEAWAY PACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Canadian-American negotiations over a proposed St. Lawrence waterway treaty made what an official described as significant progress today.

A Canadian delegation of five, headed by Dr. O. D. Skelton, undersecretary of state, met with Adolf A. Berle, assistant secretary of state; Leland Olds, chairman of the federal power commission, and John Hickerson, assistant chief of the European division of the state department.

Afterward Canadian engineers met with American engineers for a discussion of technical problems involved. The discussions are expected to go on for three days.

Street Repairs During 1939 Total 2,155,414 SquareYds.

Annual reports to Mayor Kelly yesterday from bureaus of the department of public works showed that 2,155,414 square yards of streets were repaired or improved last year, 2,833,233 cubic yards of refuse were hauled, 2,847 pedestrian crosswalks were painted at street crossings, 6,000 no-parking signs were erected, and 11,870,075 feet of sewers were flushed out. The water bureau reported total collections of $13,121,603, an increase of $150,000 over 1938.

FORMER JUDGE GETS HALF YEAR TERM IN PRISON

Waukesha, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP).—Former Municipal Judge David M. Evans, 33 years old, pleaded guilty today to a charge of obstructing justice, and was sentenced to serve six months in the Milwaukee house of correction.

The charge was based on Evans' acceptance of a $300 loan from Herman R. Salen, Waukesha attorney, and one-time Waukesha county district attorney. Evans agreed to surrender his license to practice law.

Salen recently pleaded guilty to a charge of obstructing justice in connection with the loan, and in lieu of sentence surrendered his license to practice law.

COURT UPHOLDS DIXMOOR SPEED TRAP SENTENCES

Special and Four Others Lose Appeals.

Convictions of Charles Special, president of the village of Dixmoor, and four others on a charge of operating a speed trap were upheld yesterday by the Appellate court.

Charles Special.

Dixmoor is a suburb six miles south of Chicago on the Dixie Highway. Special and the others were tried in Criminal court in November, 1938. The technical charge against them was conspiracy to cheat and defraud motorists by false arrests. A jury found them guilty and on Nov. 25, 1938, Judge William J. Lindsay sentenced them.

Sentenced and Fined.

Special and Charles A. Braun, then police magistrate, got one year in jail and $2,000 fine each. Policemen Tony Bader, Robert Grecco, and Charles Paduano got one year in jail and $500 fine each.

At the trial Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Austin and Alex Napoli presented witnesses who testified that arrests were made at hidden stop signs, that speed charges were exaggerated, and that trucks were held on trivial technicalities pending payment of fines. Special and the other defendants have been free on bond pending the outcome of their appeals.

The Appellate court opinion was written by Justice William H. McSurely. It cited testimony by Special that the salaries of the defendants were paid out of the fines, and Special's statement that: "My cops have to make at least ten pinches a day to earn their salary. That's the way we eat!"

Discounts Guilty Pleas.

"The main point presented in defense," wrote Justice McSurely, "is that nearly all the motorists arrested and brought before Magistrate Braun pleaded guilty to the offense charged against them. . . . The pleas of guilty were simply purchases of peace from further annoyance, and could well fit in with the conspiracy charge.

"The jury could properly believe that there was a common agreement by the defendants to harass motorists and truck drivers and by covert threats induce them to pay a small fine rather than have a trial where the merits would be examined."

Since the speed trap trial a special audit of the village funds has disclosed shortages totaling $46,188. The state's attorney's office is studying the accounts.

JANITOR GETS 10 DAYS IN JAIL AS TIPSY DRIVER

Roy Toomey, 36 years old, of 102 South Ashland avenue, a janitor, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail and his driving privileges were suspended for six months by Judge Frank Donoghue yesterday in Safety court on a charge of drunken driving.

Judge John Gutknecht in Traffic court opened a drive on motorists who have failed to obtain drivers' licenses by fining 11 delinquents $25 each and three others $10 each. Those who escaped with lighter fines were ordered not to use their cars for three months.

The fines were the first imposed in the court's drive. Drivers previously had been discharged on their promise to obtain licenses without delay. Judge Gutknecht dismissed 45 motorists who showed they had licenses at home at the time of their arrest or had obtained them since.

ALD. KELLS CRITICISES LACK OF LOOP LINK FOR NORTHWEST SIDE ROAD

The proposal of the Cook county highway department to construct a $40,000,000 depressed highway from the near north side to the northwest part of the city was criticized yesterday by Ald. George D. Kells [28th] on the ground that the plan does not provide a proper connection with the west side or the downtown business district.

Ald. George D. Kells.

Ald. Kells, who is chairman of the city council traffic committee, voiced his criticism to a committee representing the Association of Commerce, the Chicago Regional Plan Association, and the Chicago Motor club which met in the county highway department offices in the Burnham building.

The committee agreed to call the county board's attention to the lack of a west entrance to the loop when the plans are presented early in February.

BUILDING UNION OFFICER YIELDS RECORDS TO JURY

Charles H. Sand, secretary-treasurer of the district council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, produced union records demanded by the federal grand jury yesterday after he was ordered to do so by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward.

Last Friday Sand refused before the grand jury to surrender the records. Summoned before the jury again yesterday, he at first persisted in his refusal. He contended that the jury, which is investigating alleged combinations in restraint of trade by the building industry, was asking him the equivalent of testifying against himself. The records had been commanded on a subpena. If Sand had defied Judge Woodward's order, he would have faced citation for contempt. Sand spent most of the afternoon explaining the records to the grand jury.

Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the attorney general, said the grand jury today would ask Judge Woodward to take similar action against Eric G. Pihl, recording secretary of local No. 58 of the brotherhood; B. O. Lostren, financial secretary, and the local itself. Pihl and Lostren refused to produce their records last Friday.

TWO ARE INJURED WHEN CAR SKIDS AND HITS TROLLEY

George Carbaugh, 35 years old, 4737 Malden street, was injured seriously and his companion, Kenneth Webb, 29, a clerk, was cut and bruised yesterday when Carbaugh's automobile skidded on ice at Sheffield and Belmont avenues and hit a Sheffield avenue street car.

Carbaugh, a restaurant manager, incurred internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. Webb lives with him. Both were taken to Illinois Masonic hospital.

Arthur Peglow, 31, who resided at 22d street and Dickey avenue, west of North Chicago, died in Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville, of injuries incurred Sunday when his automobile was struck at a crossing a mile and a half west of Lake Bluff by a North Shore electric train on the Mundelein branch line. His companion, David Vanucha, 29, a farmer, was killed outright. Peglow was an employé of the American Steel and Wire company.

Joseph Kolata, 45 years old, 15825 Lathrop avenue, Harvey, one of two pedestrians struck by a hit and run car, died last night in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey. Early Sunday morning he and Bernard Seput, 35, of 14839 Wood street, Harvey, were attempting to cross in front of 15739 Halsted street, Phoenix, when they were struck by a car which sped away. Seput is in the Ingalls hospital, but has a chance to recover.

George Shaw, 34, of 4626 Ohio street, a truck driver, died in County hospital of injuries incurred Friday when his truck and the automobile of Walter J. Pavelak, 19, of 3200 54th street, collided at Roosevelt road and California avenue. Pavelak has been charged with reckless driving.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 55 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 41 were killed in Chicago, where 1,327 were injured in the same period.

FALL INJURIES FATAL.

Armand J. Scarpelline, 34 years old, 310 Railway avenue, Highwood, died last night in the Evanston hospital of a skull fracture which he suffered Sunday when he fell on the ice near Winnetka and Happ roads, west of Winnetka.

EITHER WAY, YOU WIN!

There's a new and better gasoline in both these pumps!

NEW SUPER-SHELL

NEW SUPER-SHELL is truthfully a startling development in motor fuels.

You can feel the difference the instant you step on your starter. NEW SUPER-SHELL "gets going" pronto—in coldest weather... whisks you through traffic... lets your motor take highest hills in stride! Economy? NEW SUPER-SHELL has been specially engineered to increase your savings on Stop-and-Go, the costliest kind of driving there is.

Of course NEW SUPER-SHELL costs more to make. But it costs you no more to buy!

TWO NEW TRIUMPHS FOR SHELL'S SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

——FIRST TO SPONSOR ANTI-KNOCK RESEARCH

Under the sponsorship of Shell, Harry Ricardo discovered principles that made high compression engines possible. His experiments in flame propagation and action of aromatic hydro-carbons led to the development of Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" in refining.

——FIRST TO PRODUCE 100 OCTANE GASOLINE

Shell first produced 100 octane gasoline commercially ... instrumental in bringing aviation to its present high development. Shell produced approximately 30% of all aircraft fuel used in the U. S. in 1939.

——FIRST TO RE-FORM GASOLINE—and now Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" saves you more money on Stop-and-Go

The refining secret that makes NEW SUPER-SHELL and NEW SHELL PREMIUM possible is Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS." There are many different tests by which the performance of a gasoline can be measured. "Balancing" means that no one performance characteristic is stressed at the expense of another—we don't rob Peter to pay Paul. As a result every drop of both these fuels is usable in your motor. Waste is reduced. Economy increased. Stop-and-Go costs you less.

NEW SHELL PREMIUM

The finest gasoline ever to bear the Shell name.

The same Shell scientific research, the same refining talent that first produced 100 octane fuel for racing planes, brings another great advance!

If your motor calls for anti-knock far above the average, SHELL PREMIUM is "made to order" for you. Under all driving conditions—starting, shifting, accelerating, steady running—it delivers an even wider EXTRA MARGIN OF PERFORMANCE. Costs plenty more to make but it costs you no more than the usual extra price.

Test a tankful— YOU be the judge!

MILWAUKEE FIRM HAS TUSSLE WITH OVERTIME LAW

Bares Enforcers' Threats and Conflicting Advice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 22.—Altho he does not believe the Wesley Steel Treating company is subject to the wage and hour law, Charles I. Wesley, president, has been required to sign a federal court consent decree requiring the company to pay $2,023 to 32 employés for overtime work since Oct. 24, 1938, when the law became effective.

Wesley could have escaped the consent decree and what wage-hour administrators and attorneys described as adverse publicity if he had agreed to pay the amounts alleged to be due the 32 employés in a lump sum. The amounts claimed ranged up to $450 apiece. It was Wesley's desire to spread the larger payments over a period of weeks, giving a maximum of $25 weekly until the overtime had been paid.

Shares Profit with Workers.

Shop employés of the Wesley company work from 48 to 50 hours a week in three shifts. This working schedule is required by the nature of the business because steel, once started thru the hardening process must be finished.

The Wesley company processes steel for Milwaukee manufacturers of machine and motor parts and tools. It does not manufacture any product of its own. It pays a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour, annual bonuses and has shared 70 per cent of its net earnings with employés for the last 20 years.

The first complaint against the company arose over irregular lunch periods. Men engaged in treating steel frequently were unable to leave their jobs for half an hour in the middle of the shift. For that reason they stopped for lunch when convenient.

When wage-hour investigators first called at the plant last summer and informed Wesley the law was being violated, he explained that he had been advised that because his business was only a service that it was exempt. He also explained the bonuses and profit sharing. Wage-hour administrators and lawyers replied that bonuses and profit sharing were gratuities and that he did not need to pay them.

Suggests Part Payments.

When Wesley appealed his case to Thomas O'Malley, regional wage-hour director in Chicago, he was informed that he had been violating the law and that he would have to pay. O'Malley suggested that the amounts claimed could be paid in instalments.

The date for starting the overtime payments was set for Jan. 27. Because that is the date for payment of the annual profit sharing, Wesley asked for permission to start paying earlier. When an attempt was made to start the payment two weeks ago a wage-hour lawyer went to the company's office as an observer.

Learning that the men were to be paid over a period of weeks instead of in a lump sum the attorney announced they would have to be paid in full or the company would have to accept a consent decree. Because he still believed instalment payments were best for the workmen and the company, Wesley finally agreed to the humiliating order, which was signed by District Judge F. Ryan Duffy.

When Wesley protested against the language of the decree because it accused him of wilful law violation among other things, he was informed by a wage-hour attorney that the language was merely a form which the Washington wage-hour administration requires.

Half of Wesley's employés were put on the time and a half basis for all work over 42 hours last July. Last week all employés of the company, except Wesley and one other executive, were put on a time and a half basis.

Telephone Gains

Chicago's 1,000,000th telephone was installed yesterday in the Museum of Science and Industry and was put into prompt, ceremonial use with a few well-placed calls.

The 1,000,000th telephone has an oxidized silver case and a hand set of transparent lucite, with all the works visible. Nevertheless, in spite of its splendor, it is a pay station. It even has a significant number, MIDway 1940.

B. E. Sunny, former president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, made one of the day's calls. This was significant, too, for back in 1877 he used Chicago's first telephone instrument. A year later telephone service was introduced triumphantly here with 75 telephones. By 1900 34,414 were in use. Only one city, New York, now uses more telephones than Chicago.

KIWANIS LAUDED BY PRESIDENT ON 25TH BIRTHDAY

The Kiwanis International Service clubs received the congratulations of President Roosevelt yesterday on their 25th anniversary. Celebrations were held in 2,060 clubs thruout the United States and Canada.

The organization was founded in Detroit and now has 106,000 members. International headquarters have always been in Chicago, where the first unit in Illinois was formed. Fred C. W. Parker has been international secretary for 19 years.

Kiwanians of Chicagoland, totaling 400, will celebrate Thursday at a luncheon in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman. G. Walter Rodine, president, will preside, and Raymond M. Crossman of Omaha, past president of the international, will speak.

ST. PETERSBURG KEEPS '39 LEVEL OF LIVING COSTS

Refuses to Exploit Boost in Tourist Trade.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 22.—This west coast winter resort, especially popular with elderly couples, has not boosted its living costs during this record tourist season. The prices here, about the same as last year, seem to be lower than those encountered by this reporter during a week on the east coast of Florida.

The local chamber of commerce is not the lone authority for a statement that landlords and businessmen are not trying to make a one season killing from an estimated increase of 10 per cent in the number of visitors in the city as compared with a year ago. Some of the customers confirmed the statement in interviews.

On one of the 4,000 benches on downtown sidewalks sat Patrick F. Darby, 62 years old, a retired army captain who was commissioned from the ranks of the 28th infantry during the world war.

Rent Same as Year Ago.

"I pay the same hotel rent as I paid last year," he said, "and the restaurant prices are about the same. I have traveled around the country in my car since retirement in 1923, and I never found so much entertainment at so little cost—$4, for example, for a season's membership in a shuffle board court, where you may play shuffle board, bridge, and dominoes, read magazines, and meet friends."

In a hotel lobby, listening to a free piano and vocal recital, sat Miss Geraldine Atherton of Kansas City, Mo., gray haired former school teacher. She said she noticed that cafeteria prices were raised a penny or two about Dec. 15, but added that this was done every year. She said rentals and food were about the same during the last three winters.

Two matronly women, window shopping before a display of dolls, were asked for information on living costs. They were Mrs. Martha McCloskey of Ocean Grove, N. J., and her landlady, and they were looking for presents for the McCloskey grandchildren.

Groceries and Rent Lower.

Groceries and rent, said Mrs. McCloskey, are a little cheaper than last winter—and both are much lower, she emphasized, than back in New Jersey. She is spending the winter here with her husband, James, 74 years old, a pensioned train dispatcher.

Strolling arm in arm in front of the open air postoffice were Axel Renstrom, 50 years old, of 7417 Evans avenue, Chicago, and his wife. They say there has been no change in living costs here as compared with a year ago. Because of his health he has been retired as a railroad maintenance shopman.

These and others like them are typical of St. Petersburg's winter colony. They return year after year. They cherish their winter friendships. They greet newly arrived old acquaintances with vigorous handshakes and even hugs and kisses on the downtown sidewalks.

In the peak of the season, from about Feb. 20 to March 20, the population of this area will reach approximately 200,000 as compared with a summer population of 62,000. More of the winter visitors are from Chicago than from any other city.

SEEKS MISSING WIFE.

Andrew Graham, 1546 East 65th street, yesterday asked Woodlawn police to search for his wife, Mary, 29 years old, who disappeared Wednesday while on her way to work. Graham said their baby, Charles, 13 months old, was ill with a cold and needed his mother.

FREE SPEECH IS NOT AN ABSOLUTE RIGHT, LABOR BOARD RULES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The National Labor Relations Board contended today that freedom of speech was a qualified and not an absolute right in ordering the Ford Motor company, of Somerville, Mass., to stop interfering with the rights of employés to organize.

The board said the company had distributed statements of propaganda which disparage or criticize labor organizations. The company had argued that any effort to stop the distribution of Ford pamphlets would constitute a denial of the right of free speech.

The board said that the national labor relations act required employers to refrain from interfering or coercing their employés in the exercise of the rights of self organization guaranteed by the act.

"The guarantee of such rights to the employés," the board said, "would indeed be wholly ineffective if the employer, under the guise of exercising its constitutional right of free speech, were free to coerce them into refraining from exercising the rights vouchsafed them in the act."

The board made a similar ruling on the distribution of pamphlets in previous Ford cases.

COURT REVERSES NLRB IN OUSTED WORKER'S CASE

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals held today that the National Labor Relations board has no authority to "dictate" to an employer the number of workers he must use to run his business. The decision overruled a board order requiring reinstatement of a dismissed employé of the Union Drawn Steel company, Beaver Falls, Pa., a subsidiary of Republic Steel corporation.

Judges Albert B. Maris and Francis Biddle, former chairman of the NLRB and now United States solicitor general, took the position that an employer cannot be compelled to reinstate a striker if there is no work for him to do and if no other has replaced him. Judge John Biggs Jr. dissented.

RETIRED RAILROADER DIES.

Union, Ill., Jan. 22 [Special].—Fred N. Hale, 64 years old, died Saturday night at Tucson, Ariz., where he had gone a month ago for his health. He was connected with the North Western railroad until he retired some years ago. His widow and a daughter survive.

ROOSEVELT AID GETS KIN A JOB ON LABOR BOARD

Not Qualified, Is Report, but He's Hired.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—The house committee investigating the administration of the Wagner labor act heard today that labor dispute cases of national importance were entrusted by the Labor Relations board to youthful attorneys of little experience and doubtful qualifications.

Bernard W. Freund. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Two young men were witnesses before the committee. They were Bernard W. Freund, 27 years old, and Harry A. Sellery, 29. Both are attorneys in the review section of the labor board, with the duty of reviewing the evidence gathered by trial examiners and reporting to the board their findings. In most cases views of the reviewers are made the basis of the board's decisions.

Nephew of Roosevelt Adviser.

Freund got his job with the board in 1937, it was disclosed, because he was a nephew of Benjamin V. Cohen, New Deal partner of Thomas Corcoran. The team of Corcoran and Cohen are known as the radical advisers of the President and responsible for some of the more venturesome of the Rooseveltian experiments.

Freund, a graduate of the University of Michigan law school in 1935, applied for a position with the board, stating that he had learned thru his uncle, Cohen, that there might be need for additional lawyers on the labor board. He was a resident of Los Angeles at the time.

Directed by the board to interview Freund, Towne Nylander, Los Angeles regional director, reported that he found Freund "inexperienced in all matters relative to labor or labor problems; his legal training limited almost entirely to minor office matters."

Worth $50 a Month.

"Mr. Freund would start for $2,400 a year with the board and may possibly develop," Nylander reported, "but at the present time, in my opinion, he would not be worth much more than what he has been earning during the last year which is approximately $50 a month."

Ralph T. Seward, regional attorney for the board, also reported against Freund's appointment.

"He has had little litigation experience and no experience whatsoever with labor relations," Edward informed the board.

Against these recommendations, however, the magic legend "Ben Cohen's nephew," which was scribbled on the report, proved effective. Freund was hired at $2,400 a year and is now receiving $2,600.

Freund was questioned at length concerning his handling of dozens of important cases. He was evasive in telling what procedure he followed in drafting decisions to be submitted to the board.

Questioned About Procedure.

"In your analysis and digest of the evidence, just what do you tell the board?" he was asked. "I tell the story of the evidence," he replied.

Q.—You recited the whole 800 pages [of testimony in the case under discussion]? A.—No, I didn't act as a phonograph.

Q.—What was it you did tell them? A.—I don't remember.

Freund said he determined in his study of the evidence gathered by the trial examiner what evidence was material and deleted evidence he considered not relevant or consequential.

Sellery, the second young review attorney, said he had graduated from Northwestern University Law school in 1935 and had obtained a job with the board in 1937 which now pays $3,400 annually. He had never engaged in the practice of law, he admitted. He is a native of Highland Park [Ravinia], Ill.

In the handling of a labor dispute involving the Kansas City [Mo.] Power and Light company, Sellery admitted that after the record had been closed he ordered an investigation as to whether Alec E. Bettis, official of the utility company, was a member of the chamber of commerce and learned that he was a vice president of that organization.

"Just how was that material?" asked Representative Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.]. "I was curious to know what the status of the company official was in regard to the chamber of commerce," replied Sellery.

Why Let Yourself Get Constipated?

Why endure those dull headachy days due to constipation, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?

If your constipation, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran.

This crunchy toasted breakfast cereal is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. It helps you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day and month after month, by the pleasantest means you ever knew.

Eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

A Declaration of Merchandising Principles

WE, the undersigned General Motors dealers, conduct our business in accord with the following principles, as being sound, equitable and in the public interest:

We believe in value, as measured by quality and price, as being the foundation of success and the safeguard of good will.

We mark every car on display with the GM "plainview" price tag illustrated, which shows each and every item that goes into our final delivered price.

We include as "extras" in our prices only such extra equipment or accessories as you may elect to buy.

We display the same information on wall charts in our showrooms, and provide you after purchase with an itemized invoice showing you exactly what every penny of your money buys.

We observe the foregoing principles because we believe our customers appreciate out-in-the-open dealing.

We could, of course, operate on a different basis.

For example, we could inflate a total retail delivered price in any one of a dozen ways.

That might give us more profit per car, but it would give you less value, and in the long run would cut our volume down.

Or, we might offer you as an inducement more for your used car than it is actually worth in the market.

We could offset that over-allowance by adding what is called a "pack" to the price, quoting our price on the new car only after hearing what you want for your used one.

Or in a total un-itemized price we might include equipment or accessories that you don't really want, but would be charged for.

Or we might "build up" the finance charges, if you buy the car on time, to cover other seeming concessions allowed you.

But we don't do these things. We don't believe in them. We think they have no place in the right kind of transaction. They are deadly enemies to confidence and durable success.

Instead, we seek your business on the basis of high-quality merchandise of known reputation. We invite you to examine our cars in detail, to judge their merit for yourself, then look at the price tags.

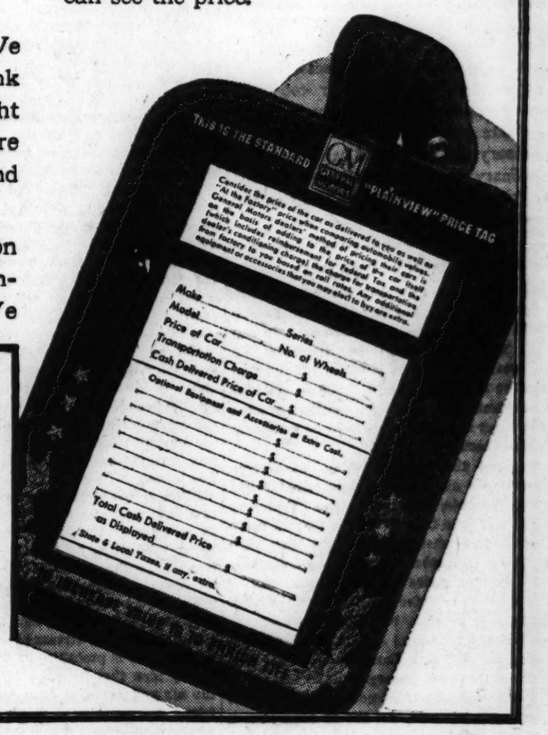
You can see the value—and you can see the price.



This is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the prices of new cars delivered to customers. "PRICE OF CAR" means the price we charge for the car itself, including reimbursement for Federal Tax and conditioning — "TRANSPORTATION CHARGE" means a charge for transportation from factory to you, based on rail rates — "OPTIONAL EQUIPMENT AND ACCESSORIES" means the charge for any extra equipment or accessories you elect to buy.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

HOME TO ROOST.

Representatives Cooley and Warren of North Carolina are now demanding that our government do something to make Britain buy our tobacco. They are talking about reprisals. Mr. Cooley speaks of economic weapons which might be brought to bear to break Britain's embargo upon American tobacco, but the question, he says, is whether our state department can be persuaded to employ them.

It is a pity that Messrs. Cooley and Warren and practically all their associates from North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee didn't give a little thought to the tobacco growers last October when it might have done some good. These four tobacco states send 8 senators and 38 representatives to Washington. Six of the eight senators voted for repeal of the arms embargo; one senator, Mr. Glass, favored the repeal but did not vote; and only one senator, Mr. Reynolds of North Carolina, voted for continuance of the arms embargo.

Of the 38 representatives, no less than 34 voted for the traffic in arms. All the 11 congressmen from North Carolina, including Mr. Warren and Mr. Cooley, favored the sale of arms to belligerents; only Mr. Reece among Tennessee's nine representatives voted no; only Messrs. Robsion and Chapman of the Kentucky delegation voted no, and all of Virginia's nine man delegation except Mr. Smith, whose vote was not recorded, favored the repealer.

It was altogether certain that the repeal would injure our farmers generally and our tobacco farmers in particular. Britain's purchasing power in this country is limited. Every dollar which she spends here for airplanes and shells is a dollar which she cannot spend for tobacco, fruit, and other agricultural products which she customarily takes in large quantities from America. The repeal of our arms embargo was therefore almost a guarantee that Britain's purchases of tobacco in this country would be sharply curtailed. THE TRIBUNE and others said so at the time, but Mr. Warren, Mr. Cooley, and their colleagues gave no heed. They were taking their orders from the White House, and had no time to examine the consequences of the repeal as it might affect their constituents and the American economy generally. If only the representatives of the tobacco and fruit exporting states had voted as the welfare of their constituents demanded, the arms embargo would have remained the law of the United States. The shifting of only 36 votes would have saved at least something of the farmers' market in Britain.

Now Mr. Cooley doubts whether the state department will take any action to break the British embargo and we share his doubts. The purpose of the repeal was not to promote America's welfare but to take sides in the European war. It may safely be assumed that this purpose is still foremost in the minds of Mr. Roosevelt and his colleagues. Accordingly, it is highly improbable that they will now undertake reprisals which, if successful in breaking the embargo on tobacco and kindred products, can only weaken Britain's fighting power.

Last October Mr. Warren, Mr. Cooley, and the rest of them had their chance to protect the tobacco growers. They had their chance to show whether they could place America's interests and the welfare of their constituents above the desire to meddle in the war. They made their choice and their present gyrations cannot undo it. The fault is their own and about all they can do about it at this late date is to confess, repent, and hope that their constituents will forgive a cruel wrong done them.

CRIME AND POLITICS.

A state policeman named John Howe is charged with having bribed jurors in a recent trial in which the defendants were accused of stealing votes. This officer has been identified by the state's attorney as the same Howe who was indicted in 1930 as a highwayman. At his trial at that time he pleaded insanity, was committed to Kankakee, and before long escaped. The hospital officials noted on his record that he was not crazy, but he was not re-arrested on the indictments and was not brought to trial.

If the state's attorney is correct in his identification and his accusation, the people of Illinois have been presented this time not with an intimation but with proof of the alliance of crime and politics in Illinois. Here would be a professional criminal who has enjoyed every protection which politics could throw about him and who has returned favor for favor.

He was allowed by the politicians to make a phony plea of insanity, but was not sent to an asylum for the criminal insane altho he had been implicated in crimes of violence. He had little difficulty making his escape and in due time was given a job on the public pay roll as an officer of the law. When, in turn, some politicians were in a jam, he came to the rescue by bribing the jury which was considering their case.

The politico-criminal alliance has long been a matter of common knowledge. It has explained many otherwise inexplicable events, such as the immunity from punishment of some notorious gangsters, the misuse of the pardoning and parole power, the frequent and easy escapes from prisons and asylums. But seldom, if ever, has the relationship been so clearly established as the state's attorney has presented it in this case.

The matter will, therefore, be watched by the public with the closest attention. Every detail should be investigated, to determine in the first place whether the identification is correct, and if so, who befriended Howe on the many occasions he received official favor. Here is an opportunity to blow the alliance wide open. Few grand juries and few prosecutors in the state's history have had so large an opportunity to serve the community.

HITLER AND THE FLYING TRAPEZE.

There is speculation in France whether Hitler may not intervene in Finland as a mediator. That sounds crazy, but not, for that reason, peculiar. Things are and nave been crazy in Europe. By now the Nazis must be convinced that however low their estimate of the Red army was, it was not quite low enough. They may know that Stalin is not using his best troops, but they also know that he cannot have very many good ones, even if they are not being used, and that the command and the service of supplies are both terrible.

Hitler in taking on Stalin alienated three allies, Italy, Spain, and Japan. Two were not signed up in complete agreements, but the Rome-Berlin axis was supposed to be the tightest military bond in the world. Hitler has not called on Mussolini to meet any obligations, but he knows that the Italian and Spanish Fascists have had much of the ground cut from under their feet by the German accord with the communists.

The Balkan countries are not as afraid of the soviets now as they were and that makes them more belligerently anti-Red. Stalin has nearly all the world against him, and Hitler, who was his greatest professed enemy, is now his only friend. The Nazis may reflect that they have got themselves a great deal of odium by turning the Asiatic barbarian loose and that they didn't gain very much. The security of their eastern frontier would not have presented a difficult problem, even with the war on in the west. What Germany is getting in compensation by way of supplies from Russia is not definitely known, but the communists bogged down in Finland certainly are needing more material for themselves than was anticipated when the Hitler-Stalin deal was made.

Hitler seems to have made an ally and friend of a man who was really more valuable to him as an enemy and a whipping post. He had a better idea when he thought that he could get more by picking off some Russian territory than he could get out of a war in the west. The about-face on the holy crusade sufficiently proved that Herr Hitler is not bound by the consistencies which are the virtues of smaller minds. That performance is probably the base for the extraordinary idea that he might do another whirl in the air and again at least frown upon his Red friend and tell him to desist from an adventure which is making a monkey not only of the dictator in the Kremlin but out of the Nazi Fuehrer himself.

The confusion of issues which might be presented by Hitler joining his enemies to protect Finland against what he called the world's greatest menace would be beyond the limits of understanding, but would it be beyond the moral and intellectual capabilities of the star gazer of Berchtesgaden, who has done everything he said he would do and everything he said he wouldn't? Who can tell? Soon the great question in Europe may be, who is fighting whom and for what? That puzzle might not work out so badly for Herr Hitler, after all.

Editorial of the Day

[Cincinnati Inquirer.]

There is a good deal of unconscious humor in the burst of sentiment for lending $25,000,000 or $60,000,000 to Finland. Congress last year passed a law forbidding America to sell goods to belligerents on credit and forbidding belligerent governments from borrowing money in America. Now the American government is being importuned to lend millions from its own treasury. This is possible because the government is not bound by the prohibitions it has imposed on its citizens.

Most ironical is the fact that many individuals and newspapers bitterly opposed to the lifting of the arms embargo, which was to help Britain and France, are now taking the lead in urging a loan to Finland—for the one clear purpose of financing arms exports to Finland. From former President Hoover on down, the folk who warned that arms sales or loans to belligerents would "draw us into war" are now saying that Finland's is a holy war and we should support it.

In considering the proposed loan to Finland, we should be careful not to fall into the trap of supposing it is morally or politically different from a loan to some other belligerent. Finland's war is part of Europe's great struggle. Finland happens to need a loan far worse than any other present belligerent. Finland also happens to be fighting against heavier odds than any other—leaving out the ghost of Poland.

Many persons look favorably on the proposed loan to Finland for precisely the same reason that they indorsed repeal of the arms embargo. It is the one way in which Americans can help the allied powers to defeat their totalitarian enemies.

In lending money to Finland, whether by formal action of congress or otherwise, we should all recognize very frankly that such a loan involves us, and involves us definitely, in the European struggle. If we make the loan, it will be tangible proof that we admit a vital stake in the final outcome of the struggle. For it will not be a mere humanitarian gesture or a reward for heroism.

If we lend millions to Finland it will be to help defeat Russia. It will not be an act of war, but it will be an admission of unneutrality. And it will carry the implication that other loans and other forms of assistance will follow in good time as the need arises, until the European democracies have won their fight.

SYMPOSIUM ON NAMES.

The most synthetic name for a town that we can think of at the moment is Hollywood, Florida.

The most synthetic name for a street " "

There are two other Borahs in "Who's Who in America," and one of them, a judge in New Orleans, has a biography longer than that of the Lion of Idaho. There are also two Borahs in the Chicago telephone directory. If the name, as stated in dispatches, descends from the family of Catherine von Bora, wife of Martin Luther, its background is German. There is, however, a town, village, or camping site in the French Sudan named Bora, and there is also a Mohammedan sect called Borahs in British India.

Among Senator Borah's eloquent eulogists, first prize for brevity and completeness was won by Senator Adams with:

Speaking of names, here is one that is worrying us: Ngaio Marsh. She is rapidly becoming one of our favorite authors of murder mysteries. Product to date: "Artists in Crime," "Death in a White Tie," "Overture to Death." We are proceeding on the theory that Ngaio was born in one of Great Britain's African colonies or dominions and was given a fancy native name.

MESSAGE FOR FINLAND.

Small country battling an outrageous foe
Against what odds, while nations breathlessly
Behold the conflict and the strength you show—
Not of vast armies drilled in lust for war
But strength born of integrity and trust
In God. O steadfast land, forever more
Your name shall mean dreams risen from the dust!

For you are as a sudden light that broke
Above a world where men had almost ceased
To hope for freedom from the impending yoke
You are the refutation of man's doubt;
You are his hope and honor manifest
Once more; it is his dread you put to rout,
Together with the foe. Oh, you attest

Vas You Ever at Heinegebubeler's?

Wrecking of the Great Northern hotel recalls an old-time saloon in Quincy street, west of State, that flourished in the '90s under the name of Heinegebubeler's. It was opened soon after the hotel was built, and a good share of its patronage came from the guests.

There were all sorts of funny things at Heinegebubeler's. For instance, there was a collapsible stairs that dropped the uninitiated down into the basement. It was a mirth provoking device and sometimes the victim of the joke wanted to lick the bartender or anybody else.

When a patron who wasn't wise to the gag picked up his change off the bar he got a mild electric shock. The phony free lunch consisted of small pieces of coal, kernels of corn, slices of soap that looked like cheese, and a tempting dish of carpet tacks.

On the north side of Quincy street, opposite the Great Northern, there was another popular oasis—Malachy Hogan's, formerly on South Clark street, a few doors north of the Grand Opera house. John Kelley.

[Heinegebubeler's was revived, say about 20 years ago, in a South State street location, with all the old fool killers and boob traps.]

I know she treads by pleasant streams
At twilight in the falling dew,
And that at last the golden dreams
Of maidenhood have all come true.

And would that language could impart
The ecstasies of joy that rise
Like limpid fountains from her heart
And glisten in her laughing eyes.

For since she is the Master's guest
Why should her spirit not be gay?
Surely the things she loved the best
Are hers a hundredfold today.

Pulse Beats on a Campus.

Pulse, University of Chicago student edited magazine, is sponsoring an illustrated lecture by Herma Clark of the Tribune's "When Chicago Was Young," in Mandel hall tomorrow night, and has adopted P. T. Barnum's gag, "A Great Moral Show," as the slogan of the occasion. But if Herma displays any lantern slides of Maroon football players of the "notable '90s," with overemphasized muscles and heads of hair, President Hutchins may question the morals of the soirée.

[In late November, 1899, the Chicago team invaded Madison, Wis., to win the championship of the west in a postseason, overemphatic game, and John D. Rockefeller promptly came across with a few more buildings.]

NERVOUS LACK OF APPETITE.

A MALADY characterized by an abhorrence of food—usually of nervous origin—may endanger life. Sometimes the beginning of the trouble can be traced to the bizarre notion which captured our girls a few years ago that "slimming" was the chief aim in life. Happily this pernicious fad is on the wane. At any rate, let us hope so, because the obsession took its toll of health.

Most cases are encountered among women under 30. They come to their medical advisers presenting half starved bodies with every bony point in bold relief. The pulse is strikingly slow, indicating poor circulation. This is borne out by the fact that the blood pressure will generally be low and the temperature definitely subnormal. Because of the obvious malnutrition, emotional derangements are not infrequent and many a mother will relate that her daughter is subject to periods of moodiness alternating with tantrums and tears.

True psychological factors may be involved—such as love affairs, jealousies, homesickness, squabbles, too much paternalism, etc. But whatever the cause, cure depends upon persuading these unfortunates that they must eat to live. The gain desired will vary from 15 to 30 pounds or more and treatment must not be hurried.

Among harmless appetite whips, vitamin B may be utilized and yeast will be of value. At the outset it may be wise to inject this material in some soluble form. Later it may be given by mouth as medicine. Cure is certain if both physician and parents are gentle, persuasive, and persistent. Only seldom will it be advisable to hospitalize one of these young persons to make certain that the sustenance provided is actually ingested.

A plan which has been successful and which has been followed by numerous medical experts includes a snack every hour, then every two hours, later every three hours. The quantity prescribed is small—not over one or two ounces of some liquid or semi-liquid. If vomiting occurs the next "meal" is omitted and hot water with lemon juice is substituted. Within a week the total daily amount can be increased over the previous intake from 200 to 500 calories.

Rest, lying down, is alternated with walks out of doors regardless of the weather, the clothing adjusted so that chilling will not ensue. Now and then it is wise to confine the patient to bed for the first week and tiny doses of insulin may aid in accelerating the metabolism of starches and sugars.

It seems a mistake to regard these individuals as psychologically abnormal and to attempt elaborate psychiatric methods for cure. The problem is so clear—namely, lack of nutriment. All that is required is a kind but firm hand—assisted by such devices as may be conducive to the awakening of the sense of hunger. The best incentive is the recognition on the part of the sufferer that normal body contours are returning and that weight is on the upgrade.

It goes without saying that organic disease must be ruled out and some attention to the alimentary tract may be demanded. Rarely, however, will extra digestive enzymes be necessary. Rather than employ laxatives, recourse to low enemas of dilute salt water will prove beneficial.

Some authorities have urged an occasional fast day as a way to stimulate a craving for edibles. During such an interval the patient is kept in bed. Needless to say, all dishes should be served as attractively as possible, and at first the victim should be allowed to eat alone. Later, as a regular schedule is adopted, she may be at the table with the family. Between meal feeding is continued for some months or until normal weight has been regained.

This condition, known as anorexia nervosa [I do not choose to eat because I am unstrung] is far more common than we realize. In the last eight years a physician friend has run across 15 typical examples. Unfortunately, a good spanking will not help.

PINK NASAL DISCHARGE.

Any condition in which the mucous membrane has been injured or irritated. Infection within a sinus may be responsible. If the oozing persists, consult your physician. A bump on the nose may be followed by slight bleeding for a few days.

REPLY.

CEMETERY LOTS.

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 17 [Legal Friend of the People].—About 25 years ago my father purchased four lots in a cemetery, and for years paid yearly assessments for the upkeep. It was eight years ago that my father passed away, and at the time we were sorting everything together the deed to the lots became lost or burned by mistake. We moved from Park Ridge, Ill., shortly after, and for two years I received the assessment notices; then I was notified that the custodian had passed on and they were either appointing or electing a new officer. Since he has been in full charge I have not heard a word or received any assessment notices. What I would like to know is where could I get a duplicate of the deed? L. A. D.

If the deed was recorded you could obtain a certified copy from the recorder's office, but ordinarily this would not be worth while. We suggest that you get in touch with the cemetery officials and ascertain whether they are ready to recognize your rights. They may insist on probate or they may name terms on which they will be willing to waive probate.

TRAINS EAST AND TRAINS WEST.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19.—I have observed that THE TRIBUNE often comments on the speeds of railroad trains, always urging that better time can be made. THE TRIBUNE'S influence, apparently, has been a big factor for better schedules.

As THE TRIBUNE states, certain of the western lines make better time than the best of the eastern lines. I can see no earthly reason why this should be. I have always thought that roads like the New York Central, Pennsylvania, etc., had the best of roadbeds, the heaviest and best of rails, the latest of safety devices. And yet at least two western lines make better time.

Two trains from Chicago to Denver make the distance in sixteen hours—the same time taken by the Broadway and Century. But these western streamliners go much farther and stop oftener. One train on which I have ridden several times negotiates the 1,040 odd miles to Denver in the same time the Century makes 965.

This is not a horse and buggy age. Airplanes now take the passenger, after lunch in Chicago, to Los Angeles, so that he can get into his bed at a not unreasonable time the very same evening. When the railroads have this growing airplane transportation industry to compete with, they should be right up on their toes. Personally, altho I like air travel and have done quite a good deal of it, I prefer the trains of the present time, with their wonderful improvements in safety, comfort, and all that appeals to one's esthetic sense. The railroads deserve to succeed. And, if the government will keep its hands off, just so that the roads can show a little initiative, I believe they'll come into their own. ARTHUR J. RICHARDSON.

ANOTHER FAST TRAIN.

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 17.—In the article of Jan. 17 on the speed of middle western railroad trains your reporter failed to mention the high speed attained on regular schedule by the Illinois Central's Diesel powered Green Diamond, in service between Chicago and St. Louis.

The I. C.'s streamliner travels from Chicago's Central station at 12th street to Kankakee in 49 minutes, a distance of 54.4 miles, makes scheduled stops at 53d street and 63d street stations, and slows down at Monee to cross over to another track. It negotiates the distance between 63d street and Kankakee, 47.9 miles, in 39 minutes, at an average rate of 73.8 miles per hour. Your guess is as good as mine on how fast the Green Diamond travels after it crosses over at Monee, and before it starts slowing down as it approaches Bradley, just north of Kankakee. We'll have to ask the engineer. DAN SANBORN.

THIRSTY BIRDS.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—We have discovered that in winter birds need water even more than they need food, for they will leave food at any time water is offered. When the weather is rather mild pour hot water into a flat pan, or in severe weather bring the pan in, take out the ice and refill with hot water. By the time the birds gather the water will have cooled and they have a chance to drink and bathe before it freezes over. It is pathetic to see birds trying to melt ice with their bodies in order to get a bit of water, and they certainly seem to appreciate getting a drink. The moment the pan is filled a watcher sends out a call and immediately the other birds flock around. VICTORIA E. SCHWARTZ.

HOW ABOUT THE HIGHER RANKS?

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 18.—You have implied many times in your columns that the United States Military academy at West Point has a virtual monopoly in the provision of officers for the regular army.

Here are the official figures on the subject, origin of officers in active service, regular army, as of June 30, 1939:

Graduates of West Point	5,869
Enlisted men, regular army	426
Civil life	4,095
Emergency officers, world war	2,595
Volunteer officers	47
Total	13,032

You will note that less than half the regular army officers are West Pointers. This proportion has been less than one-fourth in the past.

The only periods during which the new officers taken in are in a great majority West Pointers are those periods during which the army is being gradually reduced, such as the period 1922-1932. Even during this time, many hundreds of officers were admitted from civil life.

If West Point does not produce better officers on the whole than can be obtained from other sources the answer is to abolish West Point. Why not come right out and say so if you feel that way? B. A. THOMPSON.

DRAWING AND MUSIC.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—If Superintendent Johnson thinks that drawing and music are so very important, then why can't we be given the same credit for them as for general science or community civics? Why should they be added as extras without credit? It seems to me eight years of music and art in the elementary schools are sufficient for boys like me who have no ear for music and whose voices sound like fog horns. As for art, I can't draw a straight line without a ruler. I dread the next semester when I shall have to take art.

If the board would make music and drawing major elective courses, the schools would probably have just as many and better classes in art and music because they would be taken for credit and only by those who are gifted and like those subjects. A FRESHIE.

TEACHERS' PAY.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Sunday's issue said that the teachers' salaries had been slashed 15 per cent. In my opinion the cut was very mild considering the drop in the national income. My salary was slashed 19 per cent, but I was ahead, as my rent, among other items, was slashed 42 per cent. The teachers and other people on the public rolls have been treated better than the people in private life. Teachers' salaries in the suburbs are lower than in Chicago, but the quality of the education is higher. OLD SOLDIER.

AID FOR FINLAND.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—We, or at least our politicians, seem to be going thru a period of obvious inability to distinguish between right and wrong, an inability which may have tragic consequences.

Future generations of Americans will look with contempt and disgust on a United States which refused the same assistance to a deserving Finland that it gave to not-so-deserving Britain and France. A. F. H.

FINLAND'S ANTHEM.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The Voice of the People for today carries an article entitled "Finland's Anthem," and signed Chicago Finn, wherein the writer states that Vart Land is the Swedish translation of the Finnish national anthem. Obviously Chicago Finn is not correctly informed in this matter. Vart Land was written by a Swedish speaking Finlander, Johan Ludvig Runeberg, in the Swedish language and later translated to Finnish. Therefore Vart Land is the original from which the Finnish Maamme was translated. In Finland the anthem is sung in both languages. The Swedish speaking people [who comprise one-third of the entire population] sing Vart Land, and the Finnish speaking people sing Maamme, and neither have to apologize to the other for doing so.

The writer further states that the Finnish consul of Chicago, Elmer Forsberg, does not know how to speak the Finnish language. This accusation is not only incorrect and misleading, but it is ridiculous. Evidently the writer is a sympathizer of the Stalin-inspired and directed government of Terijoki, where propaganda means everything and truth nothing. ANOTHER CHICAGO FINN.

How Our States Got Their Names

14. KANSAS.

This state was named after the Kansas river, which took its name from an Indian tribe which formerly lived near the mouth of that stream. The word "Kansa," state historians say, meant "wind people," "smallwind," "people of the south wind," or something similar. Kansas was admitted to the Union on Jan. 29, 1861.

Kansas state seal. Scroll above 34 stars is inscribed, "Ad Astra per Aspera." Scene includes steamboat on river, sun rising over mountains, Indians pursuing buffalo, settler's cabin, train of ox wagons, and a man plowing.

Kansas nicknames include the Central, Cyclone, Garden, Grasshopper, Jayhawker, Squatter, and Sunflower state, and the Garden of the West. Most of these carry their own explanation. The Grasshopper cognomen apparently derives from the 'hopper plague of 1874-'76. "Jayhawker" was the nickname given to soldiers from Kansas during the civil war, altho its exact meaning is uncertain. The term Squatter state derives from the number of squatters there in the middle 1850s.

The Kansas motto is "Ad Astra per Aspera" [To the stars thru difficulties]. The state song is "Kansas, We're Proud of You." The flower is the sunflower, the bird the western meadowlark, and the tree the cottonwood.

CAPITAL'S FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID BORAH IN SENATE

Body Borne to Idaho for Services Thursday.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Official Washington and diplomats from all parts of the world bade farewell today to William E. Borah at a state funeral in the senate chamber, where he had served for 33 years.

Escorted by committees of 10 senators and 10 representatives, the body of Senator Borah left Washington aboard the Capitol Limited of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at 6:10 p. m. for Boise, Idaho, his home city, where another funeral service will be conducted in the rotunda of the state capitol Thursday afternoon.

The funeral train will arrive at the Grand Central station in Chicago at 8:50 a. m. Chicago time tomorrow. Shortly afterward the three cars carrying the body and the funeral party will be switched to the North Western railway coach yards, where other cars will be added to make up a special train. The funeral train, which will be barred to the public and heavily guarded, will leave Chicago at 11:35 a. m. At Omaha it will be taken over by the Union Pacific line. It will reach Boise at 7:23 a. m. Thursday.

President Roosevelt, members of his cabinet, the justices of the Supreme court, the chiefs of the nation's armed forces, the diplomatic corps, and members of the house and senate filled the chamber which had resounded to Senator Borah's oratory for a third of a century.

Citizens Pack Galleries.

In the packed galleries there were hundreds of humble citizens, representatives of the common people, whose love the 74 year old dean of the senate esteemed above all other manifestations of fame.

The body of the senator rested in a gray steel casket, bearing a simple name plate—"William Edgar Borah"—before the flower banked dais on which sat Vice President John N. Garner and Speaker William B. Bankhead of the house.

At one end of the casket there was a large wreath of white carnations and lilies "from the senate of the United States."

At the other end there was a similar display, with a card reading: "To a true American, from Americans of German descent in Chicago."

Bouquet on Vacant Desk.

Senator Borah's place was vacant, and on his desk was a bouquet of red roses. Senator Carter Glass, Virginia's 82 year old statesman, lingered in the chamber, with tears in his eyes, until all the others had departed after the ceremony. Then he asked a senate clerk to get one of the roses for him.

Senator Glass was not the only one whose emotion overflowed during the funeral service. There were tears in the eyes of most of the older senators and some of the younger ones, to whom the famous Idaho statesman had been chief exemplar.

The senator's widow, Mrs. Mamie Borah, did not sit in the senate chamber during the ceremony. She entered on the arm of the Rev. ZeBarney T. Phillips, senate chaplain, just before the service, bowed for a moment over the casket, and then returned to a group of friends sitting in a lobby just outside the chamber.

Episcopal Service Held.

The Rev. Mr. Phillips, assisted by the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the house, conducted the funeral ritual of the Episcopal church. A church soloist sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide with Me." The service was over in about 25 minutes.

Justices Willis Vandevanter and George Sutherland, retired, attended in black robes with the active members of the Supreme court. Both were intimate friends of Senator Borah, Justice Sutherland both as a former senator and as a member of the Supreme court. Senator Borah was instrumental in persuading Justice Vandevanter to retire in order to help defeat President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court in 1937.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], who corresponded with Senator Borah as a young man in preparation for a book he was writing on Daniel Webster, has expressed a desire for the vacant desk. By seniority it would go to Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.].

Ranks with Immortals.

Senator Vandenberg believes the Borah desk will rank with those of Webster, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, and other senate immortals. Maine's Senator Frederick Hale occupies Webster's place, by virtue of seniority. Senator Glass has Clay's desk, and Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] has Calhoun's.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst [D., Ariz.], has the desk of Stephen A. Douglas; Senator George Norris [Ind., Neb.], that of Roscoe Conkling, and Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], the seat of Jefferson Davis.

Immediately after the funeral service, Senator Borah's name plate was removed from the long oval table of the foreign relations committee, of which he was the ranking minority member and a former chairman, and presented to Mrs. Borah.

Johnson to Take Place.

Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], who helped Senator Borah in the historic fight against Woodrow Wilson's league of nations proposal 20 years ago, will move up to his place as ranking minority member. The new Republican member will be Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, an exponent of the Borah policy of strict neutrality and nonintervention in foreign wars.

The committee appointed by Vice President Garner to attend the funeral service for Senator Borah at Boise includes the following senators: Vandenberg, Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.], Nye, Wallace H. White, [R., Me.], Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], Key Pittman [D., Nev.], Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], and D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho].

O. M. CARTER GETS NEW AID IN FIGHT TO CLEAR NAME

New support for Oberlin M. Carter, 83 years old, in his fight to erase a 40 year old court martial conviction, appeared yesterday.

Oberlin M. Carter.

Carter, a former captain of army engineers, now lives at 2947 Wilson avenue. In 1898 he was dismissed from the army and sent to prison on a charge of defrauding the government of $3,000,000.

The house of representatives last year passed a bill to clear his military record and reinstate him in the army, and a similar bill now is before the senate. The new support, an affidavit by C. K. Macey of Los Angeles, is to go to the senate military affairs committee.

Macey was a confidential clerk in the office of Attorney General John W. Griggs when President McKinley reviewed and approved Capt. Carter's court martial. In his deposition he says "I know the court martial charges against Carter were absolutely without foundation and were trumped up in order to force him out of the army."

DENIES TVA ROBS MUNICIPALITIES OF TAX MILLIONS

Charges that the Tennessee Valley authority's power dams along the Tennessee river have caused a local tax loss of $3,500,000 a year by converting private property into reservoir lakes were denied yesterday by Eric L. Kohler, comptroller of the TVA. Kohler spoke before the City club in the Hotel Sherman.

He said that nearly $2,000,000 a year in tax equivalent funds is being paid to the taxing bodies out of the TVA's revenue from wholesaling electric power to municipalities, farmers' coöperatives, and private utility companies. In addition, he continued, the 100 municipalities and 30 coöperatives of the valley retailing TVA power for residential use showed a net income totaling $1,000,000 in 1939. The TVA also pays the state $340,000 a year.

The TVA's revenue from the sale of electricity, according to Kohler, will be sufficient to pay back the government's entire investment in the project in 50 years if normal development continues and there are no revolutionary changes in power production methods.

FIND YACHTSMAN SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME AT RACINE

Racine, Wis., Jan. 22 [Special].—Frank H. Applegate, 54 years old, sportsman, yachtsman, and president of an automobile agency, was found shot to death in his home tonight. A revolver, taken from his collection of firearms, was found near him. In a report of detectives it indicated that he killed himself, but the coroner will make an official report tomorrow to establish that point. Applegate was known as a big game hunter. He owned a yacht which is well known in Great Lakes sports. Recently he had been trying to sell the boat apparently as a result of financial reverses.

EDWIN CAREWE, SILENT FILM ERA DIRECTOR, DEAD

Heart Attack Fatal to Maker of Stars.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 22 (AP).—Edwin Carewe, 56 years old, the director who megaphoned such stars as Dolores Del Rio, Francis X. Bushman, Gary Cooper, and Wallace Beery to motion picture fame, is dead.

Edwin Carewe.

A nephew, Winston Platt, found Carewe dead—of a heart attack, physicians said—in his bedroom today. Carewe had returned to his modest rooms recently from a hospital where he had been confined for two months.

His Name Borrowed.

Believing he could never succeed with his true name—Jay Fox—he borrowed the name of Carewe from a play character and took his first name from that of his favorite actor, Edwin Booth. He often remarked that his rise to wealth and a prominent position started then.

In 1914 Carewe came to Hollywood as a director for the old Lubin studios. Among his best remembered productions of the silent film era were "Ramona," "Thais," with Mary Garden; "The Spoilers," "Son of the Sahara," starring Bert Lytell; "My Son," "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Pals First," and "Revenge." His most recent were a remake of "Resurrection" for Universal studios, starring Lupe Velez, and "Are We Civilized?" in 1932.

Leaves Five Children.

Carewe was married three times, twice to the former actress, Mary Akin of Lake Forest, Ill., in 1926, and again in 1929, a year after their divorce. She bore him three children—Sally Ann, Carol Lee, and William.

His first wife had two daughters, Rita and Mary Jane. Rita Carewe is a prominent screen actress. The four younger children are still of school age. Two brothers, Finis Fox, a writer, and Wallace Fox, a Hollywood director, also survive.

MOTTA DIES; FIVE TIMES CHIEF OF SWISS REPUBLIC

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 23 [Tuesday] (AP).—Giuseppe Motta, five times president of Switzerland and a member of the Swiss government since 1911, died at his home here at 5 a. m. today. He was 69 years old. At the time of his death he was chief of the Swiss political department.

He served as honorary president of the league of nations assembly at its first meeting in 1920. He continued active in league affairs after that, and in 1924 was elected president. A native of Airolo, in the Italian-speaking canton of Ticino, he first served in the state council and eventually became a leader of the Catholic Conservative party. The current president of Switzerland is Marcel Pilet-Golaz.

KEITH FILLS OUT TERM AS MAYOR OF KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 22 (AP).—Charles S. Keith, 67 years old, former coal and lumber company executive, agreed today to become mayor to fill the unexpired term of Bryce B. Smith, resigned. A mayor will be elected in April.

The position was offered Keith by city councilmen from the Pendergast and Shannon factions of the Democratic organization which long have ruled municipal affairs.

Smith quit with an announcement he had been "double-crossed," after the machine councilmen blocked his move to name a city counselor and employ an experienced city manager. He was mayor 10 years.

RULE TOMORROW ON SERRITELLA'S RACE PHONE PLEA

The Illinois commerce commission will rule tomorrow on the request of State Senator Daniel A. Serritella that the Illinois Bell Telephone company be restrained from cutting off service to his two racing news services, the Madison Publishing company and Jockey Publications, Inc. This was announced yesterday by Chairman William W. Hart, after the commission heard a statement from Samuel Klaus, special assistant to District Attorney William J. Campbell.

Klaus asserted that Serritella's application was part of a concerted effort to maintain a nation-wide gambling service, following the closing down by Moses L. Annenberg of his Nationwide News Service. He said former employés of Annenberg are still obtaining service "in one form or another" from the race tracks and sending it thru central clearing points to bookmakers.

Joseph Rosenberg, attorney for Serritella, told the commission that Serritella's service had no connection with the Annenberg services. He also asserted that neither Klaus nor the federal government is a party in the case.

How to put a grocery product in this kitchen

In Philadelphia, City of Homes,* housewives are planning three meals a day . . . studying advertising of food and grocery products . . . and buying advertised brands for more individual single-family homes, than in any other metropolitan center in America!

And the newspaper most housewives in Philadelphia read to learn when and where to buy food and grocery products is The Evening Bulletin.

In fact, recent surveys† made by an impartial research organization prove that The Evening Bulletin is preferred for day by day advertising readership by more people than all other Philadelphia newspapers combined.

For example: When 14,715 housewives shopping in sixty-five Grocery Stores and Food Markets throughout Philadelphia, answered the question, "In which one newspaper are you most likely to look for food advertisements?"

9,386 housewives named The Bulletin . . . more than three times as many as named the second newspaper—more than named all the other newspapers combined!

For thirty-five consecutive years The Evening Bulletin has led all Philadelphia daily newspapers in circulation, on merit alone—without subscriber contests or premiums or prizes to subscribers.

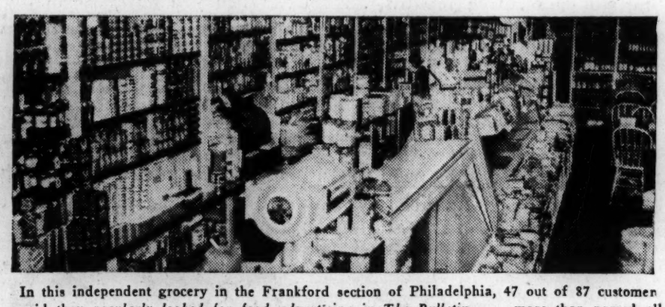
Year after year, The Evening Bulletin has continued as one of the nation's leading advertising mediums for food and grocery products—a vast market place for food shopping. During 1939, The Evening Bulletin carried more than a million lines of food advertising—two and one-half times as much food advertising as the next Philadelphia evening newspaper . . . more than the morning newspapers combined . . . more than three times as much as the combined Sunday newspapers.

Let your advertising agency show you how The Evening Bulletin . . . with 94.9% of its large circulation concentrated in the Philadelphia retail trading area . . . will give you effective coverage of one of the nation's greatest city markets for food and grocery products, at one of the lowest costs per reader in America.

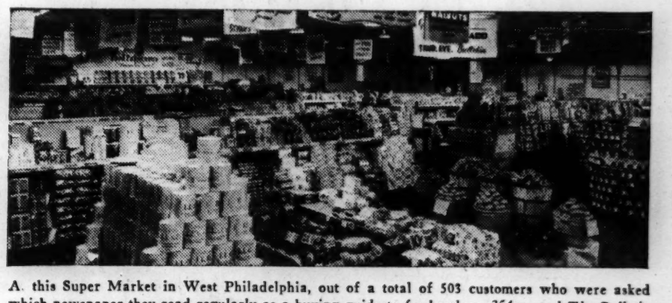
*Nine out of ten dwellings in Philadelphia are single-family homes. More than in New York City and Buffalo combined; more than in any one of twenty-two states. (U. S. Census, 1930).

†Complete information about these and other important consumer and dealer surveys made by Ross Federal Research Corporation, will be sent on request. Address The Evening Bulletin, City Hall Square, Philadelphia.

When 387 customers in this Super Market in Northeast Philadelphia, answered the question, "In which one newspaper are you most likely to look for food advertisements?", 282 named The Bulletin . . . more than twice as many as all other newspapers combined.



In this independent grocery in the Frankford section of Philadelphia, 47 out of 87 customers said they regularly looked for food advertising in The Bulletin . . . more than named all other newspapers combined.



At this Super Market in West Philadelphia, out of a total of 503 customers who were asked which newspaper they read regularly as a buying guide to food values, 354 named The Bulletin . . . more than twice as many as named all other newspapers combined.

In Philadelphia—City of Homes—nearly everybody reads The Evening Bulletin

AVERAGING more than 1,000,000 net paid, Chicago Tribune total daily circulation last month registered a gain of more than 141,000 over December, 1938.

Think of the additional power which this increase gives to your advertising—and then consider that this gain of 141,000 is on top of a gain of 36,000 in December, 1938—plus a gain of 37,000 in December, 1937!

Tribune daily circulation right in metropolitan Chicago scored a gain of more than 122,000 over December, 1938. This, too, was on top of a gain of 30,000 in December, 1938—plus a gain of 30,000 in December, 1937.

Every month for 46 consecutive months, the Tribune has registered a gain in total daily circulation over the same month in the preceding year. Every month for 49 consecutive months, Tribune city and suburban daily circulation has shown an increase over the same month in the preceding year.

These gains reflect the appreciation by new thousands of readers of the Tribune's efforts each day to deliver a better newspaper than the day before. In a period of increasing public demand for the service rendered by the newspaper, this record testifies to the importance placed by Chicago on the Tribune's news reports, its staunch independence and its aggressive action in advancing the interests of readers.

Every day of the week, the Tribune sells more than 780,000* copies right in metropolitan Chicago. This is from 335,000 to 500,000 more copies than are sold in Chicago and suburbs by other Chicago newspapers. The Tribune today is the only newspaper which has the equivalent of majority coverage of all the families in metropolitan Chicago.

When you advertise in the Tribune, you reach Chicago's largest constant audience. You make the most efficient use of your budget today . . . and you buy in a medium whose circulation continues to climb.

If you want more business today . . . if you want to build solidly for the future, build your Chicago advertising program around the Tribune. Rates per 100,000 circulation are among the lowest in America.

Night Life.

A young man who likes to sit up nights in cafés telephoned a young woman from a fashionable restaurant in the early hours of Sunday morning when he thought she would be home from her own Saturday night festivities.

"Come over and join me," he invited.

"You must be all alone by this hour," she said.

Tenor's Hobby.

Tenor James Melton was in Chicago over the week-end between concerts, and besides seeing friends and completing new concert plans carried on his hobby of collecting early type automobiles. He purchased, over long distance telephone from the apartment of Robert Doyle, with whom he was stopping, a Stanley Steamer of an early vintage. It will go in the garage of his Connecticut establishment along with many other early gas buggies, all of which he overhauls and drives himself. Mr. Melton generously sang privately for friends, too—some of his and their favorite numbers, Shortnin' Bread and Lindy Lou and some other southern songs.

Man About Town.

A picture of the late Sam S. Shubert hangs in every Shubert controled theater. There is one in the inner lobby of the Grand Opera house, over what formerly was a fountain. The other evening a young girl and boy arrived late for the performance. They paused, in front of the fountain, to remove their wraps.

Records in Photographs.

One of the pictures Herma Clark will show in her talk on Chicago in the Notable Nineties at Mandel hall tomorrow evening is the interior of the library of the old homestead of William Blair, father of the late Edward S. Blair, that stood on Michigan avenue where the Congress hotel now stands. Interiors dating from the nineties usually are faded and dull and cannot be used as slides, but this one shows every detail of the library, with the Healy portraits on the wall and a long mirror above the Carrara marble mantel. It is interesting to speculate what Chicago homes will be shown in illustrated lectures 50 years hence. Considering the many amateur photographers nowadays, there should be material available, and in color.

* * *

The color pictures, a glimpse of which is being eagerly sought by interested persons, are those James Waller Rogers took of Architects' ball patrons in costume—an array of gods and goddesses and nymphs that may give a later generation a start should the pictures come to light 50 years hence.

Chicago Woman's Club Reviews 64 Years of Service

The Chicago Woman's club reviewed its 64 years of service to the community in a program presented by members yesterday at the club theater, 72 East 11th street. The founding of the club at the home of Mrs. Caroline M. Brown in Erie street on Feb. 17, 1876, was shown with members in costume portraying the founders.

Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon, oldest member in years of membership, described her work in organizing the Park Ridge School for Girls. The club's cancer research institute, thru which eight grants have been made to universities, was discussed by Mrs. Ralph W. Webster.

Cooking Takes Its Place as Indoor Sport

BY JUDITH CASS.

COOKING is taking its place as a favorite indoor sport these cold winter days—and nights—and men, as well as women, are discovering that it is great fun to concoct unusual or original dishes. The School of Domestic Arts and Science, which helps many a young bride or bride to be to learn the rudiments of cooking and housekeeping, is to have an open house exhibit and tea today.

A work in progress demonstration will be on display for each department of the school from 1 until 6:30 o'clock at the Adams house on the campus at Belden and Commonwealth avenues. "Do You Know When to Stop?" heads one series in the cooking display and indicates the results when a cook doesn't. How to avoid the irksome problem of leftover meat from the Sunday roast is another clever display. Informal drop-in teas, intermediate and high teas are included, and so is the approved method of folding dinner napkins. Also the effect of a poor laundress on Buddy's sweater. Dressmaking will not be forgotten and there will be millinery, dresses, and accessories, with time and money costs attached to each, in the exhibit.

Boys as Well as Girls Learn How to Cook.

Among the young students who will assist at the tea are Miss Barbara Behrens, Miss Mary Jane Brummel, Miss Suzanne Lyon, Miss Alice White, Miss Lurena Stubbs, Miss Barbara Stark, and Miss Muriel Beach. Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mrs. James B. Herrick, Mrs. Alfred H. Gross, Mrs. Budd Clarke Corbus, Mrs. Herrick R. Goodwillie, Mrs. Harris C. Lutkin, Mrs. Carl H. Zeiss, Mrs. Seymour Morris, and Mrs. Carter Hathaway are in charge of the tea.

Boys as well as girls learn to cook at the North Shore Country Day school in Winnetka, but youngsters are not the only ones on the north shore who enjoy dabbling in culinary art. Under the leadership of Samuel S. Otis a cooking school has been formed and the members meet at nights to learn to make all sorts of good things, ranging from smorgasbord to puff paste.

There are men and women in the classes conducted by Mr. Otis, who builds desserts that are as enchanting as anything he ever did in an architectural way, his friends insist. Lemon ice with a champagne sauce is one of his latest concoctions.

Amateur Cook Contest to Be Held Thursday.

Not beginners are the three women and three men who will take part in the first of a series of amateur cook competitions at the Key club Thursday night. Mrs. Robert Harvey, who was to have been one of the contestants, is leaving tomorrow with her husband for a two month motor trip to California, so Mrs. Hamilton Vose is taking her place. A buffet supper will be served from 6 until 10 o'clock.

Mrs. John Root will cook veal; Mrs. Paget Cady, oyster stew; Harold E. Wiley, coffee; Walter Frazier, curried shrimp; Alfred Shaw, kidney beans Madeira, and Mrs. Vose, tongue. The diners will decide who deserves the prize, a big wooden salad bowl trimmed with silver that Andrew Berkey just brought home from New York.

Theater Benefit Feb. 20 for Orphan Asylum.

Members of the board of the Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan asylum are congratulating one another on having secured a performance of the play "Life with Father" as a benefit. The board is sponsoring the second night of the play's Chicago run, Feb. 20.

Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy is chairman of the board, which is holding its annual meeting today at the asylum, 2801 Foster avenue. Some of the women who will be devoting their energies to selling tickets for the benefit are Mrs. David McDougal, Mrs. Charles C. Haffner Jr., Mrs. Carroll Sudler Jr., Mrs. Arch Shaw, Mrs. William T. Bacon, Mrs. J. McWilliams Stone, Mrs. Paul Moyer, Mrs. James R. Offield, and Mrs. Lawrence Howe.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

The Passing Show

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 22.—Of all the things he's done, I think that Zanuck will be remembered longest in movie annals for "Grapes of Wrath." Not only because it is a fine picture, but because of his decision to bring to the screen Steinbeck's sympathetic exposition of the case of the migratory workers. In "Grapes of Wrath," the movies divest themselves of Fauntleroy suits and Buster Brown collars and put on long pants, evidence that Hollywood has come of age. The cinema finally is striking off the chains and shackles that limited their freedom of thought and movement.

Darryl Zanuck.

It is a heartening introduction to 1940. On the screen there is a definite place for comedy and drama, entertainment of all types. There also is a place for such discussions as "Grapes of Wrath." In granting Steinbeck freedom of speech, and supplying a rostrum, Zanuck has done something big and important.

⊷

In the Clover club, a movie star embarrassed when his wife surrounds too much grape and starts heaving things. Not many drunks in the movie colony, but a woman drunk easily is the most horrible of all spectacles. Basil Rathbone recalls an occasion when he was enacting the rôle of Bassanio in "The Merchant of Venice." The actress playing a scene with him had a habit of drinking port in her dressing room and, to Basil's horror, she started swaying and fell flat on her face. His next line pointed up the catastrophe: "Madam," he said, "you have bereft me of all words." Generally when anything goes amiss on the stage, the speech following is an unfortunate mirth producer.

⊷

Phil Harris' ma is back from Indiana, with treasures galore. First and foremost, 36 jars of preserves which the neighbors in Linton, Ind., put up. Pickled tomatoes, apple butter, preserved cherries, peaches, plums. Second on the list of treasures bought back by Phil's ma are two old Edison phonograph machines, the kind with the big amplifying horns, and 350 old, old records that really are collector's items. She hunted them up on Indiana farms, despite snow and freezing cold, because Phil had said casually, before she left, that he wanted to get them.

⊷

Mothers are wonderful people. I guarantee that every newspaper man who has a by-line has been in receipt of hundreds of letters from mothers, never asking anything for themselves, but always asking for something for a son or a daughter. These are the nicest letters that come to this desk. In each line you can almost hear the beat of the mother's heart . . . "Not because he is my boy, but really he has talent," or "Not because she is my girl, but she deserves an opportunity." You can picture the mother waiting until every one has left the house so that she can sit down and pen the letter and rush out to air mail it to the coast. And then how anxiously she awaits the postman each morning to see if her letter has been answered. Newspaper men never are very good correspondents, and leave many letters unanswered, but those letters from mothers always are certain of a reply, because you'd hate to let down such love and affection.

A long time ago we were driving thru New Jersey and when night fell we stopped for dinner at a nice looking inn, the Ocean house, at Toms River, N. J. The dining room was old fashioned, but the food was better than any I've tasted in famous hotels. The special for dinner was mackerel and it melted in your mouth. Here was complete peace, a complete and pleasant withdrawal from the world that sped by the door in autos.

Then, as we strolled around after coffee, in one of the rooms we saw a sword hanging on a wall and above it a sword sash in a glass case and a small card with this inscription, "This sash, worn by me thru all my battles and campaigns, from and including the battle of Belmont and including the surrender of Vicksburg, July 4, 1863, is presented to Brig. Gen. John A. Rawlins in evidence of my appreciation of him as an officer and friend. [signed] U. S. Grant, Maj. Gen. U. S. A. Gen. Rawlins' daughter was the wife of George Holman, who ran the Ocean house.

Well, I guess the cars, instead of stopping at the Ocean house, have been going right by. Mr. Holman sends me a letter saying that because conditions have been tougher, his wife has decided to dispose of the battle sash worn by Gen. Grant. He thought that maybe some of the Hollywood movie stars or producers would like to have it for their homes.

Oust Buswell as Wheaton College Head

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton college since 1926, yesterday was dismissed from the leadership of the college by the board of trustees. The dismissal was made public by Herman A. Fischer, Chicago lawyer, chairman of the board, who announced that Dr. V. R. Edman, head of the department of history and social science, would become acting president.

Dr. J. Oliver Buswell.

For many years Dr. Buswell was a leader of a fundamentalist minority in the Presbyterian church. Convicted by an ecclesiastical court in 1935 of violating church regulations, Dr. Buswell was sentenced to censure which he refused to accept and was dropped from the ministry of the church.

⊷

Later he was the moderator of the short lived Presbyterian Church of America, which divided several times after a civil court ordered it to cease using the Presbyterian name. During the divisions Dr. Buswell was such an active partisan that reports were current last year that the board of Wheaton college was about to ask him either to settle down as president of the college or resign.

"The board found certain difficulties in administrative coöperation which in the board's opinion necessitated a change in the presidency," was the formal reason given in the board's statement, adding that "the board is carrying out plans for reducing overhead, mainly along lines which had been recommended by President Buswell."

The statement praised Dr. Buswell as a Christian leader and an able minister. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1917 and served as chaplain in the 35th division in France during the war. He was wounded in action at the Meuse-Argonne.

Under Dr. Buswell's presidency Wheaton college doubled in enrollment and became one of the largest liberal arts colleges in the country with more than 1,200 students.

Dr. Buswell made a brief statement last night in which he said he was ethically restrained from comment on administrative coöperation involved in his dismissal. He added that discussion of his dismissal would serve no purpose. Dr. Buswell asked continued loyalty to the college on the part of students, alumni, and patrons.

Elsie Eaton Becker Displays a Silvery Voice in Recital

Elsie Eaton Becker, soprano, was heard in Kimball hall last night in a program which included excerpts from oratorio and opera as well as a variety of lyric songs from the Russian, French, and English répertoires.

Miss Becker displayed a silvery, youthful sounding voice capable of compassing both a wispy pianissimo and a solid forte. Production seemed to be easy and support [except in rare, faltering moments] adequate. The singer's charm of manner also was a factor in the good impression she made.

On the debit side was the frequent difficulty Miss Becker experienced in trying to achieve a really smooth legato. Also there was a certain tentativeness and lack of enthusiasm and conviction in most of her singing—as if she did not believe wholeheartedly in the importance of the music. E. B.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

To wear with your navy blue costume, your blacks, or any of the cool grays that are high fashion this season, try the new lipstick shade called "hot pink." It's as lovely as its name is amusing. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Remember the new lipstick color "Hot Pink" that we told you about? Well, we've tried it now, and we assure you that the name may be a bit funny, but the color most certainly is not. It's a beauty. Lovely with black, with navy blues and with grays. Personally, we could do very nicely with a costume in this very shade.

⊷

It's a wearable shade for almost all types [we speak of the lipstick now] because it's not freakish. While it isn't a true pink, which we always find just a little tiresome, its warm, ever so faintly blue undertones are subtle. We imagine clear skinned brunettes will find it a particularly exciting shade, and it's ideal for the blondes.

The "Hot Pink" shade is the newest of several in a line of lipsticks that have always been pets of ours. They are smooth, lasting, and have a fragrance we find delightful. Usually in lipsticks a definite scent doesn't appeal to us. This one does.

⊷

The container is a trim one, white enamel with restrained banding and initials in silver. You'll find it in a couple of shops. And we think you'll like the lift the color gives to your midwinter face. One of the polish houses, incidentally, has made a nail enamel to match the stick.

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage Cynthia Brentiford, fashion artist, is sentenced to 18 months in prison under the name of Clara Brown, unknowingly an accomplice in crime with Rory Clarke. Unaware of disaster her fiancé, Michael Alloway, is on his way from Malta for the wedding. At Honebyker, Cynthia's childhood playmate, Bessie Stockley, is a prison wardress. Bessie manages to change places with Cynthia and let Cynthia have her two weeks' leave as wardress and marry Michael. After the honeymoon Cynthia persuades Michael to go back to Malta alone, pretending she has to have an operation and will join him later. Back in prison, Cynthia discovers she is going to have a baby. Determined not to have her child born in prison, Cynthia manages to steal a wardress' uniform and escape. In her flat she finds Michael's sister Marion who has been worried by Cynthia's silence. Explaining everything as a lapse of memory, Cynthia gladly goes to stay with Michael's people. Bent on blackmail, Rory Clarke trails her there.

INSTALMENT XIV.

THE TELEPHONE CALL.

As they strolled back over the moor Cynthia said to Marion:

"You wouldn't think that man awfully competent, would you, but he is. He's a bit of a queer fish."

"He certainly is."

"Didn't you like him?"

"I didn't dislike him. But didn't you say his name was the same as yours—Brentiford?"

"Yes."

"Then why did he register at the inn as Stainham?"

So Marion had been spying! Or had she merely stumbled on the information by accident?

"I haven't the least idea. Are you sure he did?"

"Quite," said Marion.

"I suppose it's some obscure business reason. O, but of course! Stainham is the name of his firm. I expect that's why he did it."

"I expect so," said Marion, and for the life of her Cynthia could not tell whether the remark was ironical or not.

After lunch, while Marion was busy in the garden and Cynthia was chatting with her mother-in-law, she pretended to discover the loss of her bag.

"I must have left it in the village," she exclaimed. "Do you mind if I go and see?"

"O, but it's such a little walk, and I'd like to have the bag—it was one of Michael's presents."

She had timed her movements. Shortly before three she was hurrying by the moorland track to the village, to the Lorna Doone Arms, where she asked for Mr. Stainham, and was informed that he had just left for the station, as he was catching the 3:15 back to London.

"When I was talking to him this morning I think I left my bag behind. Do you mind if I look around?"

The landlord came personally with her, was with her when she retrieved it from the armchair. She changed the ten shilling note, then went to the telephone box in the road opposite the inn. In due course she was placing five shillings in the slot for a trunk call to London.

"Is that Scotland Yard? I want the criminal investigation department, please. I have some information about Rory Clarke."

"Do you know who Rory Clarke is? . . . You do. Well, he's on the train which gets to Paddington from Taunton at seven."

As she hung up the receiver Cynthia heaved a sigh of relief.

"Thank heavens I had the nerve to do that!"

There was something rather horrible in setting the police on to Rory Clarke. It was the kind of thing which the crooks themselves regarded as the most dishonorable act possible. On the other hand, she was thinking not only of herself but predominantly of Michael.

"And anyhow, I'm not a fellow crook. He knows I'm not."

She was, in fact, so little a crook that she knew nothing whatever of police methods. When she had replaced the receiver Detective Inspector Rason had turned with a smile to his colleague.

"We may get Clarke on that. And it's a hundred pounds to a biscuit that it's Clara Brown, as she calls herself, who has blown his gaff. She escaped and rejoined him and then found he'd got another girl, I expect. And we may get Brown, too."

He put an emergency call thru to the exchange.

"I want the number of that trunk call that has just been made here, please."

In three minutes came the answer.

"Cloutleigh Three—a call box."

"Cloutleigh!" echoed Rason. "A village on Exmoor, unless I'm hopelessly wrong. A village, Stevens. You'll have to travel down tonight, my boy, and find out who was using the village call box at—say 3:15 this afternoon. And take a photograph of Brown with you."

Before he went to bed in the Lorna Doone Arms that night Detective Sergeant Stevens had learned that a lady staying at the Manor—a Mrs. Alloway, who had married the son of the house—had been seen to use the telephone box at about 3:15.

"That means we've drawn blank," muttered Stevens to himself. "There must have been another girl—probably got out of a car and they didn't notice her. However, red tape is red tape, and I'll have to check up in the morning."

At 11 o'clock on the following morning he chartered the village car and was driven to the Manor, where he asked for Mrs. Michael Alloway.

On the previous night Marion Alloway had slept not at all. She had once heard her brother, Michael, talking about the laws of probability. There was a point at which coincidence upon coincidence amounted to impossibility, he said. And so she had been adding up the coincidences and the odd little incidents which do not happen in the life of an ordinary woman. And coming to the same total—impossibility.

"First, Cynthia finds she has appendicitis on their honeymoon." Well, that might happen to anybody. "She recovers from the appendicitis without any operation." Again that might be true enough. "She goes for treatment in a very odd, dirty and generally unpleasant house in a very poor quarter. She has a lapse of memory, which makes it impossible for her to answer questions. She enters her flat, not by the front door but by the fire escape—an apparently mad action explained away on the ground of 'nerves'—which will explain anything. She is dressed in the uniform of a wardress, with an extraordinary tale to explain why she is wearing it."

Cynthia had described her assailant as a big tough sort of woman. Yet the uniform, Marion remembered, had been a tolerable fit.

"A man comes to Exmoor to see her, who, she says, has the same name as herself, tho they are not relations. And the man registers at the hotel in a different name."

Any one of these things might happen to an ordinary person in a lifetime, but they had all happened to Cynthia in a period of some six weeks. And there were two odd things which, as it were, had happened around her without happening directly to her. One of them was that the associate of Rory Clarke had escaped from prison in a wardress' uniform. And of all the women in London she had encountered the wife of a school friend of Rory Clarke's and compelled her to exchange clothing!

The other odd thing was that the picture of the escaped prisoner bore quite a strong resemblance to Cynthia herself.

In the small hours came positive conviction.

"Cynthia is the escaped convict and that so-called solicitor is Rory Clarke. He is good looking, the right age, and he has a persuasive, pleasant manner."

She stared into the darkness, trying to visualize the horror of Michael, her adored brother, having married a convict.

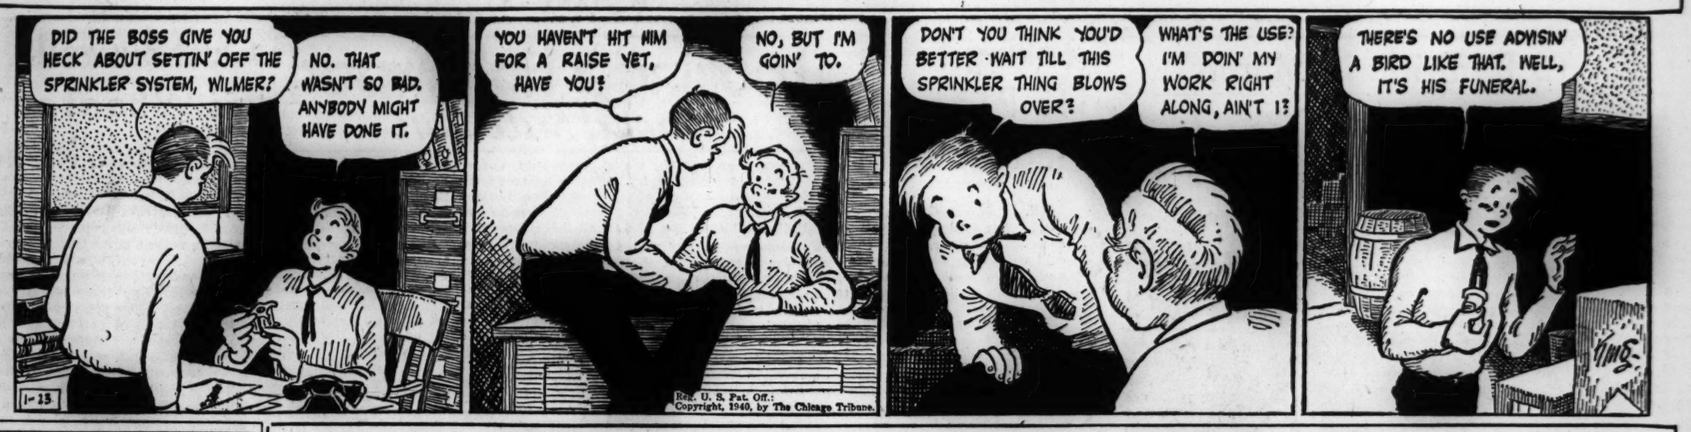
GASOLINE ALLEY—A RAISE IS A RAISE



WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: A Couple of Isolationists

Sophistication and Chic Are Not the Same

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A controversial point at the moment is whether it pays a woman more to be pretty rather than chic. In one of the magazines devoted to beautiful women the argument was debated by Irene Dunne and Joan Bennett recently, with the enormously chic Irene holding out for prettiness and the pretty Joan arguing in favor of chic. And each had her points. Miss Dunne decried the unloveliness of the hard shelled, sophisticate type often erroneously associated with chic.

Carrying sophistication to this point is alienating both to men and to other women. Men don't understand the type, as Miss Dunne points out. Women find her a sort of challenge, perhaps, because she has to look expensive and shop-produced, if you know what is meant, which you do, of course. We recall in this connection a comment made to the effect that men may admire the smart sophisticate but they don't love her. So, it would seem that the pretty one is one up here. Chic and supersophistication are not the same thing.

Our claim is that unless one suffers a rare physical handicap, any member of the fair sex today can put up a mighty appealing self. Maybe not always pretty, but nevertheless attractive enough to get along well. Her good grooming directs this success, along with becoming dress and charm of manner. There's everything under heaven at her command to produce the appealing person. Her skin can be lovely with care, her hair ditto, her silhouette controled, her feet neatly shod, her legs smartly encased in fine hosiery and her manner certainly is something over which she has complete and absolute dictation.

So, in view of the fact that the supersophisticate type of woman seems due for sidetracking, if not dismissal, as an eye-pleaser, we wouldn't bother arguing the point, since time is being lost that might better be put to use producing those fine points of one's own that are going to put one in a decorative class of her very own.

Altering Habits of 2 Year Old Requires Time

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There are enough mothers who have had an experience similar to the one described in this letter for me to discuss it in the column today. The letter reads as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I am sending for your advice on obedience and temper tantrums for parents. I have a little boy 22 months old. I went back to business when he was 4 months old. My mother-in-law cared for him for a while. Then I hired a young girl for about three months. Then the baby's grandmother took care of him again. About two and a half months ago I left my work and started staying home with him.

"There is one more thing that troubles me besides my little boy's disobedience and temper. That is that his bathroom habits are not very good. We spank him about this and other things and wonder if that is the right thing to do."

The things that a baby needs from the time he is born are regularity and consistency in training, and understanding of him as he grows along from the early months into little boyhood. This baby, like a great many others these days, has not had those things.

Fortunately his mother is to be with him permanently now and she can accomplish a great deal. But what she must constantly bear in mind is that any faults her little boy shows now are due to the fact that he has not been consistently trained during those months when so many new habits are being formed. This baby has a great deal to unlearn and a great deal to learn. His mother must exercise the greatest patience. It is going to take time for him to learn good eating habits, sleeping habits, habits of toileting and obedience. Spanking is simply going to accomplish nothing and will only confuse this very small boy.

Baking powder coffee cakes are so easy to make that the cook who tries them for the first time has a delightful surprise. One coffee cake batter or dough is much like another. The differences are in the treatment of the mix. To some fruit is added, to others a crumb topping. A good basic recipe will make any kind you like.

Here's the basic recipe and a few suggestions for changing it or expanding it to make many different kinds of breakfast or tea cake.

Plain Coffee Cake.
[9 by 12 inch pan.]

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons butter or other shortening
1 egg, beaten
⅔ cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar, and salt together. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk. Add to flour mixture all at once, stirring carefully at first, then vigorously for a few strokes.

Now the batter [really a modified muffin batter] is ready for whatever additional treatment is to be accorded it. Most popular is the crumb topping. Turn the batter into a greased pan and spread it evenly. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with a mixture of 1½ tablespoons melted butter, ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Bake at 375-400 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Go a step farther, earlier in the game, and add 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ½ teaspoon nutmeg to the sifted dry ingredients for a spiced coffee cake.

For fruit filled coffee cake use a smaller pan and spread half the batter in it. Brush with butter and cover with sweetened dried fruit, fresh or canned fruit. If the fruit is juicy blend a teaspoonful or two of flour with the sugar used to sweeten it. Cover the fruit with the rest of the batter, brush top with butter, and bake.

Drained cooked prunes, apricots or other dried fruit, a combination of dried fruit, drained canned berries, sliced canned peaches, apples, cherries are some of the choicest fruits for coffee cakes.

Another kind of fruity coffee cake is made by adding drained fruit directly to the batter. Raisins or currants, chopped dates, figs, prunes or apricots, cherries, berries, pineapple, all make excellent hotbreads.

Chopped nuts may be added to a crumb topping such as those suggested previously.

And here's another fruity suggestion. Use orange marmalade, cherry, strawberry or tomato preserves as the "sandwich filling" for coffee cake batter. Or spread the preserves over the top of the dough before it goes to the oven, and sprinkle melted butter over the preserves.

Other ideas will doubtless occur after you've tried several of these suggestions. When struck with a "wonder if this wouldn't be good," act on your impulse.

A pert, attractive salad does for a dinner what a crisp, white collar does for last year's dress. There are salads and more salads in Mary Meade's "Everyday Adventures in Salads" and a variety of dressings in "Simple Salad Dressings." The booklets sell for 3 cents each at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Or they will be mailed for 5 cents each in stamps.

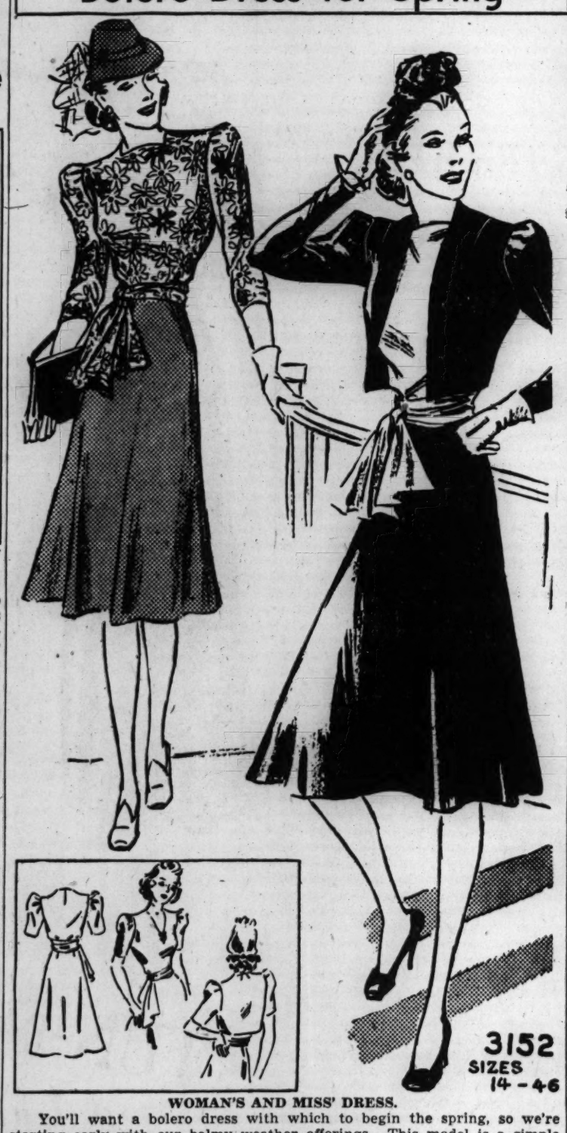
Bolero Dress for Spring



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

You'll want a bolero dress with which to begin the spring, so we're starting early with our balmy weather offerings. This model is a simple and suavely draped one that takes well to a wide variety of fabric. The original is lichen green crêpe with the blouse of eggshell satin. Another scheme is to make the skirt of a medium or pastel shade, and the bolero, too, and to give them a companion piece in a gayly printed blouse. This is a delightfully easy costume to make.

Style No. 3152 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for bolero and skirt, with 1¾ yards of contrasting for blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the winter Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

The most essential point in the planning of squeeze plays is visualization of the end position which, it is hoped, can be attained. This may sound like putting the cart before the horse but, in sober fact, it is the easiest method of approach. Let us examine a typical squeeze possibility hand and follow an expert declarer's thought processes.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	7 diamonds	Pass
7 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding is not recommended. I am merely reporting it as it actually took place at a certain table in a match point duplicate game. South returned to no trump in an effort to capture "top on the board." He probably thought that many teams would reach seven diamonds, and, therefore, gambled on the few extra points a no trump contract offered.

West opened the jack of spades and dummy's black ace won. A count of tricks disclosed one spade, three hearts, seven diamonds, and one club, a total of only 12. There was no possible finesse in any suit. There was a chance, of course, that the adverse hearts would drop in three leads and establish dummy's fourth heart for the 13th trick but, if this did not occur, only a squeeze play would be left.

Declarer set himself to visualize the subsequent play of the hand. He saw that if he should run off dummy's seven diamond tricks, he then would be unable to return to dummy and, thus, even if the hearts were divided 3-3, there would be no entry left in dummy to reach the established heart. Obviously, then, he had to cash the three top hearts first, which he proceeded to do. As he had feared, the hearts did not break, but he had not "shot his bolt" by any means. Now dummy's diamonds were run off until finally the end position he had visualized came about. Dummy was left with the low heart, one diamond, and one club, He, himself, had the queen of spades and two clubs. West had already been proved as the holder of the fourth heart, and the opening lead was ample testimony to the fact that the spade king was in East's hand, since West certainly would not have led from a king against seven no trump.

Thus, since one opponent was forced to hold a heart to cover dummy's heart, and the other, who had to play before declarer, was burdened with the spade stopper, a double squeeze was sure. On the lead of dummy's last diamond, East could not let go the spade king without establishing the declarer's queen—he had to let go a club. Now declarer discarded his spade queen. West, on this trick, had to hold on to his heart, and therefore was forced to blank his jack of clubs. Declarer was therefore left with two perfectly good clubs.

Strangely enough, the one opening lead that West really could not dream of making, namely, a club lead directly up to South's first-bid suit, would have removed declarer's entry and made the squeeze inoperative.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

A woman convicted of murder,
The mother of six,

A young girl who had run away and married against the wish of her parents,

A mature woman whose first baby had been still born and who has reason to fear that her second may not live,

A girl whose young husband is more of a problem than she herself, and

An actress who loathes the predicament which has robbed her of her job and been the cause of her no account husband's flitting away with another dancing partner, and who finds herself the mother of TWINS. . . . While—

In and out of the ward slips a strange, tragic figure—a gentle mad woman who has always wanted, but never can have a baby.

The effect of their condition on the prospective mothers, the reactions of those close to them, the scientific workings of a great hospital with its crisp, efficient nurses, its busy doctors, humane behind their protective coloring of matter-of-factness, are vividly and believably presented. Supervision by a physician and a registered nurse was most able, as you'll realize, watching the sure work of Gale Page as Miss Bowers, head nurse; Eve Arden, as another "woman in white"; John Litel and Henry O'Neill as doctors, and internes en masse.

While all parts are intelligently portrayed, honors go, I think, to Jeffrey Lynne as husband of the pitiful young murderess, Grace George as the actress, and Fay Helm as the mad woman. The Johnnies, Davis and Downs, contribute comedy for which you are grateful.

Action is pithy, dialog rings true, and the piece only consumes about 75 minutes.

Women are flocking to see the production and, judging from those I observed, are finding "A Child Is Born" well worth while.

Novelty Again Marks Concert at Blackstone

BY CECIL SMITH.

Izler Solomon keeps right on finding fresh, unhackneyed music for his Illinois Symphony orchestra to play. In the Blackstone theater last night Arthur Honegger's "Nocturne" and Darius Milhaud's "Suite Provençale" both received their first Chicago hearings, and Eric DeLamarter's ballet suite, once called "The Dance of Life" and now retitled "The Black Orchid," was rescued from oblivion. The second of Mozart's 22 divertimenti for orchestra might as well have been a novelty, so far as the audience's familiarity with it went. And Ruth Bassett's spangled lyric soprano voice, in three French songs, was as fresh as all the rest of the program.

In the "Suite Provençale," composed in 1938, Milhaud has strung together eight brief movements fashioned out of southern French folk tunes. The orchestration is arresting and colorful, and the resourcefulness with which the themes are handled reveals the composer as a master craftsman. The mood, and sometimes the outright form, of a baroque dance suite prevails thruout, with the influence of Handel frequently in evidence. It is hard to imagine why American conductors [except for Mr. Solomon and Otto Klemperer] have not discovered this work, which won the spontaneous approval of last night's audience.

The Honegger "Nocturne," written in 1936, is less valuable. In general plan it is a sophisticated reworking of the scheme of the "Summer Pastoral"—a brief piece with a calm section fabricated out of monotonously repeated short figures, followed by a more agitated dissonant middle section, followed in turn by a return to the calm pastoral mood.

Miss Bassett's voice is remarkably pure and floating. Since it is small, however, she needs to learn how to make climaxes of musical interest substitute for climaxes of sheer volume. She also needs to relieve the unvarying single color of her tone by improving her French diction, taking advantage of all possible variety in vowel sounds and percussion in consonants. With these improvements she can considerably exceed her good success of last night.

Jan. 23. 1940.

A routine day, full of detail, some of it irritating. Those born on a 5-day [5, 14, 23] are restless and often undisciplined so those born on today's date will not like slowing down this year. Learn to retire gracefully from the spotlight for this is not your year to make a big impression. It is an auspicious year for making friends and enjoying companionship, even marrying, but don't lose sight of the fact that it is not a year for speculation or to give your usual gambling instinct free play.

the exhibition, "Picasso—Forty Years of His Art" on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31. The reception will be from 8 to 10 o'clock. Members may bring guests.

There are bruises and bumps galore about town, the results of the first week-end of skiing in the Chicago neighborhood. A fall on hills at Wilmot, Wis., was the cause of Mrs. John A. Kovas' sprained ankle. The Kovases were among the hundreds who motored to Wilmot for a day of sport on Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. Kovas forgot her hurt ankle when she told members of the Chicago Junior league at the winter meeting yesterday that 13,500 children saw performances of the league Children's theater play, "Alice in Wonderland," this winter. A number of schools already have asked to have the next league production brought to them in the fall.

Winter Resort Fashions to Be Modeled at Ball.

Miss Gertrude Smith, who is to model in a fashion show at the "Globe Trotters Ball" on Feb. 2 at the Drake may want to take some of the pretty fashions with her to Sea Island, Ga. She and Miss Katharine Baird will leave for the resort shortly after the party, which is to be a benefit for the Travelers' Aid society.

Miss Jane Cummings, a member of the society's new woman's board, will leave for Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., right after the benefit. Other modeling fashions suitable for Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii, Jamaica, or Sun Valley will be Mrs. Jeffrey R. Short Jr., Miss Martha Schueler, Mrs. Wesley Loomis III., Miss Jean and Miss Barbara Tennant, Mrs. C. Bradford Carpenter, Mrs. Gilbert Rogers, Miss Bettie Jean Seymour and Miss Dorothy Drummond.

The junior Aldis J. Brownes and the F. Osborne Elliotts are entertaining jointly before the dance with cocktails at the Brownes' and dinner at the Elliotts'. They live in the same building in Astor street.

Gregory Graf Connell, who will be five years old next month, is greatly excited over having a baby sister, born on Jan. 18 at St. Luke's hospital. The baby is to be named after her mother, Barbara Graf Connell. The children's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Connell.

DEAN BALKS AGAIN; EXPLAINS FAILURE AS CUB

HAWKS RELEASE TWO; BRING UP REPLACEMENTS

Desilets, Demarco Sent to Minors.

The management of the Blackhawks yesterday indicated that it did not cotton to the team's Sunday night defeat by the lowly New York Americans with the announcement that it has recalled two 20 year old recruits and has sent a veteran and a rookie to fill their minor league posts.

Manager Paul Thompson announced that Joffre Desilets, who came to the Hawks from the Montreal Canadiens last season, and Ab Demarco, who turned pro only last year, have been shipped to the Providence Reds of the International-American league. Taking their places in the Chicago lineup against the world's champion Boston Bruins Thursday night in the Stadium will be the two 20 year olds —Right Wing Johnny Chad and Left Wing Bobby Carse, the latter a brother of the present Hawk center.

The change is the most drastic Blackhawk move of the season, and, Thompson intimated, may be only the first of several involving other names on the Hawk roster, unless a marked improvement is shown against Boston Thursday and against the Canadiens, who come to the Stadium Sunday night.

Newcomers Drill Today.

Chad and Bob Carse have been performing ably on the Providence forward line this season. Each weighs around 170 pounds. Both are natives of the Province of Alberta, Chad hailing from Prevost, while Carse was born in Edmonton. The two lads flew from Providence yesterday and will work out with the Hawks in the Stadium at 2 o'clock today.

Desilets, who came to Chicago from the Canadiens in exchange for Louis Trudell, did fairly well last season on a line with Johnny Gottselig and Cully Dahlstrom. During the early part of the current campaign Joff made six goals, but in his last 16 games has not made one. Demarco, who joins Desilets in the Providence lineup, played with the Reds last season and earned a job with the Hawks this year, but did not score a goal in the 15 games he played.

Two New Forward Lines.

The shakeup will necessitate a wholesale shifting of the Hawk forward lines. Chad and Bob Carse will make their major league debut on a line with Les Cunningham, another of this season's Hawk rookies, at center. Dahlstrom will be at center on another trio which will have two more recruits, Doug Bentley and Phil Hergesheimer at the wings. Mush March, veteran right wing, will work on a combination which will have Bill Carse at center and George Allen at left wing. Johnny Gottselig will act as the extra forward.

Thus only three veterans—March, Dahlstrom, and Gottselig—will be in the Hawks' forward lineups.

Thompson yesterday admitted that the two newcomers are pretty young for the big time, but said he is eager to see them in action. Bun Cook, the old New York Ranger who now manages Providence, has a reputation of being one of the best coaches of young players in the business. Carse and Chad were not in the regular lineup when the Providence season started, but their speed and willingness should put them on the first line, Thompson says. During their service with the Reds, Chad made 19 points on 12 goals and 7 assists, while Carse connected for 6 goals and 11 assists.

Two Share Scoring Lead.

The compilation of five scoring points in games played last week and including those played Sunday sufficed to put Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins in a first place tie with Gordon Drillon of Toronto Maple Leafs among individual scorers of the National league, according to statistics compiled from records of official scorers and released yesterday.

Chicagoans Now Can Ski in Ski Country

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Fred Pabst Jr., Oconomowoc sportsman, arrived in Chicago yesterday to organize a local unit of the Snow Train Ski club, which he has sponsored with success in Milwaukee and other Wisconsin cities.

The ski club will offer free membership. Membership is open to every one, novices and experts alike, and there are no age limits. The club will be operated on a one-day schedule from Chicago to Wausau, Wis., and to Iron Mountain, Mich., with week-end trips to Houghton, Mich.

Safety Big Angle.

Pabst, a skilled skier, won his silver skis at the Parsenne course in Switzerland. For the last four years he has been interested in developing winter sports in the northwest, especially in those areas where snow is available from early fall until late spring. With safety the paramount consideration, he has helped design and lay out trails, and has supervised the construction of ski tows, and other facilties.

"I think skiing is a great sport," he said yesterday in explaining his hopes for the club, "and there is no reason why it is not more popular in this region. At last I have been able to arrange minimum costs and railroad rates to make winter sports available to low salaried men and women as well as those who can afford to go to Sun Valley or St. Moritz."

Offer Other Sports, Too.

The ski centers will also offer other winter sports. At Wausau, about five and one-half hours from Chicago, there are seven skating rinks, and several toboggan slides, in addition to seven ski trails. A new fieldstone shelter has been built, with ski waxing rooms, a restaurant, and a lounge.

A ski rental department operates for those who do not bring their own equipment. Instructors are available for beginners.

"We think we've worked out every detail," said Pabst. "We have even arranged to have Tyrolean entertainers in native costumes to dance and yodel for entertainment aboard the trains. Food will be served at moderate prices. In each of the three centers, hotel rates have been cut to a minimum for those who wish to stay more than one day."

The first train from Chicago to Wausau will leave at 6 a. m. Sunday, Feb. 4, from the Union station. It will return at 11:55 p. m., with time for six hours' skiing on Rib mountain. Inquiries regarding the club should be addressed to 59 East Van Buren street, Room 610.

STREATOR OPENS GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY FEB. 21

Record Entry Is Expected for Bouts.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The latest of the cities coöperating in the Golden Gloves campaign to announce sectional dates is Streator, Ill. A charter member in the Tournament of Champions, the Streator Times-Press will hold its tournament Feb. 21 and 22, according to Ralph S. Hart, who added: "We expect a record entry this year."

The Streator tournament will conclude on the same evening Chicago's champions are named in the Coliseum. This meet, Feb. 20, 21, and 22, for the first time in the 13 year history of Chicago's Golden Gloves, brings together all open division boxers in one tournament. And for the first time Chicago will have a team of eight champions. Heretofore Chicago has qualified a score or more of amateur boxers for the Tournament of Champions when the out of town teams come to the Chicago Stadium.

Three Sections in 1931.

In 1931, for instance, there were three Chicago sectional meets—west, north, and south. Later a fourth section was added and thus Chicago qualified 32 boxers for the Tournament of Champions. With the addition of the C. Y. O. champions this gave Chicago a representation of 40 boys. Because of the growth of the Tournament of Champions and since other cities were limited to eight contestants, the Chicago tournament in the Coliseum has been started.

Included in the Coliseum tournament will be the boxing champions of the C. Y. O. who won their titles in the Stadium last December, the boys who win championships in the Illinois Athletic club tournament, and the outstanding amateurs in Chicago and suburbs.

Entries Close Feb. 4.

These experienced boxers may enter the Coliseum tournament until entries close Feb. 4. They may be examined on any of the dates announced—Friday, Jan. 26; Monday, Jan. 29, and Wednesday, Jan. 31. These dates were announced primarily to insure adequate facilities for the physical examinations of the novice boxers who cannot enter the novice tournaments after Jan. 27. The final examination for experienced boxers will be held Feb. 9.

Individual entry blanks may be submitted by all contestants, experienced or inexperienced. The Central association of the A. A. U., thru its secretary, Edwin B. Parkes, as well as the C. Y. O., the Savoy A. C., and other clubs and organizations, is coöperating in presenting Chicago's first city championship tournament.

Team Trophy Offered.

A team trophy will be awarded to the Chicago organization which places the largest number in the semi-finals and championship bouts which will be held in the Coliseum the night of Feb. 22.

Leonard Has an Idea Ballengee Will Take Title

John Ballengee, 1939 Catholic Youth organization featherweight champion, yesterday ended boxing drills for his title bout against Frank Bausone, also of the C. Y. O., in the Illinois Athletic club tomorrow under the direction of Benny Leonard, retired undefeated world professional 135 pound title holder. The Ballengee-Bausone contest is one of eight to be held in the finals of the eighth annual I. A. C. amateur boxing tournament.

Bausone is the 1939 I. A. C. bantamweight champion. He also holds the 1938 C. Y. O. 118 pound title. He worked out in C. Y. O. center yesterday, as did his brother, Anthony, who will meet Ray Brown in tomorrow's bantamweight final. Anthony, 1938 C. Y. O. novice flyweight title holder, finished second to Al Noto in last year's I. A. C. final for the 112 pound title.

CARNEGIE TECH NAMES DR. BAKER FOOTBALL COACH

He steps into the post that Kern resigned to become head coach at West Virginia university because the outlook at Tech seemed as dismal as the Tartans' 1939 grid record. He was given a two year contract.

Baker enrolled at the University of Pittsburgh from Nanticoke, Pa., and was graduated from the school of dentistry in 1931. Like Kern, he was an assistant at Pitt under Dr. John Bain [Jock] Sutherland, but accompanied Kern to Tech at the close of the 1936 season.

Charley Berry, 80, Former White Sox Catcher, Is Dead

Phillipsburg, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP).—Charles J. Berry, 80, former baseball player with the Chicago White Sox, died tonight in his home after a one week's illness. His son, Charles F. Berry, is Philadelphia Athletics coach.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

GENE TUNNEY predicts that Billy Conn's campaign for the heavyweight boxing championship will get nowhere. . . . "It will take a puncher to whip Joe Louis," Tunney explains, "and Conn hasn't got it." . . . Gene's appraisal is interesting in view of the fact that Gene climbed to the top of the field without much of a wallop. . . . Friends of professional boxing in the New York area are almost unanimous that THE TRIBUNE'S recent exposé of fake fights will help to revitalize a sport which had fallen to great depths in public esteem. . . . The Yankees are reported to have boosted the salaries for 1940 of Babe Dahlgren, Charley Keller, Marius Russo, and Joe DiMaggio. . . . Football players from Clemson and Boston college who competed in the Cotton bowl game in Dallas received as souvenirs 10-gallon hats, miniature bales of cotton, and biographies of John Nance Garner. . . . Archie San Romani claims he is in the best condition of his career despite his recent defeat in Boston. . . . The Hutchins influence is felt even in professional sport. . . . Abe Green, New Jersey boxing commissioner, is studying a plan to make all boxers submit to mental as well as physical tests. . . .

More than $300,000,000 will be wagered at American race tracks in 1940 and unless lightning strikes, we probably won't cash a single $2 ticket. . . . When Bartell was with the Giants Feller struck him out 11 straight times in the 1937 spring practice series.

Love's Countersign.

All time stood still for us when o'er the flame
Of brightly glowing match our eyes did meet,
And ever since nothing has been the same
In hours that winged by, divine but fleet—
Again I see the serpentines of smoke
That rose and lazily dissolved away—
There were bright accents to the words we spoke
In whispers that were tremulous but gay;
How dear your eyes that gleamed above the spark
Of your cigaret—it thrilled me thru
For when our lips met there was left a mark
Forever limned upon my heart by you.
Forever on my heart love's countersign
Telling the world I'm yours and you are mine. —Anne C. Korpics.

ARMSTRONG AND MONTANEZ READY FOR TITLE BOUT

Meet Tomorrow Night in Garden.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Lew Burston, manager of Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico, who meets Henry Armstrong Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden in a world welterweight championship bout, is wondering today in every one of the eight languages in his répertoire.

"How," he wondered, "can these odds layers make Henry a 1 to 3 favorite over my boy Pedro?"

Don't See Eye to Eye.

"All you hear around town," Lew went on, "is how Armstrong is going to chase Pedro right out of the Garden. They say my boy has a little 'kyoodle' in him. Well, when did he ever show it,

"They say Armstrong is looking ahead to defending his title against Al Davis this spring, and, beyond that, to vacating the crown so that he can meet Ceferino Garcia for the middleweight championship later.

No Answer, Yet.

"Well, they must be daffy. Here's Pedro with the same record against Lew Ambers as Henry—each split two decisions. Who else whipped Pedro badly? And who knocked him out? He's a strong puncher and he can fight. Yes, sir, the folks are in for a surprise."

There was no answer at the moment, altho in the rival camp, Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, didn't seem particularly worried. His battler wound up training in fine style, a trifle slower than when he was three division champion, but an even deadlier puncher.

The fight will be held in Madison Square Garden March 1 and the winner has been promised a championship bout with Joe Louis.

Commission to Give Thomas Ruling Monday

The Illinois Athletic commission concluded its hearing yesterday on the charges by Harry Thomas, former heavyweight fighter, that he participated in fake bouts with Max Schmeling and Tony Galento. Thomas' charges were printed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Chairman Joe Triner, at the conclusion of yesterday's brief hearing, announced that the commission's decision would be given next Monday afternoon.

Read Trainer's Letter.

Commissioners James R. Fitzpatrick and Sheldon Clark were present yesterday. Nate Lewis, formerly Thomas' manager, and his attorney, Abe Marovitz, also attended the hearing.

A letter from Ted Tanner, former Chicagoan who was Thomas' trainer for his fight with Galento in Philadelphia, Dec. 14, 1938, was read into the record yesterday by Edwin T. Breen, first assistant attorney general of Illinois. Tanner wrote that he believed the fight was on the level and that Thomas was in condition for the fight.

Evidence Is Completed.

With this letter Breen announced that the attorney general's office had completed presentation of evidence. Chairman Triner added that all evidence in the commissioners' hands had been turned over to the attorney general. It was reiterated that opportunity had been offered to hear evidence from any one.

Thomas' affidavit said that it was agreed for him to lose to Max Schmeling in New York, Dec. 13, 1937, after a conference in a hotel in Chicago between Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, and Nate Lewis, his manager.

TELLS WRIGLEY CLUB'S THEORIES CONFUSED HIM

Pitcher's Argument Impresses Owner.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Dizzy Dean's unsigned contract is back in town. With it came what Owner-President P. K. Wrigley of the Cubs described as "a swell letter." The big boss indicated it might not be swell enough to bring forth a boost in the figures on Diz's basic contract, but that he was inclined to work out something that will inspire the pitcher to resume his former greatness.

P. K. Wrigley.

Dizzy Dean.

It was the second bounceback of the Dean document. After the first return the unsigned contract was fired back to Diz unaltered. Apparently the great man hadn't placed enough ardor in his quill in setting down his first letter. It seemed just the gentle, pleading words of a guy who received $21,000 for winning seven games in 1938 and $20,000 for winning six games in 1939, shuddering at the thought of accepting $10,000 in 1940. The letter which came yesterday was something different. Diz really threw some ink on this second try.

Mr. Wrigley Enjoys Himself.

Unsigned contract and the swell letter were received yesterday morning, but Mr. Wrigley didn't get around to reading the letter until near the close of the business day. "It wasn't indifference to Dean," the Cub prexy said. "Baseball contracts aren't important till March and I had a lot of things to do that were important today. I enjoyed the epistle when I got around to it just before leaving my office. I agree with most of the things Diz set forth and I believe he wrote the letter himself.

"Among the things he said was that he was tired of the publicity given his contract negotiations. I think he is justified on that count.

"He writes that there has been a state of great confusion in the Cubs during the time he has been a member of the team. He's right on that count.

"He says that he's been mixed up all the time he's been a Cub. One doctor after another. Each one suggested a different treatment. He says that everybody from the batboy to me has forwarded theories as to what's wrong with him and the proper cure. I can't give him an argument on that.

Cubs Have No Quarrel with Dean.

"Diz says he is not afraid of work. He points to the fact that the hardest work he ever did was for a salary less than the reduced amount we have offered him. There is evidence of the truth of this contention.

"He says he feels fine, now that he has recovered from the shock brought on by having a bad wisdom tooth and a good molar extracted. I have no proof of this, but hope he is right."

Previously Ol' Diz has assured friends that he is feeling just dandy now that he has healed from his Jan. 10 joust with his Dallas dentist. These reassuring words have reached the Cub office and naturally everybody hopes that forceps have solved everything.

The Cub attitude toward Diz was friendly even before receipt of the "swell letter." The feeling is abroad that Diz last year would not have been a winning pitcher even if some miracle suddenly had given him back his Cardinal arm. During the year, it was recalled, Diz from time to time was beset by shin splints, telephone tables, and a slight paunch. These attacks all came before the wisdom tooth trouble, and tho they seem widely divergent aggravations there probably is some relation among the three prewisdom tooth maladies. This is not the time to go into that.

Dizzy to Be on His Own.

Last winter there were frequent home office checkups of Dean's condition. This winter, it is said, no effort has been made to diagnose the former pitching star, either to the condition of his arm or general physical status. There was no committee of experts in the dental parlor when Diz had his misery and no surveyor has focused on the length of his belt.

Diz this winter and this spring, according to announced plans, will be strictly on his own. It is up to him to get in shape and pitch winning baseball. He will not be babied and he will not be kibitzed, unless some one breaks out in a rash and upsets the present plan. The great man will be asked to make the team just as tho he'd never earned his letter on a varsity squad.

YANKS REQUEST INTERPRETATION OF LANDIS RULING

Durham, N. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The New York Yankees today asked W. G. Branham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues [the minor leagues] to return working agreements made within their farm organizations as a result of sections of a recent seven point ruling by Kenesaw Landis, commissioner of baseball.

Seven agreements, the Yankees said, are affected. The St. Louis Cardinals recalled working agreements last week with 10 minor league clubs.

George M. Weiss, secretary of the Yankees and chief of their farms advised Bramham he hoped some clarification or interpretation of the points involved in the commissioner's ruling would be made, enabling his club to continue its farm operations.

Yankees Want to Be Sure.

Weiss informed Bramham that the Yankees wished to operate legally and in baseball's best interests and did not desire to jeopardize any franchise or league, but felt that further clarification of two points in the commissioner's ruling is necessary to permit the club to plan operations along approved and practical lines.

The points Weiss wants cleared up are known as "Nos. 3 and 5" in Landis' recent program governing activities of the minors. They are:

"Players must not be placed with other clubs, except under proper transfer agreements, duly filed for promulgation, which agreement must be optional assignments, if the assignor desired to retain the right of acquisition, exercisable before the player has passed thru a selection period at which he is subject to selection.

Insists on Direct Agreements.

"Working agreements "must be executed by the club actually making same, and must not be executed in the names of affiliated subsidiary clubs to which the major or other higher classification club supplies the necessary funds, therefor by loans, advances, capital stock subscriptions, player purchases or other methods whatsoever."

Working agreements recalled by the Yankees were betwen Newark, N. J., and Augusta, Ga.; Kansas City, Mo., and Joplin, Mo.; Akron, O., and Butler, Pa.; Akron, O., and Neosho, Mo.; Akron, O., and Norfolk, Neb.; Binghamton, N. Y., and Wenatchee, Wash., and Binghamton, N. Y. and Amsterdam, N. Y.

Ball State of Muncie Defeats DePauw, 40 to 36

JIMMY BRITT, 60, FORMER BOXING CHAMPION, DIES

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 22 (AP).—Jimmy Britt, 60 years old, former claimant of the lightweight boxing championship, was found dead today. Deputy Coroner Michael Brown said Britt apparently died of a heart attack.

After knocking out George [Kid] Lavigne and Frank Erne, former holder of the title, in 1902, Britt was recognized in some quarters as champion. The division limit at that time was 133 pounds, a weight Joe Gans, who had won the championship from Franke Erne in 1902, was said to have been unable to make.

Britt was dethroned by Battling Nelson in San Francisco Sept. 9, 1905. Nelson then clinched his claim by knocking out Gans in 17 rounds in San Francisco July 4, 1908.

Sox May Sign Haas

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 22 [Special].—Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, said today George [Mule] Haas, his former teammate with the Athletics and Sox, will be signed as a coach if the club replaces Billy Webb, recently promoted as chief of Chicago's minor league farms.

Dykes, Haas, and Harold [Muddy] Ruel, White Sox coach, are here as instructors in a baseball school. Haas and Dykes have been close friends for almost two decades. Haas started the 1939 season as manager of the Oklahoma City team in the Texas league, but left in midseason.

GEORGIA TECH ELEVEN TO PLAY AT NOTRE DAME

Announcement was delayed until Layden's return from Atlanta, Ga., where he settled with Georgia Tech officials the site of the Yellowjackets' game with the Irish next fall. The Orange bowl champions, co-champions of the Southeastern conference, will play at Notre Dame Oct. 12.

The Illini and College of Pacific are the only newcomers. Purdue and Southern Mechodist have not been scheduled for 1940. Traditional series with Carnegie Tech, Army, Navy, Northwestern, and Southern California will be continued. Iowa will repay Notre Dame's 1939 visit to Iowa City, appearing here Nov. 16. The complete nine-game card follows:

Oct. 5—College of Pacific at Notre Dame; Oct. 12—Georgia Tech at Notre Dame; Oct. 19—Carnegie Tech at Notre Dame; Oct. 26—Illinois at Champaign; Nov. 2—Army at New York; Nov. 9—Navy at Baltimore; Nov. 16—Iowa at Notre Dame; Nov. 23—Northwestern at Evanston; Dec. 7—Southern California at Los Angeles.

Ruth Figures He's Thru with Game for Good

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Babe Ruth, the greatest figure of baseball's modern age, has given up hope of ever returning to the game he glorified for two decades.

A mellow, bulging fellow living on the annuities he had the good sense to lay away with part of the million dollars he earned in baseball, the Babe doesn't seem sorry.

"Yeh, I guess I'm out of it," Ruth said today. "I've got a comfortable home here and no worries. I get a few odd jobs to do, but mostly I keep busy trying to hold down my weight. I play a lot of table tennis and golf, go hunting, and I've got one of those electric horses, too.

"I was out hunting all last week—got a bunch of birds and a bad cold."

A Reserved Babe Ruth.

He's a different Bambino now from the rollicking, carefree character who caused the record books to be rewritten, received up to $80,000 a year from the New York Yankees, squandered possibly a quarter of a million in luxurious living, and paid some $20,000 in baseball fines.

He weighs 243 pounds, 15 or 20 above his playing weight, and will be 46 years old Feb. 7. Gray is beginning to show on his temples. Somehow it was a melancholy scene as the Babe lounged in a smoking jacket amidst his trophies and remarked:

"I don't go to the games much any more. Every time I go I ruin a suit of clothes getting thru the crowd. Somebody spilled ink all down the back of my coat the last time."

Altho he doesn't see much of it, Ruth still likes to talk about baseball and compare the old days with the present. He'll be heading south next month—to take a place on the faculty of a baseball school.

Raps Exhibition Games.

The Babe's well known antipathy to exhibition games cropped up when he declared: "There'll never be any more 20 year players. They burn out too fast. A week after training camp opens they start playing games and then wonder why the players get sore arms and charley horses. They play 35 or 40 exhibition games in the spring and during the season, so that a player appears in nearly 200 games a season. Why, I started with Boston in 1914 and we never had a single exhibition game until 1918."

Steered into later channels, Ruth praised the present Yankees. "They're a great ball club and I think they'll be on top for a long time. Do you know who made this team? Joe Gordon. He came along just at the right time. The club needed a spark and he gave it."

Then this question—is anybody going to break his record of 60 home runs in a season? He mused:

"I hope not . . . I hope not; not while I'm alive."

Toledo U. Five Is Next Coliseum Foe for De Paul

The University of Toledo basketball team will be the opponents of the De Paul Blue Demons Monday night in the Coliseum, after Loyola plays Butler in the first game of the double header.

To date, the Rockets, coached by Harold Anderson, whose teams have won 74 games and lost only 27 in 6 years, have been victors in 12 of 14 games. Numbered among their victims are the University of Iowa, which fell 54 to 30, and Cornell, which lost 45 to 29.

Tom Haggerty, De Paul coach, anticipates about the same kind of opposition from the Rockets as was provided a week ago by the University of Detroit. The Rockets are tall, rugged, play intelligent basketball, and have several high scorers, according to Haggerty.

The De Paul coach is satisfied with the Demons' 32 to 22 victory last Saturday night over the University of Chicago despite the criticism that the De Paul five tightened up against the Maroons.

One DiMaggio Can't Forget About Another

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 22 (AP).—There is something in a name, after all, and in Vincent DiMaggio's case, it's his biggest handicap.

So says Billy Meyer, manager of the Kansas City Blues, who peddled the eldest of the ball-playing DiMaggios to the Cincinnati Reds last summer for a reported $40,000.

"Vincent has an inferiority complex," explained Meyer, who is spending the winter on his farm near here.

"He thinks Joe [his New York Yankee ball-busting brother] is the big stuff of the family, and he doesn't push himself forward as much as he could.

Who You Selling, Billy?

"If he would forget Joe and play the game according to his own ability, I believe he would be just as valuable to the Reds as Joe is to the Yankees."

Meyer says Vincent is just a shade behind Joe as a fielder and his throwing arm is as accurate, although not as strong.

But when they step to the plate, the margin is all in Joe's favor. Even that deficiency could be cut down materially, Meyer suggests, if Vince would only take a cue from his younger brother.

Vince Steps In.

"Joe stands flat-footed and hits mostly with his wrists. Sometimes it looks like the ball is already past him and he'll hit it out of the park," Meyer said.

"Vincent, on the other hand, steps into the ball and doesn't utilize his wrists enough. In my opinion, he would be a greater hitter if he would adopt Joe's wrist action."

Vincent led the American association last season in home runs with 46 and total bases with 346, altho his batting mark of .290 was far down the list.

PAN-AMERICAN OLYMPIC SCHEME GAINS IN FAVOR

A. A. U. Plans Permanent Games.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 22 (AP).—The president of the National Amateur Athletic union, Lorenzo di Benedetto, declared today the Pan-American games were a certainty for this year and might become a permanent event for western hemisphere nations.

"This would certainly solidify relations of the Americas," he said. "Of course, it calls for time and first we must get a full organization set up to start the 1940 games."

He said plans for staging the games this summer, in lieu of the Olympics which are among the war casualties, had "passed the talking stage," with work already under way for organizing a definite program.

Looks Beyond 1940.

But the A. A. U. committee which he appointed to take steps for the 1940 games, he added, is looking beyond this year toward a permanent periodic meet for the Americas.

"The committee, with other organizations taking part, expects to prepare a constitution for an international association to have jurisdiction over the Pan-American games every four years or oftener if desired," he said. "The association would award the games to different countries just as the international Olympic committee does."

The A. A. U. president said Latin American countries were "ready to participate," and that the first suggestion for Pan-American games to supplant the Olympics this year came from Alexander Hogarty, an American who is athletic director of Ecuador.

Several Cities Bid.

Miguel Moenck, a Tulane graduate and chairman of the Cuban Olympic committee, has told Di Benedetto Havana would like to stage such games.

The A. A. U. Pan-American games committee appointed by Di Benedetto met in New York last week and invited officials of 32 other sports controling bodies to join and form an organization "really representative of all sports." They are going on the assumption that Finland will have to relinquish her plans for the Olympics by the deadline allowed her, April 1.

Cities bidding for the games include Philadelphia, with a $500,000 offer; Los Angeles, offering to match any other city's cash and throw in whatever is available from 1932 Olympic facilities, and San Francisco.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR PLAY IN CITY TITLE CUE MATCH

Final details of play in the city title three cushion billiard match between Joe Moriarity, defending champion, and Rudy Helberg of the Hamilton club were arranged last night. The three block match of 150 points will open in the 131 South Wabash recration tomorrow night.

Both players last night agreed to have Referee Henry Evanson mark the position of the balls on the table and place them in play for succeeding blocks. Previously it had been agreed to have the players lag for the break. The second block will be played in the Hamilton club and the third on Friday will return to the 131 South Wabash recreation.

Moriarity recently won the city title in a round robin tournament. Helberg, a former city champion, was ill at the time of the meet and was unable to play.

TWO PLAYERS SOLD.

Mitchell, S. D., Jan. 22 (AP).—Sale of Virgil Richardson, first baseman, and Doe Liepelt, pitcher and utility man, to Fort Worth was announced today by Paul Weiser, president of the Mitchell Western League Baseball club.

"I Get Boiling Mad when folks FREEZE beer so the flavor can't be appreciated"

Richard Seibold, MEISTER BRÄU BREWMASTER

DRINK BEER at 50 degrees and taste real beer flavor. Then I know you'll join the thousands who prefer our Old-Time Brew

MAYBE I'm too fussy about serving beer at the right temperature. But ice-cold beer is wrong. There's no use putting the finest grains in a brew just to have the flavor over-chilled so you can't recognize it. We might as well add sugars or syrups and save time and money. We might as well add artificial gas when we bottle instead of using only natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

Beer flavor, good or bad, shows up at about 50 degrees. If you want to know what kind of beer you're drinking, drink it at 50 degrees. That means, take an ice-cold bottle out of the refrigerator and let it stand until it's the proper temperature.

Do that and you'll never again say, "Give me a bottle of Beer." You'll know it pays to ask for the brand you prefer. For 49 years we've made a beer for the 50-degree drinkers—the beer cranks. Order Meister Bräu today and I'll stake my reputation on your verdict if you make the "50-degrees" test.

STEEL INDUSTRY CUTS OUTPUT TO 82.2% THIS WEEK

Steel mills will cut their operating schedules this week to 82.2 per cent of theoretical ingot capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute reported yesterday. This is a drop of 2.6 points from the 84.8 per cent rate last week . It is still, however, a gain over the 73.7 per cent rate of the Christmas holiday period and the rate of 51.2 per cent a year earlier.

Steel men said the lower operating rate was caused largely by a continued decline in new buying. The present high rates, they reported, are in part being maintained by heavy backlogs.

Steel Inventories Larger.

Meanwhile, the magazine Steel, in a report augmenting its earlier weekly survey of the nation's steel operations, said that inventories of buyers increased eight per cent in November and December, and that since Sept. 1, 1939, stocks have expanded 21 per cent.

Several hundred representative companies were questioned by the magazine in a recent survey, and gave total steel inventories as of Oct. 31 at $14,144,424, while on Dec. 31, the value of their stocks was up eight per cent to $15,281,030.

"The increase in amount of material on hand," the publication said, "apparently may be attributed to inventory additions by larger buyers. Major consumers boosted their stocks 10.6 per cent between Oct. 31 and the end of the year."

Reports Gain in East.

Daily Metal Trade, another steel trade publication, reported that miscellaneous buying of finished steel products showed signs of increasing in some producing areas.

"In the east," the publication reported, "orders are reported up slightly. While many large tonnage buyers continue out of the market, some are finding it necessary to give attention to replacements. Export buying is also noticably better."

EGG PRICES PUSH AHEAD, RESULT OF COLD WEATHER

The strong demand for eggs influenced by last week's subzero weather persisted yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. January refrigerater egg prices rose to 19.1 cents a dozen, the highest price paid for a reserve contract since last July, and closed at 18.9 cents, up 1.4 cents over Saturday's level.

January firsts advanced 1.05 cents to 22.05 and the February contract closed at 17.95, up 0.2 cent. Cash prices were also higher.

Butter futures were steady, with the current delivery unchanged at 29.1 cents a pound.

PULP FOR RAYON.

I think it was Rayonier, Inc., that announced early this month that it had made bleached sulfite pulp in commercial quantities from southern pine for the first time. Where is its plant? Can you tell me the extent of the company's operations and its earnings?—J. M.

Answer: Commercial production of bleached sulfite pulp from southern pine was started recently by Rayonier, Inc., at its new $8,000,000 mill at Fernandina, Fla. The company announced that the plant can produce 64,000 tons of pulp a year. With this mill added to four others in the state of Washington, the company's total potential output is more than 300,000 tons of pulp a year.

Most of the company's refined pulp is of the type known as "dissolving pulp," which is used extensively in the manufacture of rayon yarn, cellophane, staple fiber, and other cellulose products. The dissolving pulp is bought by leading manufacturers of artificial silks and other cellulose products in the United States, Japan, France, England, and Belgium.

Rayonier, Inc., was formed in 1937 to consolidate three pulp and paper properties. The company has outstanding $7,250,000 in promissory notes, 626,205½ shares of $2 cumulative preferred stock of $25 par value, and 963,872 shares of $1 par common stock.

Arrears on the preferred stock on Jan. 1, 1940, totaled $2.50 a share after 50 cents was paid on Dec. 20, 1939. Nothing has been paid on the common stock since an initial dividend of 50 cents a share on Jan. 3, 1938.

The agreement under which the promissory notes were issued prevents the payment of any dividends unless, after such disbursements, current assets exceed current liabilities by at least $3,000,000. The preferred stock is entitled to cumulative dividends of $2 a share each year.

Net income of the company in the fiscal year ended April 30, 1939, fell to $1,176,647, equal to $1.88 a preferred share, from $3,124,703, or $4.99 a preferred share, and $1.94 a common share in the preceding year. Net income in the half year ended Oct. 31, 1939, was $870,152, or 25 cents a common share, compared with net loss of $118,370 in the corresponding period of 1938.

DOMINGUEZ OIL.

I was told by a friend in the securities business to buy some stock in Dominguez Oil Fields company. What is this company's business?—F. S.

Answer: The Dominguez Oil Fields company receives almost its entire income from interests in leaseholds on oil and gas properties in the Dominguez field in the Los Angeles (Cal.) oil basin. The wells are operated by other companies.

HEAD OF SOAP FIRM GETS TOP SALARY IN 1938

Francis A. Countway Received $469,713.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—A soap manufacturer received the highest salary from a corporation paid in this country in 1938, according to figures released today by the treasury. The biggest pay check, amounting to $469,713, went to Francis A. Countway, president of the Lever Brothers company of Cambridge, Mass., makers of soap and glycerin.

Francis A. Countway.

But the motion picture and automobile industries continued to pay the largest number of big salaries, altho there were not as many in the upper brackets as in 1937, when the top salary was more than $1,000,000.

The list made available today is still incomplete, as some of the corporations had not yet reported to the treasury.

List Salaries Over $75,000.

Publication of salaries this year is limited to those officers and employés receiving more than $75,000. Congress raised the limit for publication from $15,000 per year, beginning with 1938 salaries.

Previously the house ways and means committee made the salaries public, but this year the job was turned over to the treasury. Congress also made it unlawful for any person to sell "sucker lists" of the salary reports and provided stiff penalties for violation.

There were only seventeen persons making more than $200,000 a year in the list of more than 400 names issued today. In 1937 a total of 63 salaries of $200,000 or more was reported.

The second highest salary in 1938, according to the list, was paid to Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines corporation, who received $453,440. His regular salary was $100,000, but was augmented by other compensation of $353,440. A bonus of $439,713 was also responsible for pushing Countway to the top of the list. His regular salary was $30,000.

Thomas J. Watson.

Four persons made between $300,000 and $400,000, the list showed. Among these were George W. Hill, president of the American Tobacco company, $331,348; Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel company, $378,698, and William S. Knudsen president of General Motors corporation, $303,400.

General Motors had 16 salaries of $100,000 or more; E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. had 5.

An outstanding feature of this year's report was the cut in salary for William Randolph Hearst, publisher, who received $100,000 in 1938 as president of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc. In 1936 and 1937 he reported salaries in each year of $500,000.

Ford, Rockefeller Not on List.

The names of many wealthy individuals whose income is derived chiefly from investments were not included in the list. Only those whose income represented salary or other compensation from corporations were covered. This explained the absence from the list of Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, and others among the country's wealthiest men.

Among Illinois salaries were the following: Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, $100,550; Sewell L. Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co., $100,450; Gen. R. E. Wood, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., $98,076; and Kenneth G. Smith, president of the Pepsodent company, $155,806.

An interesting item in the salary list: Frank C. and George A. Ball, president and vice president, respectively, of Ball Brothers' company, Muncie, Ind., received a bonus of $5 apiece in addition to their salaries of $100,000 each in 1938.

Midland Firm's Assets Placed at 20 Millions

An appraisal fixing the assets of the Midland Utilities company at more than 20 million dollars was filed yesterday in federal court at Wilmington, Del. Midland Utilities is one of the defunct holding companies of the former Insull utilities empire.

The report containing the appraisal, in process for about a year, was filed by the trustees of the company with Judge John P. Nields. The trustees, Clarence A. Southerland, a Wilmington attorney, and Jay Samuel Hartt, Chicago consulting engineer, said the appraisal showed the assets worth considerably more than had been estimated previously.

About a year ago, it was understood, an offer of less than $10,000,000 was made for the assets.

Value Exceeds 20 Millions.

Total assets of Midland Utilities were fixed in the report at $20,831,234 as of Aug. 31, 1939. They consisted principally of investments in affiliated companies.

Filing of the appraisal fixes a valuation against which claims may now be made. Daniel Hastings, former United States senator from Delaware, has been appointed a special master to conduct hearings on the claims. Hastings has indicated his willingness to come to Chicago to conduct the hearings. No date has yet been set for the hearings in Chicago, according to the law firm of Haight, Goldstein & Hobbs, representing the trustees.

The Securities and Exchange commission recently intervened in the Midland Utilities bankruptcy proceedings, according to the law firm.

Stocks Listed as Assets.

Among the assets listed in the trustees' report were the following: 1,806,870 shares of Northern Indiana Public Service company common stock, appraised at $13,000,000; 42,598 shares of Chicago, South Shore and South Bend railroad, $2,720,000; 360,000 shares of Gary Electric and Gas company common stock, $2,325,000; demand notes of Hobart Light and Water company, $479,153, and notes of Indiana Service corporation, $1,300,000. Total investments in subsidiary companies were listed at $19,875,000.

Recent appreciation in values of many of the securities were responsible in part for the gain in Midland Utilities assets, according to the trustees.

CANADA STUDIES PLAN TO CONTROL WHEAT EXPORTS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 22 (AP).—An Official disclosure that the dominion cabinet is considering government control of wheat exports wrote a sequel tonight to a storm of protest aroused last week in the Ontario legislature by the reported sale of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to Russia.

The disclosure was made by a spokesman for the privy council, who said the matter had been discussed at a long cabinet council meeting this afternoon. He added "a statement may be issued tomorrow."

Members of the Ontario legislature, deploring the sale of wheat to Russia, predicted it eventually would be fed to German soldiers, who next spring "will be firing at our Canadian boys."

Postal Receipts in 1939 Rise Above 753 Millions

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Postmaster James Farley announced today that receipts for the 12 months totaled $753,867,444, a $25,035,805 increase over revenue of $728,831,639 for the 1938 calendar year, the previous record mark. Farley said postal business during the recent Christmas holiday period was larger by a million dollars than in any previous December. The month's revenues amounted to $88,943,338, compared with $87,889,911 for December, 1938.

MIDWESTERN STATES FILE COMPLAINTS ON RAILWAY RATE CUTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Five mid-western states petitioned the interstate commerce commission today to reconsider its recent decision in the north-south freight rate case. The states were Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

The commission ordered lower rates effective Feb. 1 on a dozen manufactured articles moving from southern producing areas into the north. Southerners said it established the precedent that reasonably uniform rates should apply from adjacent producing areas to common markets.

The mid-western states, in a joint brief, charged that the commission failed to follow "appropriate rate-making factors" but predicated its decision "upon the economic effect" which the new rates are calculated to produce.

"The record indicates that there are forces far greater than the differences in rate levels which are at work on the industrial development of the south and that despite any alleged rate handicaps, southern territory is in a prosperous and flourishing condition and growing at the expense of northern competitors and communities," the petition said.

SETTLE $400,000 SUIT INVOLVING PRESIDENT'S SON

Boston, Mass., Jan. 22 (AP).—Settlement was announced today of a $400,000 suit brought in federal court against the National Grain Yeast corporation of Bellville, N. J., by Cornelius C. Sheridan, who claimed the money was due him for securing the services of James Roosevelt, the President's son, as president of the yeast company.

The amount of the settlement, termed "satisfactory" by Sheridan's attorney, was not disclosed.

A former prohibition agent, Sheridan contended he had been promised a quarter interest in the corporation for using his influence with Miss Margaret Lehand, the President's private secretary, to arrange an appointment with the younger Roosevelt when the corporation was trying to find a "socially prominent" president. Roosevelt occupied the $35,000 a year post about four months, in 1935, according to the action.

MEXICO ACCEPTS TANKER TO START LARGE OIL FLEET

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO, Jan. 22.—Mexico today laid the corner stone of its future fleet of tankers when Mexican oil monopoly officials accepted delivery in Tampico of the 80,000 barrel Norwegian Binta and rechristened it Cerro Azul, after one of Mexico's famous gushers.

Before the end of the year the fleet should have grown to ten units, according to President Lazaro Cardenas' new year's proclamation, and to 25, according to Mexican oil monopoly officials. This includes three large tankers being built for Mexico in Italy under a barter agreement.

Passenger Automobile Sales Put at 2,655,833 in 1939

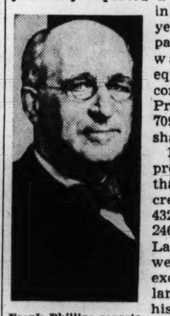
Caterpillar Has Sharp Gain in Year's Income

The Caterpillar Tractor company yesterday reported a sharp increase in net income last year. The company's net profit was $6,004,890, equal to $3.19 a common share. Profit was $3,235,709, or $1.41 a share, in 1938.



Frank Phillips reports gain for oil firm.

B. C. Heacock, president, said that net sales increased to $58,432,921 from $48,246,139 in 1938. Last year's sales were, with one exception, the largest in the history of the company. The peak was established in 1937, when volume was $63,183,488.

On Nov. 25, 1939, the company retired all of its outstanding 5 per cent preferred stock.

Oil Company Has Gain.

Net profits of the Phillips Petroleum company last year equaled about $2.20 a share on the capital stock, Frank Phillips, chairman of the oil company, reported. The company earned $2.03 a share in 1938.

Phillips said indications pointed to a better 1940 first quarter than the company experienced last year, when net was $1,485,533, or 33 cents a share.

"Fundamental factors point to a very satisfactory year in 1940," he said. "It does not seem probable that the [oil] industry will destroy its own opportunities thru an unjustified accumulation of gasoline and crude oil stocks."

Net income of Bliss & Laughlin, Inc., increased to $672,422, or $2.49 a common share, in the year ended Dec. 31. This compared with $52,062, or 19 cents a share, in 1938.

Procter & Gamble Sets Record.

Procter & Gamble company reported net income for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1939, amounted to $14,586,538, the largest for the period in the company's history. This equaled $2.23 a share and compared with $11,882,261, or $1.79 a share, in the corresponding 1938 period. The company manufactures soap and related products.

Alfred Decker & Cohn, Inc., reported consolidated net loss for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1939, was reduced to $66,762 from $242,051 in the preceding fiscal year. The company manufacturers men's clothing which it sells at wholesale.

Net profit of the Dayton Rubber Manufacturing company for the year ended Oct. 31, 1939, was $783,581, or $3.91 a common share. In the preceding year the company, which manufactures tires and other rubber products, earned $472,548.

Holds Bank Stockholders of Record Incur Liability

New York, Jan. 22 [Special.]—A United States Circuit Court of Appeals decision that "persons who allow their names to appear on a bank's records as outright owners of stock are liable for assessment on the stock," even tho they are not the actual owners, was handed down here today by Judge Robert F. Patterson. The court sustained a lower court's ruling that Morgan Turner & Co. and Dill & Co. must pay an assessment on 150 shares of stock in the Richmond National bank, which failed in 1933.

HINT TREASURY AID IN EMPIRES' WAR PURCHASES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—There were indications today that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and the procurement division of the treasury are again operating on behalf of the British and French governments in the procurement of military supplies in the United States.

Pressed by reporters for his part in military purchases by the empires' purchasing agency in this country, the secretary said his position is the same as it was last spring when he told the senate military affairs committee of assistance given the French in buying military planes.

Testimony Unveils Scandal.

The secret testimony given at that time unveiled the scandal of releasing to the French for inspection and purchase a Douglas attack bombing plane, which was regarded by the United States army as its No. 1 military secret.

The Douglas bomber crashed at Los Angeles just a year ago tomorrow, killing an American test pilot and injuring a representative of the French air ministry. It was this accident that revealed that President Roosevelt had personally ordered favors to France in airplane orders.

Testimony before the senate committee had disclosed that the President had appointed a special interdepartmental committee, consisting of the treasury, war, and navy departments, to assist the French mission in making airplane purchases.

Intercede for French.

It was disclosed then that Morgenthau and William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, had interceded for the French and succeeded in overriding the objection of the war department to release of the military secrets embodied in the experimental plane. Morgenthau had been requested to testify on the activities of the procurement division, which had not previously been interested in purchasing planes.

At that time Morgenthau described his position as follows:

"It was the thought that if the procurement division could assist this French mission it would be helpful to them as a friendly nation. What we have been trying to do is to give them a common meeting ground in the procurement division to meet American manufacturers who have something to sell for cash."

Within the last week interest has been stimulated in the treasury's activities as related to foreign orders. Morgenthau explained away his recent visit to the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant in Baltimore as merely for the purpose of seeing "a modern, up to date factory." He said further that he will visit more factories within the next few months.

Reported Studying Expansion.

Asked today about reports that the British are preparing to spend a billion dollars for military purchases in this country and that Morgenthau has been trying to find means to facilitate the expansion of airplane factories to permit filling of British and French orders, Morgenthau replied:

"There's no mystery, but I have nothing to say. The position is exactly the same as when I testified before the senate military affairs committee last spring. The testimony is there and the position I'm taking is not different. . . . I'm not doing anything now that is different from the situation then."

Indications were that he would be willing to tell congress about his activities, if so requested. It is understood that the empires are desirous of getting 8,000 or more planes as soon as possible.

Chicago's Only Aircraft Firm Delivers New '40 Model Planes

Howard Aircraft corporation, the only airplane manufacturing company in Chicago, delivered five new 1940 model planes to purchasers in 41 days ended Jan. 10, Ben O. Howard, president, announced yesterday.

Ben O. Howard.

He made his annual report to the stockholders for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1939, describing progress made in expanding personnel and plant facilities, and discussing the new model ships.

"In the last month of the fiscal year," he said, "the first of the 1940 models, with a 450 horse power motor, satisfactorily completed tests by the Civil Aeronautics authority and was licensed. In December, the second of the 1940 models, with a 330 horse power motor, was approved.

Two Commissions Buy Planes.

"Between the end of the fiscal year and Jan. 10, five of the new models were delivered to purchasers—one to the CAA and one to the Aeronautics commission of Illinois. A recently established distributor of Howard planes in the southwest and two private purchasers accounted for the other three."

Howard said his company had a loss of $87,846 for the fiscal year, compared with a loss of $40,141 in the preceding year. No new planes were completed and delivered between April and the end of November, last year, Howard said, because funds from the company's new financing had not been received as quickly as had been expected.

Handicapped by Lack of Funds.

Half the fiscal year elapsed, stockholders were told, before any of the funds were received. The new financing to which the report referred was an offering of 400,000 shares of common stock made last February at a price to net the company $2.50 a share. Howard's report showed that 243,600 shares of common stock remained unsold last Nov. 30.

Howard said that after funds became available, the company expanded its engineering department and production facilities.

Declaring that the 1940 model planes are adaptable to such semi-military uses as ambulance service and transition training service, Howard said they were designed at the same time for the five passenger personal transport field.

"The management is now going aggressively after sales," he said, "and for the first time can make deliveries with reasonable promptness."

SEC CONSIDERS RULE FOR COMPETING BIDS ON UTILITIES' ISSUES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission was reported today to be considering promulgation of an order that would force competitive bidding among investment bankers for certain utility issues.

In Wall street it was said three members of the five man commission have come to this way of thinking, assuring action on the matter in the near future.

Altho the utility holding company act does not cover the subject in direct language, it does provide for "arm's length bargaining" between utilities and underwriters, and this phrase is to be interpreted, it is believed, as meaning full competitive bidding by bankers, such as is customary now in issuance of municipal bonds.

Privately negotiated underwriting is alleged by many to be one of the chief levers used by Wall street bankers for the control or domination of utilities and industrials scattered thruout the country.

CANNERS HEAR AMERICA'S PLAN FOR FUTURE WAR

Army Man Tells Vast Industrial Needs.

Representatives of America's billion dollar canning industry yesterday heard Maj. Paul P. Logan of the Army Industrial college at Washington, D.C., tell of the army's plans to mobilize business and industry into a gigantic war machine on "M-day," the day when the United States next enters a war.

J. C. Garand designed new rifle.

More than 10,000 factories already have been allocated for wartime production, Maj. Logan said, and more than 50,000 industries have been surveyed. Some of the factories already allocated "are very large," he said, citing the fact that the far-flung General Motors corporation is a single allocation.

Canners' Convention Opens.

Maj. Logan spoke at the 33d annual convention of the National Canners' association, which opened yesterday at the Stevens hotel. The convention, the food industry's biggest annual meeting, drew an estimated 15,000 persons representing several hundred companies to Chicago.

Allied conventions being held concurrently are the Canning Machinery and Supplies association, whose machinery exhibits are set up in the Stevens, and the National Food Brokers association, which is meeting at the Palmer House.

Scattered among other Chicago hotels are more than a score of conventions and conferences sponsored by industries related to canning—bakers, pickle packers, macaroni

WITNESS TO A YOUNG CITY'S COURAGE

THEY SAID the Great Fire of '71 would never cross the river. It did—and swept hungrily northward another two and a half miles. Where it passed little remained . . . little besides the new Water Tower. Fortunately the flames were no match for this sturdy structure—or for the courageous spirit of Chicago's 300,000 inhabitants.

After the two most terrifying days in its history, the city started to rebuild. And it built better than before. Wider streets, better paving, more adequate water systems, more fireproof buildings.

All these things the "Old Water Tower" saw. And as Chicago grew, affection for the Tower grew, too. Today, to three and one-half million Chicagoans, it stands as a symbol of strength and boundless vigor. A symbol of that Chicago of other days which would not be discouraged.

In financial circles, a well-known landmark is The Northern Trust Company. New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Backwardness of steels dampened rallying spirit in today's stock market. Altho early declines running to a point or so were chipped down at the close, few issues were able to emerge with plus signs.

The news was colorless marketwise. The majority of traders seemed disposed to conserve their cash pending more definite light on business trends, politics, the congressional economy swing, and the European wars.

the steel group to progress, however, soon led to a slip in other departments. From then on prices moved more or less to the losing side.

Altho an estimated drop of 2.6 points in this week's steel mill operating rate was hardly a surprise to speculative forces, it served to keep the metal shares in the unpopular class.

Further confirmation of recessionary tendencies in industry were seen in cuts of ¾ of a cent a pound in copper and zinc. The copper rates were the lowest since last October. Copper shares, however, were moderately resistant, Kennecott ending up a trifle while Anaconda and American Smelting were off minor amounts.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Investment demand for high priced industrials and utilities combined with speculative activity in secondary rails to keep the bond market on an even keel today. Gains, however, were in most cases fractional, and at the close many issues were unchanged or in the minus column with small losses.

One of the stabilizing influences in the day's business was a turnabout in bonds of Standard Gas and Electric company in the curb. These issues, under heavy pressure last week on unconfirmed rumors a subsidiary of the company might encounter governmental opposition in revamping its capital structure, ended ¼ to 1½ points up on fairly heavy sales.

United States government issues were virtually without dealings.

Chicago Stocks.

Declines were about twice as numerous as advances in yesterday's trading on the Chicago Stock exchange. Commonwealth Edison was the volume leader with a turnover of 2,700 shares. It closed unchanged from the price level of Saturday.

Bank Stocks.

Prices of most Chicago bank stocks were steady yesterday. Continental Illinois declined ½ point to 90, and First National rose 1 point to 236. Prices follow:

BRITISH ADVISED TO PUT SAVINGS INTO WAR CHEST

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A suggestion for the creation of a representative body charged with the task of discovering broad principles from which might be evolved an anti-inflation policy for the British government that would command the consent of all sections of the people is contained in the pamphlet, "Our Wartime Economy—the Menace of Inflation." The pamphlet has just been issued by the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' association.

Inflation is described as "the most unjust, disorderly, and inefficient manner in which the transfer of resources from the satisfaction of civilian demands to the service of the nation can be made."

Taxation or Lending.

It is emphasized that if monetary inflation is to be avoided the cost of the war must be met either by taxation or by lending current income. The suggestion is made that the process of lending is much more favorable to the citizen. The pamphlet says:

"If the prospective lender were shown clearly that the only alternatives to his voluntary saving and lending were inflation or expropriation by taxation then saving, even at the cost of some reduction of his present standard of living, would appeal to him as the more attractive proposition."

The authors of the pamphlet describe as a most dangerous illusion the idea that modern war can be conducted without some large sections of the population having to suffer reductions in their standards of living. But it is urged that such temporary reductions in the standard of living shall be imposed "so as to conform to the highest possible standards of justice."

Urges Compulsory Lending.

Among the proposals put forward are an extention of the income tax to cover all wage earners, stabilizations and suspension of wage movements by regulation based on the cost of living index, and some form of compulsory lending along the lines proposed by John Maynard Keynes, noted British economist.

REPUBLICANS DIG UP OLD SPEECHES TO HAUNT HULL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Republicans dug up today what they said were some old speeches by Secretary Hull complaining of tariff powers granted Republican Presidents. The speeches were offered the ways and means committee by Representative Crowther [R., N. Y.] in the assault by his party on the Roosevelt reciprocal trade program. Hull has asked renewal of the program permitting the executive branch to make trade pacts with other countries.

"As has been said on a former occasion, 'this is too much power for a bad man to have or for a good man to want,'" Crowther quoted the present secretary of state as saying of the flexible tariff provision passed by a Republican congress.

Crowther said the Hull speeches covered ten years when Hull was a member of the tariff writing senate finance and house ways and means committees.

F. E. Mollin, secretary of the American National Live Stock association, Denver, Colo., was a witness at today's hearing. He said cattle men want the reciprocal trade pacts made subject to senate ratification.

The second new financing step within a year to provide funds for expansion of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation is being taken today with the offering of common stock of the company amounting to $6,412,500 at the selling price.

An underwriting group headed by Blyth & Co., Inc., and G. M.-P. Murphy & Co. is offering to the public 225,000 shares at $28.50 a share. A group headed by the same firms marketed 112,454 shares of Lockheed common last March.

Net proceeds of today's sale will be used for new construction, purchase of factory equipment and machinery, development of new plane models and additions to working capital. The company will have 1,000,000 shares of common stock outstanding after completion of the financing, and will have a funded debt of $473,287 of promissory notes.

The company has been receiving much foreign business as a result of the European war. Its unfilled orders on Dec. 15 amounted to $44,700,000. Later the British government ordered 200 planes for which the company is to receive $16,775,300, the offering announcement said.

Pennsylvania Water and Power company filed a registration amendment announcing that its $10,962,000 of refunding mortgage and collateral trust bonds, 3¼ per cent series due in 1970, will be offered at 105.

BATA SHOE FIRM MAY BUILD NEW NEBRASKA PLANT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Representative Stefan [R., Neb.] said today Dr. Jan Bata, the Czecho-Slovakian shoe manufacturer, was considering opening a shoe factory in Nebraska, possibly in Stefan's 3d congressional district.

The Nebraskan, who was born in Bohemia, asserted that Bata desired a plant close to the source of supply of hides and in a community where there are a number of Czechs. Stefan said there were several communities in his district which would qualify.

Stefan added that he had not learned whether any local capital would be needed to launch the proposed new plant but would learn such details when he visits Bata's factory at Belcamp, Md., later this week.

Riddiford said the office staff will answer questions of business men in regard to Canadian conditions and supply tourist information. Canada maintains similar offices in Los Angeles, Cal., and New York City. The Chicago office is in Tribune Tower.

12 Chicago Banks Are Among 300 Largest in United States

Twelve Chicago banks were listed yesterday in the annual review of the American Banker, New York banking publication, among the 300 largest commercial banks of the United States.

The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company ranked fifth, with total deposits as of Dec. 31 at $1,324,094,604. The First National Bank of Chicago was in eighth place, with deposits aggregating $1,053,424,363.

New peaks for total deposits, the publication reported, were reached by most leading banking institutions during 1939. Largest of the 300, it said, are the Chase National, with deposits of $2,803,700,000, an increase of $569,400,000 over 1938. The National City Bank of New York was second with deposits of $2,331,200,000, a gain of $495,900,000 over a year earlier.

Ten Big Bank Deposits.

The 10 largest American banks had total deposits on Dec. 31 of $14,822,200,000, an increase of $2,333,300,000 over the previous year. The hundred largest, the Banker reported, had deposits of $32,194,200,000, a gain of $4,533,300,000, and deposits of the 300 totaled $39,385,800,000, an increase of $5,255,500,000 over 1938.

Total deposits for all banks in the United States, the publication reported, are nearly $70,000,000,000, an increase of nearly $8,000,000,000 over the preceding year.

"Deposits today," it said, "are notably larger than at the end of 1929, having recovered all their decline to the 1933 low point and more.

Causes for Increased Deposits.

"The increase in deposits during 1939 has been the result of imports of gold, totaling $3,000,000,000, financing of more than $1,200,000,000 United States government agency borrowings, and increase in loans to business and industry of approximately $600,000,000."

The 300 largest banks, the publication said, are located in 105 cities. Chicago institutions, with their ranks and deposits as of Dec. 31, 1939, follow:

CANNERS HEAR AMERICA'S PLAN FOR FUTURE WAR

Army Man Tells of Vast Industrial Needs.

Maj. Logan told the canners that the war department's shopping list contains over 70,000 separate items which are composed of more than 700,000 component parts. Most of these items, he said, will present no difficulties if the United States enters a war. Production of "problem items," however, has been planned.

To illustrate the necessity for such planning, he cited the Garand semi-automatic rifle, which was recently adopted by the army to replace the old Springfield rifle. J. C. Garand, the designer, presented his first design for the gun to the bureau of standards in 1918, Maj. Logan said. Ten years later it was accepted by the ordnance department, but still had to undergo a long series of tests before it was adopted by the army.

Arrange for Mass Production.

In addition to preparing for certain quantities of items which will be needed on M-day, the army has outlined the best sources of production, rates of delivery, rearrangement of machinery in allocated factories, and the problem presented by the probable wartime power requirements of industrial areas.

In contrast with this comprehensive plan for war mobilization of industry, Maj. Logan said that in the last war the United States spent a billion and a half dollars on airplanes, but not a single American plane flew over the battle front. More than a billion dollars was spent for artillery and shells, but only American railway artillery was actually used in battle. Shoe models were changed three times, and of 26,000,000 pairs made, only 9,000 were sent to France.

Recalls Airplane Motor.

Despite the fact that America's automotive industry was the best in the world, an entirely new engine was designed and produced, Maj. Logan said. It arrived in France after the war had ended.

Tremendous expansion in the production of certain items will be necessary, he stated. Artillery ammunition requirements, for instance, will be boosted 180,000 per cent, and machine gun ammunition requirements 47,000 per cent. Production of food, clothing, equipment, and medical supplies items for the army in the first year of the next war will increase 2,000 per cent over peacetime needs.

To avoid overloading of plant capacities and complete disruption of peacetime production, each allocation is rated at 250 points for maximum production.

Output of Plants Adjusted.

Regardless of the plant's importance, its war production will not be allowed to go beyond 200 points, and it will ordinarily be 125 points. In the latter cases, 50 per cent of a factory's output will be reserved for whatever it makes in peacetime, or for unexpectedly large war needs.

"Price control," Maj. Logan said, "is probably the toughest of all problems. It is probable that our best solution will be found in the voluntary coöperation of our people, and that public opinion, in the long run, will be the best police force."

Two Chicagoans Made Directors.

Two Chicago men were elected directors of the National Canners' association for one year. They are: C. W. Crary of the J. B. Inderrieden company, and E. G. McDougall of Libby, McNeill & Libby. The new president is H. F. Krimendahl of Celina, O. He succeeds Walter L. Graefe of Griffin, Ga.

The Independent Grocers' Alliance of America will open a three day sales and promotion conference tomorrow at the Knickerbocker hotel, according to J. Frank Grimes, president. Over 200 wholesalers from all parts of the country are expected to attend.

FISK RUBBER CO. TO REDEEM ALL SENIOR SHARES

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 22 (AP).—Fisk Rubber corporation today notified stockholders all preferred stock would be redeemed at $110 a share and accrued dividends on Feb. 20. It announced a new meeting to consider dissolution of the company "will probably be called in the near future."

Stockholders of the Fisk company voted on Dec. 29 to sell the corporation's business to the United States Rubber company, and this was transferred to the latter company last week.

A meeting to consider dissolution was held Jan. 19 but adjourned without action. At a new meeting to be called, the corporation stated, holders of record of a more recent date will vote on the question of dissolution, a necessary step in distributing to Fisk common stockholders the cash and stock of United States Rubber received in payment for the corporation's business.
